

MANY TROOPS IN CAMP.

OVER 3,000 MILITIA AND 400 REGULARS TAKE POSSESSION OF MT. GRETNA.

Thursday's Storm Levels a Number of Tents and Causes Confusion.—Gen. Hastings Buried White at Dinner.

The Intelligence on Friday referred briefly to Thursday's storm at the soldiers' encampment at Mount Gretna. The storm began about 7 p. m., and for nearly an hour whirled things up in very lively style.

Thursday's storm on Friday referred briefly to Thursday's storm at the soldiers' encampment at Mount Gretna. The storm began about 7 p. m., and for nearly an hour whirled things up in very lively style.

This was rudely shattered when the storm of wind and hail descended from the great hills on the west side of the valley.

The ridge pole in falling struck General Hastings on the back of the head, raising an egg-like lump, and another piece of timber grazed his face, making a long scratch down his cheek.

When arrested Seaman pretended to be greatly surprised. He refused to talk to any of the officers, but after a while, after considerable work, succeeded in liberating those held down by the flattened canvas.

The wind laid hold, and after a few preliminary gusts, the tent a wrench that smashed the poles, tore the guy ropes and pins from the ground and flattened the canvas upon the inside, but fortunately without injuring any of the men.

Friday morning, as if to make amends for Thursday night, broke bright and clear. A heavy breeze from the west made the work of repairing the damage somewhat lighter.

With the sounding of the breakfast call came the music of the Eighteenth regiment, the "Duchess Grays," and the Pittsburgh boys in the morning.

The combination of three arms of the service in the army at one place is a rare and Friday's evening, the regular brigade of the regular troops by Colonel Gibson.

The ten days encampment began to-day. There are 9,000 state troops and 400 United States regulars at the camp.

ARRESTED IN PHILADELPHIA.

Seaman, the Milk Tester Seller, Brought Here to Answer Charges.

Some time ago the INTELLIGENCER exposed the operations of William H. Seaman, an old fellow who seems to be a best of the first water. He came to Lancaster two months ago and sold a silk tester, of his own manufacture, to the different tailors of the city, who pronounced it a very good article.

The Bohn Brothers made complaint against him at Alderman Hallock's, charging him with obtaining goods by false pretenses. There is another complaint at Alderman Spurrer's, made by the City Hotel proprietors, charging him with defrauding a hotel.

When arrested Seaman pretended to be greatly surprised. He refused to talk to any of the officers, but after a while, after considerable work, succeeded in liberating those held down by the flattened canvas.

HE MISSED HIS HORSES.

And Gets Ten Days in Jail For Train Riding.

Charles Williams, a colored man, was sent to jail for ten days for train riding by Alderman Deen this morning. Williams was found between two baggage or express cars on the train called Mail and Express, which arrives here about midnight.

The alderman said he could not let the man off, so he sent him out, saying that if he had been killed the railroad company would have been liable for damage.

INJURED ON THE RAILROAD.

George Steimetz, the Colored German, Has a Leg Broken.

The colored man who was injured at Richmond station of the P. R. R., and laid out by George Steimetz, the colored German, as the INTELLIGENCER stated, the man was brought to this city on the 3:55 train and taken to the county hospital in the ambulance.

Steimetz, who is unable to speak any English, came to this country from Germany several months ago, and for a month or more he has been laboring about Lancaster. Love for drink is his great weakness, and he has served several jail terms for drunken and disorderly conduct.

Truck Foreman John Stoll passed the point about half-past seven o'clock yesterday morning. While Dr. Kibler was at the point, he noticed that the company is a credit to the guard as well as to the city in which it was recruited.

Steimetz was born in Congo, Africa, and he is as black as ink. He was taken to Germany when a mere child and received a fair education. He worked as a servant and waiter for a number of years, but having the habit of drinking, he was discharged by his employer.

More Brakes Wanted.

Editors INTELLIGENCER: Any one who has seen cable and electric cars ascending and descending steep grades cannot but note that the Lancaster electric cars are inefficiently equipped with brakes. Care is given by cable or electricity over steep grades have, besides the brake on the wheels, a "track brake" that is lowered on the rails with a lever of such power that it is almost sufficient to lift the car from the track.

A Large Snake.

AT LANDISVILLE.

THE CARPENTERS IN THE GROVE TO BEGIN TUESDAY MORNING.

Services Held by the Young People's Association and a Social Reunion. How the Temple is Arranged.

LANDISVILLE, July 19.—The annual reunion of the Young People's association of the Methodist church was held to-day in the building recently constructed by it. The grove was made to ring with glad songs on this festive occasion, and at 10:30 when the signal was given from the tabernacle bell those on the grounds assembled in the new temple, of which the young people may well feel proud.

The temple is a neat structure, 20 by 21 feet, beautifully painted and open on all sides. It is so built that additions at any time can be made for it without spoiling its architectural dimensions.

A social reunion was held this afternoon, which was attended by many young people from Lancaster, Columbia, Reading and Harrisburg.

PROFESSOR VAUGHAN'S DISCOVERY.

The Poisons Believed to Be the Cause of Typhoid Fever and Cholera Infantum—An Antiseptic.

The following editorial will appear in the Medical Standard of this city: "The medical profession is indebted to Professor Vaughan, of Ann Arbor, Michigan, for the discovery of tyrotoxin, an active principle which is found in milk during the summer season. Through the newspapers we learn that he has made another discovery, which, if true, is even of greater importance, as it is believed to be the cause of typhoid fever and cholera infantum.

Dr. William F. Waugh has met with excellent results from the use of comparatively small doses of sulpho-carbide of iron in various instances of cholera infantum. One-half to two grains of this salt are given at intervals of two or three hours, and it is not claimed that it shortens attacks of typhoid fever, but there are good reasons for believing that it lessens the severity of the disease.

For quite a number of years the bichloride of mercury was highly regarded as an intestinal antiseptic, but the temptation was such that doses entirely too large were used, and thus, the bad effects far outweighed the benefits.
