The illustrious Jerrenson, whose writings will forever constitute an inexhaustible spring of political wisdom attered the following clear, forcible. and patriotic language on the moral impropriety of appointing kinsmen to lucrative stations. We extract it from Tucker's Life of Jefferson, where it appears in a letter written to a friend:

However, I have thought it my duty to do so, that my ever, I have thought it my duty to do so, that my constituents may be satisfied, that, in selecting persons for the management of their affairs, I am influenced by neither personal nor family interests—and especially that the field of public office will not be perverted by me into a FAMILY PROPERTY. David Wilmot's Attack on James Buchanan!

That Democrats should differ in relation to the candidates to be supported for President is to be expected. Nor is there any one of their statesmen ent in the eyes of the whole-as Jefferson was and Jackson became—as to designate him as the standard bearer. But there are several for whom there are strong local preferences, and who a generous defence of them from the attacks of the whigs, rises into the dignity of a duty on the part of the members of the party, and more espe-cially of those who wield the influence of the press Democratic members of Congress not only decline to defend such statesmen when attacked but ste out of the line of their duties to abuse them and wantonly libel them? Such an instance has just curred, and the individual who did it deserves t e held up to the scorn of the party.

We allude to the course which has been pursued n relation to James Buchanan by David Wilmot democratic member whose name has become onspicuous from its connection with the restrictive rinciple known as the Wilmot Proviso. In his ate copious discharge of abuse upon that veteran republican and cotemporary and friend of Jefferson, Thomas Ritchie, Wilmot thus alludes to Mr.

"Talk of such a man for the presidency! The man who was the reviler of Madison—the oppo-ser of the war! There was no chance for his suc-cess. But there was a chance for him to divide and distract, and a chance to denounce. But Mr. W. would put him and his minions at defiance."

Suppose it to have been true that Mr. Buchanan, thirty-five years ago, did oppose the war, is not a score or more of years of faithful service to the country and of splendid advocacy of Democratic "Bringing into office no desire of making it subservient to my own private interests, it has been no sacrifice, by postponing them, to strengthen the confidence of my fellow-citizens. An Address to the Citizens of Forcaster, on the Subject of the Common Schools.

Friedw.Cirizens -We address you with feelings of most anxious solicitude. But we do so, with entire confidence. The consciousness of right sustains us; and we are emboldened by the reflection, that it is in behalf of your own children, that we speak. You will understand us as alluding to the ondition, moral and religious, of the Common Schools of this city.

To make ourselves well understood, we must go black a little. Some months ago, a motion was made in the Common School Board, to introduce into our schools, the teaching of the Lord's Prayer, the Annelse's Creed, and the Ten Commandments—prothe Apostle's Creed, and the Ten Commandments—provision being made however, that no child should be compelled to learn them, against the parent's consideration. It has since been repeatedly discussed in the Board, but without coming to any positive settlement of it until Tuesday evening the whilst one, the Hon, the Attorney General of the State, has always been prevented by official duties at a distance, from attending the discussions of the ested in this question. We say, that you are the parties most directly and deeply interested in this organ grinder to accommodate her monkey with Apostle's Creed, and the Ten Commandments. In ommending this, we had no thoughts or design. but to provide religious guides and safeguards for your children, such as we were sure you would yourselves approve of. A simple form of Belief; venerable for its antiquity, and in which the vast majority of Christians have always agreed. A IMPORTANT DECISION.—It has been decided by simple form of Prayer, dictated by the sacred lips of the Divine author of our Holy Religion, and God's own Commandments, for their direction and simple form of Prayer, dictated by the sacred lips of the Divine author of our Holy Religion, and God's own Commandments, for their direction and control, in the discharge of their duties to God and man; and all this to be simply taught, without any nor deny him the highest prerogative of genius—the partial or sectarian interpretation. But we have been defeated in this attempt; and now, as matters stand, no Teacher has any authority from the a child, as a great Christian truth, that there is a God, a Heaven, and a Hell. You will ask, in surprise, upon what grounds, so reasonable a proposition is opposed? It is not pretended, that it involves the teaching of any thing introduction, yet vie with us, in acknowledging their belief of all that is proposed or to be taught. That there is no sectarianism in it, will be manifest, been appointed an Aid to Governor Shunk, with the rank of Lieutenant Colonel.

Hear Harry The highest honor which can be the same at the names below. It is God's Commandments simply, that we wish to have your children instructed in—and as to the Apostle's Creed, prehensive summary of the main heads of Christian doctrine Too Much Truth.—The Albany Patriot says

"One of our Methodist clergymen last Sunday remarked, that if all the world believed the second coming was to take place on the 23d of March, 1848, at three o'clock, P. M., two-thirds of them would delay all preparation for it till half-past two!"

Do One of the Texas papers says there is no make the parent's will. But where a parent has claimed and obtained exemption for his own child, there we think his rights and conscince end. Whence water in the vicinity of Austin nearer than two we think his rights and conscience end. Whence miles, and they are obliged to swim their horses across does he desire the right, to say that another man's that his conscience is that his conscience is wounded, by the instruction given to his neighbor's child?

Is there any thing in the scheme proposed, that is inconsistent with the Constitution and Laws of this Commonwealth? "General Christianity"—we reply, was long ago decided, by our Supreme Court—and at a time when that Bench was illustrated by the learning and virtues of a Tüghman and a Duncan—to be "a part of the Common Laws of the State". to be "a part of the Common Law of the State."

And this decision, we understand, to have been recently re-affirmed, by Mr. Justice Coulter, of the same Court, as being unquestionably the true legal doctrine on this subject. Now if there be any significancy in language, it does seem to us, that by "General Christianity," must be understood, those great truths and principles of the gospel, in which the vast majority of Christians, have always agreed. And we confidently maintain, that there is nothing in the Creed, the Lords' Prayer, or the Ten Commandment, that does not fairly come within the mandments, that does not fairly come within the description of "General Christianity," so understood. If then, the Board chose to establish such a course of simple religious instruction, as has been pro-posed, there is nothing, as we think, in the Constitution or Laws of this Commonwealth to forbid it. Whence it follows, that nothing but the will of the Board, or rather, the will of a very slender majority of the Board, opposes the measure that we have sought to introduce.

And now, fellow-citizens, we call upon you, as being the parties most deeply and directly inter-ested in this matter. Many of you have complained to us, and with reason, of the demoralizing effect of these schools, upon your children. Many have, on this account, withdrawn their children from them. We see and lament the evil: We have sought, in the proposed measure, in part at least, to redress it, but the effort has been descated; and now with the exception of reading the Bible, no kind or measure of direct religious instruction or influence is authorized in our schools

We invite especially, the sympathy of Christian Mothers in this matter. We call upon them, in behalf of the children that God hath given them. Wilmot, by Hon. James Thompson:

"But my colleague charges Mr. Buchanan with what remains, is for you to consider. We saw, what we regarded as a great defect in our system having opposed the last war. Sir, I fiad supposed that that stale old slander would have been suffered to sleep, and never again be repeated by any gentleman of character and truth. Opposed the last war? Where was my colleague in the last war? Mr. Wilmot. I was born in 1814.
