From the Ohio Statesman THE OLD DEMOCRACY.

"Yet Freedom, yet thy banner torn but flying, Streams like the thunder storm against the wind Thy trumpet-note, though broken now and dying The loudest still the tempest leaves behind!"

God bless the old Democracy They're gathering by each plain and bill, And as of old, their battle cry Comes ringing up, unconquered still! GOD AND PEOPLE!" o'er the Earth, For that a thousand hills were won, And tears and blood flowed freely forth. As light from Heaven's own glowing sun! Though tyrants' curses, dark and dire,

'Gainst cord and steel the cause has stood Its heroes face the fagot fire, € Its creed was written in its blood "An end must come to privilege, The Proper shall eternal be,"* And nothing can their rights abridge, While lives the Old Democracy

A light is round the throne of God, A light that no'er shall fade or set-And thus from soil our fathers trod A glory's lingering round us yet! Our blood is their's -our cause the same And all their deeds of olden time.

Which martyrdom hath given to Fame. For us, are advocates sublime! The memory of their hundred fights, Come rushing o'er the soul anew, We are too strong to beg our rights.

The Many battling 'gainst the Few! Then fling our banner to the light, Free as the soul of Man should be, Stout hearts are eager, for the fight, God bless the Old Democracy!

That cause has leaders yet to-day-One, whose deep word of truth intense, Which, pointing on to Glory's way, Held Senates with its eloquence. . The warrior-statesman, whose career, Is worthy the high chiefs and sages

Of the Republic's golden year-Whose life has lit his Country's pages! And he! whose name's forever twined With triumphs, which like stars of Heaven, Shine, to no spot confined,

But are to Earth as watch words given! Aye, Cass and Butler! for them let Our Country's standard glitter free For victory shall crown us yet-GOD BLESS THE OLD DEMOCRACY!

From the Hollidaysburg Standard. The Prospect.

During the past week we have had an opportu nity of conversing with a number of our Democratic friends from the country, and we are glad to learn of him, who was her all. The music of the voice that the right spirit is abroad. Instead of being that brought such gladness to his heart will delight lukewarmness has disappeared—and the seventh of the hidden mysteries of the world of spirits ?-November next will see the indomitable democracy

Eloquent Appeal.

The closeness of the recent contest, says the last Monroe Democrat, should appeal like an electric shock to every Democrat to DO HIS WHOLE DUTY. It should rouse him from his apathy like Mr. Reist, of Canada. The remains of the deceaan alarm bell sounded at midnight. It should wake the sleepers like a shock of thunder over their very large concourse of relatives and friends. May her heads. The peals of Whig rejoicing should strike ashes rest in peace! into Democratic hearts like flames of fire, and make them burn with zeal and energy in our cause It should, like the shrill trumpet blast on the battle field, call every soldier to his post, armed to the teeth, ready for the fray, prepared to do or die. It should start from the vallies and mountains of our land the invincible cohorts of Democracy, and array them one and all in their mighty majesty

Death, it is said, ever loves a shining mark, ever wandering over the earth, plucking the fairest flowers, thus crushing the hearts of those to whom they were endeared, leaving them to weep over the sad wreck of all that was bright, beautiful, and lovely. Such was emphatically the truth in relation to the subject of this notice, and those affected by it. The writer was well acquainted with the deceased, and knew her to possess to a high degree those qualities which constitute an intelligent and accomplished lady. She was gifted with high intellectual endowments, and distinguished for general intelligence and social refinement. She was, indeed, a lovely woman—one of those bright and amiable beings whose sojourn among us has not inputly been duction, French on the Parables, Cudworth's Intelligence of the solution of the proversion of whose sojourn among us has not inpatly been termed angel visits, for alas! her stay was limited. She has gone-she, the lovely one, who was the pride and hope of her fond parents-the joy, the happiness, the very life of the soul of him who in his youth had won her heart's affections,-who loved her with a holy, faithful and devoted love; and who, now, is left to deplore her departure with bitter grief. It is a heavy, a blighting blow upon his heart, and has bowed him down in the vigour of his manhood; and we deeply sympathize with him in his sore affliction. The departure was a severe trial, too, to her parents and friends, and will, likewise, be much felt by her acquaintances, by whom | tl she was ever loved and esteemed. Her circle of acquaintence was very large, embracing the most intelligent and accomplished. The writer of this knew her well, and had learned to esteem and respect her. She had, ever, a kind word for every one, no matter what their station was in society. Her manners were open affable and polished, by which she engrafted herself into the good graces of all who came within the limit of her acquaintance. But a short time Court House, and next door to the subscriber's ago, we were greeted by her, with a happy smile and kind word. Oh! how little did we then think, that the next time we would come into her presence it would be in the DEATH CHAMBER! It was so! And as we stood beside her form wrapped in the icy ery, Lehigh. Northampton, and other counties, are gazed upon her features, "beautiful in death," a vague tremor thrilled our nerves, and a voice, as it NOVEMBER 3, 1848, at 10 o'clock, A. Stolen Notes of the Bank of Chester County.

THIS Bank has now redeemed nearly all its issues that were in circulation at the time of the robbery of the President, in December last. It has robbery of the President, in December last. It has, at a large expense, advertised the robbery in all the cities of the Union. It has also given widely extended notice of the issue of new notes, and that none of a date prior to 1848, have been circulated by the Bank since the robbery. It has reason to believe that attempts are making to circulate sor believe that attempts are making to circulate some of the stolen notes; therefore in order further to guard the Bank against wrong, it now gives notice that none of the old issues of a date prior to the year 1848, will be redeemed, unless upon satisfactory evidence that they are honestly held, with information when, where, how and of whom they were obtained, and that the holders believe they are not a part of the stolen money. This evi and information to be accompanied with affidavits of the facts. Had the public refu receive the old issues, after notice of the robbery those in whose hands they then were, could readily have satisfied the Bank they were not a part of the money stolen from the President, and the Bank money stolen from the President, and the Bank would long since have been able to detect the rob-bers, and all those who were concerned in pass-ing the stolen notes, and neither the communi-ty nor the Bank would have suffered loss. Another Life Saved. By the use of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

THE following certificate is from the wife of Mr. Enoch Perry, a very respectable farmer in Oxford county, Maine, and can be relied upon as true in every particular. It was not solicited, but given by the lady, from a sense of duty, feeling that she owed the preservation of her life to Dr. Wistar's Balean of Wild Cherry. Rumford, Oxford county, Me., July 22, 1845.

This may certify that I have for a number of years been severely afflicted with the asthma. In 1942 I took a violent cold, which pro-
