The Public Discussion.

The sub-committees appointed by the Democratic and Whig parties in this county, respectively, to arrange the preliminaries of the Public Discussion, about which so much has been recently said and written—had a meeting at SHUTZ'S hotel, yesterday: Present, Messrs. Mathiot, Lane, Amwake, and Miller (Democrats,)—Messrs. Thompson, Hamersly and Gleim (Whigs.) We learn that after a full agreement on all the other preliminaries, the parties split as to the hour for commencing the discussion—the Whig side proposing ten in the morning—the Democratic six in the evening. As the correspondence passed on the occasion is to appear in pamphlet form, we forbear further comment.

The following is the reply of the Democratic Committee to the letter of Mr. THOMPSON, the Whig chairman, published in the last Examiner, and in an extra of the Union & Tribune, and which we are precluded from publishing by reason of its inordinate length, and a press of other matter. The rejoinder of Mr. MATHIOT and his colleagues is full of interest, and is a scathing reply to the extraneous subjects which Mr. T. has, unfortunately for the Whig side, lugged into the controversy:

REPLY

Of the Democratic County Committee to the Letter of the Chairman of the Whig County Committe upon the subject of a Public Discussion.

LANCASTER, September 29, 1848.

JOHN L. THOMPSON, Esq., Chairman Whig County Committee:

DEAR SIR—We have the pleasure to acknowledge the receipt of your two communications, one bearing date the 18th and the other the 26th inst., both in reply to a communication we had the honor to transmit to you, containing the acceptance by the Democratic County Committee of a challenge to a public discussion, published in the Whig papers of this county.

It is a source of regret to us that you thought proper to appropriate so considerable a portion of your letter to the denial, that any challenge had been tendered to us, when a simple reference to the columns of your own party newspapers would have satisfied you of your error.

The first two pages of your letter treat of the laws and customs of Duelling. We do not pretend to be skilled in such matters and therefore leave the learning of your committee on that subject, to stand without reply. As this branch of your letter however, is founded upon the allegation that a challenge had been tendered by the Democratic County Committee, it may be proper to fumble your technical argument into the ditch, by removing the foundation upon which it stands. Whatever may have passed between individuals of the respective parties, the allegation that the Democratic County Committee tendered a challenge is totally destitute of foundation.

If you examine the columns of the "Union and Tribune," a Whig newspaper, of the dates of Sept. 5th and Sept. 12th you will find certain articles headed Public Discussion—A Challenge, and Backing out. In these articles our committee are requested to unite with the Whig committee in calling meetings of the people, for the purpose of discussion. Thus publicly called upon by an accredited organ of the Whig Party, the Democratic County Committee would have been recreant to their party and its principles if they had ommitted to accept the challenge.

In informing you of our acceptance in our Letter of Sept. 18th, for the purpose of avoiding any differences of opinion upon the subjects for discussion, we apprised you of the principles entertained by the Democratic party, and in the most respectful manner stated what we supposed to constitute the platform of the Whig party. From certain expressions contained in your Letter, we are induced to think that this statement has given offence. If such be the case we desire to assure you of our regret. We stated merely what measures had been advocated by the Whig party a short time ago, and if they have since been discarded, your simple assurance would have satisfied us. Our object merely was—like that of Gen. Taylor when he desired to procure the blood hounds in the Florida War—not to worry, but only to find out the precise position of Whig principles at the present day.

But—in no very kind spirit—you have thought proper to sneer at our own principles and ridicule our candidates. Our first communication to you indicated a desire on our part to avoid any expression that would be grating to your feelings, and if in reply to your Letter, we shall say anything harsh or unpleasant, you must recollect that we are only defending our Party from your assaults upon its principles and candidates.

In commenting upon the Baltimore Resolutions you take occasion to inform us "that the phase that Democratic faith assumed in Rhode Island was Dorrism." We acknowledge the justice of your illustration, and must express our obligation for the tribute you offer to the principles of our party. If the phase which Democratic faith assumed in Rhode Island was—the assertion of the right of the people to govern themselves—the abrogation of the royal Charter of King Charles, and the repeal of the property qualification, which prevented the Poor Man from enjoying the right of suffrage, and if your Whig principles are hostile to these reforms; then, indeed, in this particular, you have correctly stated the difference between the principles of the two parties, and we are rejoiced that a Democratic Convention sympathised with the efforts of Thomas W. Dorr to accomplish these results.

You state that "a Democratic House of Representatives rejected the legally elected members from New Jersey, and trampled under their feet the broad seal of a free and independent State." Your reference to this subject is unfortunate, for the people have not yet forgotten the outrage that was attempted to be perpetrated by excluding from their seats the Democratic members of Congress, legally elected from the State of New Jersey, and putting in their places, their Whig antagonists who had been defeated by the popular voice. When the broad seal endorsed a falsehood it was right for a "Democratic Congress" to disregard its potency. Your allusion to this matter, only recalls the recollection of the official turpitude of a Whig Governor of New Jersey, and the failure of his attempt to defeat the will of the people as expressed through the ballot box.

