

ARRIVAL OF THE DUCHESS D'ORLEANS.

LATER FROM FRANCE. Prussia Declared a Republic! THE KING AND HIS MINISTERS REPORTED IN PRISON.

By the arrival of the Duchess d'Orleans at New York, we have the most important news from Europe, showing the spread of republicanism and the downfall of kingdoms and empires.

We learn from Capt. Richardson, that the great excitement prevailed in Paris and Havre, being the rich and the poor, and the apprehension of being killed by the poor.

It is said that large families continued to take refuge in Paris and neighboring France, and that children were reported to be among the number.

From Gallipoli's Messenger, March 24. Highly Important—Republic Proclaimed in Prussia. A telegraphic despatch, dated Metz, received yesterday, states that a Republic had been proclaimed at Berlin.

The date of these accounts throws a doubt over the news received yesterday from Metz, of the proclamation of a Republic in Prussia.

The Provisional Government has decreed that work in the prisons shall be suspended, and that the contents now existing in respect to the Republic of Prussia shall be received with a friendly and unfeigned sympathy from the State if it is possible.

These Poles have written to their fellow countrymen in the Province to join their efforts at Paris or at Strasbourg. They have also made appeal to the Republic of France for a supply of arms and the munitions of war.
