AN ALLEGED HORSE THIEF

A MAN ARRESTED HERE WITH A PAIR OF BAYS IN MIS POSSESSION.

The Accused Refuses to Reveal His Name, Home or Destination and is Pinced in Prison-On a Charge.

This forenoon a man, who is thought to a horse thief, was arrested with two horses in his possession that are supposed to have been stolen. He is con-ined in the county prison, and positively chose to give his name.

Between 7 and 8 o'clock this morning a monroid at the Merrimae house, aman stopped at the Morrimac house, on North Prince street, with two bay horses, one of which he was riding, and the other he was leading. He placed the animals in the stable and had them fed. The horses were seen by a number of men who deal in stock, and it was noticed that they were pretty good ones. The man who had them was a big, rather roughly dressed fellow, who did not say where he came from or where he was going. In fact he spoke very little to was going. In fact he spoke very little to anybody on any subject. Among the men who saw the horses were Daniel Logan and George Logue. They had a postal card in their possession from David R. Foglesanger, of Middle Springs, Cumberland county, which is but a mile from Mr. Logan's old home. It stated that Mr. Foglesanger had had two horses stolen on Foglesanger had had two norses Thursday night. Both of the animals were in color. One described as being bay in color. One weighed 1,100 pounds and the other was smaller with a white star on the forehead and a white left hind foot. The horses at the Merriman tallied with the descriptions sent except that the smaller horse had a white right hind foot instead of left. The gentleman kept their eyes on the man, who left the stables about ten o'clock leading the horses. He wont up Prince street and Messrs. Logan, Logue and Robert Jamison followed him. Mr.

Logan was ahead and overtook the stranger He called to him and asked him where he was going with the horses and the stranger replied very insolently "What would you give to know." Logan said, "Well, just hat much that I want you, as I have a bill for those horses." By that time Logue and Jamison had come up, and the former said, "Dan, you take the man and I'll take charge of the horses." The stranger by this time began to "cave" and intimated that he could do nothing, but go with them. Logan walked him to Alderman Deen's office and on the way met Officer Winower, into whose charge he was given. When the alderman, who was out, arrived Mr. Logue made a complaint against the man charging him with stealing the horses. The accused was very sullen and refused to give his name or any account of himself. He would not tell how he came by the horses or where he was going. When Mr. Logue signed the complaint be quickly said, "Are you a brother of Dan Logan," as he no doubt understood the name to be Logan. He did not know that Mr. Logan was the man that had cap-tured him and was sitting within a few feet of him. After the alderman had made out a commitment the fellow was taken to jail. When the man was arrested one of the horses had on a brand-new bridle, which is believed to have been purchased in this city. It was of light leather, with a small rosette on either side, and a curb bit. The cost mark in ink on the side was "A E," and the price "$1.50." The man had a saddle also when he arrived at the Merrimac, but he sold it at Haberbush's store in Centre Square. It was an old saddle, but the fact that he sold it and was about to ride baresoked, makes it very suspicious. At the store he purchased a cheap horse brush. The horses were placed in a stable, where they will be well taken care of until Mr. Foglesanger, who has been telegraphed for, Arrives.

There is no doubt in the minds of anybody that saw the stranger's suspicious ac-tions that he is a thief, and every circumclauce connected with the case assists in nfirming it. He would just about have had time to reach Laneaster, from Cumberland county. It looks very much as though he was riding the animals at night . It is possible, and quite likely that he was frightened, and was leaving here rather suddenly. The cause for leading the horses away instead of riding one of them probably was that he wanted to mislead the people by having them think that he was a local dealer leading his horses to the stable.

A Chambersburg paper of yesterday states that the man who stole the horse was traced as far as Shippensburg, which is towards Lancaster from Chambers-burg. The account said that one of the horses belonged to Mr. Fogel-sanger, and the other to his son, The horses were not likely matches, therefore, and there is considerable difference in the size of the two that are here. A telegram received this afternoon from Mr. Fogelsanger says : " Hold horses and man,

On the way to prison the man refused to answer any questions asked by the officer or even talk to him. He had a pair of niprs on his wrist and he kept trying to get pers on his wrist and he kept trying to get his hand into his hip pocket. At the prison a knife of large size was found in that pocket. Among the other things found on the man was $160 in money, the brush that he had purchased at Haberbush's and a m morandum book with the accounts of horse transactions

The first search of the prisoner was made before he was placed in his cell and only $2 were found in his clothes. A second search resulted in the finding of $154 in his stocking. When this money was taken from him he said it was all up with him. Since they had taken his money, a letter was found in his pocket which may lead to his identity; and he had in addition two maps of Pennsylvania and a railroad guide. The letter reads as though it was written by a thief. In the book found on the man are numerous entries like this, although the names are not the same: "John Brown, near York, ten miles from Columbia, has two good H." By the "H" be means horses and he has lots of them spotted in

More Thieves at Farmersville. people of Farmersville have been greatly troubled by thieves of late, and several weeks ago a halfdozen houses were entered in one night. Last night they were around again. An attempt was made to get into the house of Jacob Weidman. W. E. Bachman, a son-in-law of Mr. Weidman, heard the noise and drove the rascals off by firing several shots from a pistol which he keeps for such customers. The family of S. M. Seldomridge and others also heard the thieves, but the lively artillery charge by Mr. Bachman compelled them to change their programme.

