Great Robbery. WASHINGTON, November 9, 1848.

Last night another great robbery of the Patent Office was committed. Sometime during the night, between the hour of closing the rooms of the National Museum attached to this office, and 7 o'clock this morning, when they were re-opened by the -person in charge, the case containing several diamond snuff hoxes, necklaces and other articles of value, which have been presented to officers of this Government and by them deposited here as the property of the nation, was broken open, and the ng articles among others were taken away. The small vases of otto of roses, and a finely mounted yataghan, presented by the Sultan of Muscat, and some other articles of a like valuable description; the scabbard of the sabre presented to Commodore Biddle by the Viceroy of Peru, mount-ed and adorned in a very magnificent manner, the gold snuff boxes mounted with diamonds presented by the Emperor of Russia and other foreign digniaries to diplomatic agents of the United Sta magnificent pearl necklace, and a number of gold and silver medals, some of them valuable as con-aining likenesses of distinguished men. There may have been other things stolen, more valuable as national mementoes than any of these, but if so I have nort heard them enumerated. The thieves aged 62 years. probably managed to conceal one of their number several of them were undoubtedly confederated n the room, yesterday afternoon, before it was locked up for the night, and finished their work at Leisure between midnight and morning.

After the former robbery of jewels in this office, for greater safety these valuable things were enclosed in a small glass case by themselves, which was placed within one of the small compartment sides of which consist of sashes and pane thick glass, and a bell was so attached as made to ring near the door, where the atter usually sits, if the inside case was disturbed. One of the panes of the outside case was found to have been broken, for it does not seem to have been cut. and the intervening pane of the smaller case ins appears to have been taken out. It is probable that the thief had thoroughly informed himself of that was necessary to be done to insure the success of his enterprise, and that he commenced removing this bell

He left the inside of the most valuable snuff box, which I believe contained no diamonds, as well as the blade of Commodore Biddle's sabre. Having made up his pack of valuables, he left the premises by one of the front windows, letting himself down the ground from a height of 35 feet by means of a rope.

MURDER.-A dreadful murder was committed in Southbridge, Mass., by Milton W. Streeter, upon the person of his wife, Mrs. Elvira Streeter, He had before threatened her life, and she had just instituted a complaint against him, which had re sulted in his being put under bonds. He entered his house and enquired for his shirts. He was told by his wife that they were up stairs on the top of a clothes basket; he said, however, that he could not find them, and insisted upon her coming up to look for them. She accordingly did so, and had no sooner reached the head of the stairs than she we was heard to scream, and on the persons who were in the house rushing to the spot, she was found with her throat cut from ear to ear. She came down stairs, passed out of doors, and died upon the door step. Streeter then attempted to take his own life, with the same razor, but failed, and is now in custody. Both of them were young. Streeter's crime may serve to illustrate the danger of cherishing a revengeful disposition. He was in the common habit of threatening to kill people, A lot of real Havana Segars, to which the attention of connoisseurs is requested. and had that very day "wished he had a rope around the neck of a neighbor. He had been brought up without religious cultivation.

II F Gen. Scott said to a gentleman a few days since, at his residence in New Jersey, that the fifteen millions of dollars paid for the acquisition of our newly acquired Mexican territory was but a drop in the bucket, compared with the incalculable benefit these possessions will prove to the U. States.