But we are induced to think that this allusion was not intended for our benefit. You desired to make a sly hit at your present candidate for Congress, and indulge a little merriment at his expense. You knew that a reference to the "broad seal of New Jersey," would recall to the recollection of every one, a similar attempt to defeat the popular will which occurred much nearer home, and in which that gentleman occupied a most prominent position. Your jocular allusion to your distinguished candidate, we receive in the spirit in which it was made, and we only add our hope that the laurels he gained in that War will remain green for ever.

We must humbly beg pardon for the liberty we took in stating what we supposed to be certain of the measures of the Whig party. We learn from your communication that they are no longer living Whig measures. They are dead and buried and as you inform us are not party questions at the present time. But permit us to ask, did you acknowledge them as party questions in 1840? Was not mum, the Whig word then as it is now? But when you got into power in 1841, you opened the Whig charnel-house; disinterred your dead measures and fastened them upon the country in all their loathsomeness. And do you remember the shock your party received, when an indignant and betrayed people hurled it into the obscurity from which it has not yet emerged!

And allow us further to ask, during the Gubernatorial canvass of 1835, which resulted in the election of Joseph Ritner, was the establishment of a Monster Bank and other odious measures of that Administration avowed and acknowledged by your party. It is true that your policy would now lead you to condemn another investigation into the secrets of Freemasonry, but is there no danger if you succeed in gaining the State Administration, that as you did in 1838, you will add millions to our Banking capital and lavish the substance of the Commonweath in wasteful expenditures.

And shall we not in the discussion that is to follow, allude to these things to guard the people against the artifices of a party whose principles are such that they dare not publicly avow them.

With some degree of skill you evade our proposition to discuss the measures of Gov. Shunk's administration as contrasted with those of Gov. Ritner.

Our object was to show that sound policy requires those proper restrictions upon Banks and Banking which constituted the great feature of Gov. Shunk's administration. Applications will be made to the next Legislature for the chartering of millions of Bank capital. Surely, then, it is important for the people to know, whether the interests of the State require that Gov. Shunk's views upon the subject of Banking should be carried out by Mr. Longstreth, or that Gov. Johnston should be permitted to impress his peculiar opinions upon the Banking system of our State.

You remark that among the Baltimore Resolutions you discover one which expresses the congratulations of the Republican Party of the Union with Republican France. It is not remarkable that you were struck with surprise at such a resolution, when we reflect that few Whig Meetings and Conventions have ever expressed their sympathy with the down-trodden and oppressed of other nations, or their congratulations when they threw off the shackles of despotism.

In making your examination of the Baltimore Resolutions we presume that you also discovered one asserting the position of the Democratic party upon the subject of Nativism. We doubt not that your Whig candidate for Congress will take peculiar pleasure, at the present juncture of affairs, in discussing that topic, and will seize with avidity the opportunity of defining his position upon that interesting question.

You refer, in your Letter, to the opinions of distinguished Democrats and the votes of Democratic Legislatures in favor of certain of the measures of your party. Without stopping to question the correctness of these assertions, permit us to ask why you refuse to discuss these measures when you possess such high authority in their favor?

Upon the subject of the Tariff you arraign us because distinguished Democrats alleged in 1844 that Mr. Polk was a better Tariff man than Mr. Clay. We beg to inform you that we at the present time are of the same opinion. As far as the Tariff of 1846 is better for the interests of the whole people than the Tariff of 1842, so far is Mr. Polk a better Tariff man than Henry Clay.

The Letter of Judge Myers, the wealthy Iron Master of Clarion county, to which you refer us with so much complacency, furnishes another evidence of the soundness of our Democratic faith.—If Judge Myers desired the Farmer and Laboring Man to be taxed to yield him an exorbitant profit he acted with great propriety in leaving our ranks. And he is now where he should be—a member of the Whig party.

We were deeply impressed with your eloquent remarks upon the subject of "Santa Anna's Pass," and the sufferings of the Widows and Orphans of soldiers, who perished in consequence of it. But we were comforted by the reflection that you had mistaken the reason why the Mexican War was prolonged and all these sufferings endured.

During the continuance of this War, Whig orators and Whig leaders denounced it as unjust and unnecessary. Whig members of Congress, and among them the member from our own district, voted to withhold the necessary food and clothing from our gallant troops, then perilling their lives upon the plains of Mexico. Whig speeches against the war were circulated in the enemy's country, and cheered and encouraged them in their resistance to the American troops. We are glad to say that the patriotism of a large portion of the Whig party rebuked and discountenanced this unholy proceeding. But we cannot forget that in our county, but one year ago, in time of War, the Chairman of the Whig County Committee, your immediate predecessor, insulted the good sense and patriotism of the people of this county by issuing a circular addressed to the "elder Germans" upon the subject of the War, intended to poison their minds and inflame their hearts against the cause of their country.

Permit us to say that it was all these things that prolonged the War—that nerved the arm and strengthened the heart of the Mexican to oppose our troops, and it was these things which caused "lamentation, weeping and great mourning.—American mothers weeping for their children, and will not be comforted, because they are not."