Struck By a Pitched Ball. James Erisman, a resident of Beaver street, was seriously injured on Friday ening while playing base ball in a field in the southern part of the city. He was at the bet and was struck on the head above the left ear by a pitched ball and dropped to the ground unconscious. For ne time it was feared that he was dead. After he recovered consciousness he was taken to his home. He will be confined to the house for a few days. Received a White Owl.

John Fritsch this morning received from Martin Kuchnle, formerly of this city, but now living in Aberdeen, Dakots, a large and very handsome white owl, which is already stuffed and mounted, and is now on exhibition in the window of Mr. Fritsch's cigar store, on West King street.

A NOVEL LAW SUIT. Mrs. Emeline Kline Refuses to Remove From a Property She Sold as Administratrix.

A novel case, the first of the kind in this county, was heard by Alderman Halbach and a jury of six this morning. Aldermen have frequently heard cases in which the occupant of a property refuses to leave after its sale by the sheriff. This is a case in which the party after selling and giving deed for a farm refused to vacute it.

The facts from the standpoint of the purchaser were that Mrs. Emeline Kline as administratrix of her husband's estate, sold a farm of 83 acres of land in East court. This sale was absolutely confirmed by the court and about the 1st of April Mrs. Kline made a deed for the same to B. Mrs. Kline made a deed for the same to B.
B. Flickinger and Jesse Lutz, the purchasers. Mr. Kline refused to vacate and on the 8th of April she was served with a notice to vacate. Under the law she would have ninety days to leave. This notice expired on the 8th of July and Mrs. Kline was still in possession. Then these proceedings were instituted.

The jury empanuelled by the sheriff to pass on the case were Martin Kreider, Jacob Erisman, Henry Shenck, Levi W. Groff, Adam R. Barr and George D.

Mrs. Kline admits the execution of the deed as administratrix, and all she conveyed by the deed was any interest her husband nad in the farm, but that he had none, as the property was her own individually, and being hers, she refused to remove

J. Hay Brown and John H. Fry appeared for Mrs. Kline, and George Nauman and A. J. Eberly for the purchasers. The jury found in favor of the plaintiffs, the purchasers of the farm, and that they suffered by the detention of the property from April 1st to date $679. Alderman Halbach fixed the amount of bond to be given, in case of an appeal, at $2,000, which amount is intended to cover loss to the time of trial.

Mrs. Kline gave notice of an appeal to the court of common pleas. There the case will be tried and the question determined as to who has the legal title.

Nora Breidenbach's Hearing. Nora Breidenbach McGeehan was taken from prison at I o'clock this afternoon to Alderman Barr's office for a hearing on a charge of stealing a livery team of E. M. Hartman, from her husband, Hugh A. McGechan. The facts were published in full in Friday's Intelligences.

Nora did not appear to be worried over the charge against her. She talked freely of her marriage and said she did not think she would know her husband if she saw

The husband was the prosecutor in the case, and he failed to appear. The supposition is that he has left town to get rid of the notorious woman he married. Nora says she don't care what becomes of him, and that she will not live with him. The alderman dismissed the case, no one appearing to prosecute it.

An Insurance Company Sued. J. Hay Brown and O. P. Still Moving Ahead! Always at the Still Moving Ahead! Always at the Front! Front!

Prof. C. U. Hoke, with his Wonderful Electrical Appliances, Belts, Pads, etc., has not only successfully defled all other so-called "Electric" inventions, but challenged the disciples of Esculapius to produce any remedy in the whole materia medica (for five hundred dollars) that will, for the ailments he claims to relieve or cure, give the same good results. His challenge remains untaken. Still the people clamor for Hoke's Electric Beit. Still thousands bless for Hoke's Electric Belt. Still thousands bless the Belt that gives them new life and hope. But still the for unate inventor of this life-preserv-ing principle is anxious to do more for suffering ing principle is anxious to do more for suffering humanity. He wants, like the Great Physician of the World, to minister to the poor as well as the rich, to the laborer as well as the million-aire. He knows it is hard for a laboring man, or any one of small income, to spare five dollars from his scanty carnings at one time. He wants to help these; their pains and ills are just as to help these; their pains and ills are Just as acute and hard to bear as those of the rich.

Now, Laboring Man and Hechanic, hear his generous proposition to you; Prof. Hoke will sell you one of his Best Renowned Electric Belts (price $5) for $2.50 cash down. You wear the Belt for two weeks. If at the end of that time you will say, on your sacred word of honor, that you have restricted. that you have received no benefit from it, you can return it. If, however, the belt is doing you good, at the end of the two weeks, you can pay the remaining $2.50 due; or, if you prefer it, pay $1.25, and the remaining $1.25 at the end of the following week.

This will put the famous Hoke's Electric Belt. within reach of every one on easy payments.
Will be found every Wednesday at my new office, No. 2.5 West King street, Lancaster, Pa.
A lady attendant always in attendance.

"Hunger Is the Best Sauce."
As a rule, a person who has a good appetite has good health. But how many there are who enjoy nothing they eat, and sit down to meals only as an unpleasant duty. Nature's antidotes for this condition are so happily combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla that it soon restores good digestion, creates an account. Hood's Sarsaparilla that it soon restores good digestion, creates an appetite, and renovates and vitalizes the blood so that the beneficial effect of good food is imparted to the whole body. Truly hunger is the best sauce, and Hood's Sarsaparilla induces hunger.