We observe that in your letter, you asperse the conduct of Gen. Cass in voting for a bill to reduce the pay of volunteers. An examination into this subject would have convinced you of the injustice of this charge, as it is without the least foundation. We are proud to say that our candidate, Gen. Cass upon all questions in reference to the War spoke and voted upon the side of his country. He was always to be found in his place in the Senate defending the rights of our soldiers, from the attacks of Mr. Corwin and other Whig Senators who hoped that they would be "welcomed in Mexico with bloody hands and hospitable graves."

Your offer to discuss the Tariff of 1842 and the Veto Power, and your allegation that "a national Bank is an obsolete idea" remind us that in the desertion of your own John Tyler, you evinced a greater regard for the Bank than the Tariff. Tyler had signed the Tariff but vetoed the Bank as General Jackson had done before him; and the bitterness with which he was denounced by the whole Whig party is without a parallel, save only in the persecutions of Andrew Jackson for the same offence. These vetoes have proved formidable obstacles to the accomplishment of the great object of Whig leaders—the chartering of a great money monster. And hence it is that at the "Slaughter House" the "wire-workers" accepted of a pledge not to exercise the veto power as full satisfaction for sacrificing their tried favorite, Henry Clay, and abandoning all their cherished principles.

Your third and last topic for discussion is "Free Soil," and you aver that the "Whigs take the side of Liberty" "the Democrats of Slavery." Lewis Cass, true to his exalted character as a statesman and his principles as a Democrat, has expressed his opinion upon this subject in the clearest terms; and by that opinion the Democracy of the Union are prepared to stand or fall.

But allow us to ask in what manner the Whig party has established the truth of your proposition that it is in favor of Liberty?

The candidate whom you have preferred over all others, lives in a slaveholding State—owns hundreds of slaves, men, women, and children—is supported by the South on Slavery grounds, and has publicly in a letter withdrawn the indirect intimation made to the editor of the Signal that he would sign a bill embracing the provisions of the Wilmot proviso. Every one knows that Gen. Taylor is for slavery practically and theoretically, and that he dares not say otherwise.

What a commentary does your letter present upon Whig profession, and Whig practice!

Your letter informs us that the Whigs are in favor of liberty. Your Convention has taken the side of slavery, by nominating a candidate for the Presidency, who has $150,000 of his capital invested in human flesh. You are then, truly, the party of liberty, and who dare question your right to defend free soil!

You profess to be in favor of a Tariff for protection; but you repudiate the Father of the American system, and ask the people to vote for a Southern free-trader. You preach against Slavery, but you repudiate the free soil candidate and ask us to vote for a southern slaveholder, who makes merchandise of human beings, and has at this moment hundreds of slaves under the lash of his negro drivers. You send pamphlets to the "elder Germans" teaching them that all wars are unjust and that the Mexican War was iniquitous but you ask them to vote for a man, whose trade for forty years has been nothing but war and whose only qualification is renown as a warrior. You have much to say about your political principles, but you ask us to vote for a man whose principles are unknown;—and when your great National Council is asked to adopt a platform it did as was done when Harrison was nominated, broke up without declaring any principles. You talk about gratitude, but you come fresh from your "National Slaughter House" with your hands crimsoned with the blood of the great Father of your party and its principles.

But we close. All these matters will be discussed at the proper time, and there is no danger of the people being deceived, if they are favored with an opportunity to see the light.

Your extraordinary letter in answer to ours has compelled us to reply at considerable length. If we have omitted to refute any of your positions, it was only because we did not wish to draw out this letter to an unseemly length.

We here close the discussion upon paper by renewing the offer we made in our letter accepting the challenge of the Whig newspapers.

We will meet you at the Court House in the city of Lancaster on any day during the next week, and will there discuss with you, in the presence of the whole people, all of the principles, acts and measures, both State and National, of the Democratic and Whig parties.

Our Committee will meet the Committee appointed by your body, at the hotel of Christian Shertz, on Saturday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, or at such other time as will suit your convenience, and we will be happy to unite with you in making such arrangements as the occasion may require.

With high regard and esteem,

We remain,

Your obedient servants,

J. W. JACKSON,
ELLIOTT E. LANE,

DENTISTRY.

DR. S. WELCHANS, Successor to Dr. Van Patten, would respectfully inform the citizens of Lancaster, and the public in general, that he is going to continue the office of his preceptor and predecessor, so well known as Dr. Van Patten's office, on the second floor of Krumpli's Building, corner of North Queen and Orange streets, opposite the Post Office.

Dr. Welchans can always be found at his office ready to perform any operation in the practice of Dental Surgery. He treats natural teeth with a view to their preservation and health, with the same care and precision which characterized his preceptor and predecessor, and for which he was so much beloved as a professional man. As a student of Dr. Van Patten's he is perfectly familiar with his mode of treating diseased teeth for which he was unsurpassed. He inserts entire sets of artificial teeth for both upper and lower jaw, with or without artificial gums, and partial sets or single teeth, warranted to be comfortable, useful, and in every respect satisfactory to the wearer.

He also inserts full or partial sets on the principle of atmospheric pressure.
