

Wonderful Escape.

On Sunday last, the Patents Emporium, our friends, Major Samuel M. Mills and Mr. Daniel Glassmire, took a sleigh ride from the town of Ashland, on the north side of the Broad Mountain, in Butler township, about twelve miles from Pottsville. When they reached Wassers' Broad Mountain House, they met a party of Messrs. Mills and Glassmire. In passing some sleds, young Wasser upon his sleigh, himself and his companion were thrown out, and his horse started to run. Messrs. M. and G. were ascending the hill when looking back, they saw Wasser's horse coming on the full run behind them. They turned out and made way for the runaway, the horse passed them, and about 250 yards further down the hill in contact with a drove of cattle coming to the Pottsville market. The poor brute threw himself with great violence, but the head of a stout bull in the drove. Both horns of the bull entered the horse's body, one in the breast in front of the shoulder, the other just behind the shoulder. One of the horns was taken off in the body, and the horse dropped dead instantly in his death-struggle knocking another of the drove in the ground, where he lay for some minutes as if killed by the violence of the shock. The poor horse was unhurt, and he lay, and his mangled carcass rolled over the steep mountain side, food for the wild beasts and birds of prey.

The Tariff of 1842.

It would seem by the vote in the U. S. House of Representatives last Monday, on a resolution of Mr. Zerkel, of Pa. instructing the Committee on Finance and Currency to report on the principles of the Tariff of 1842, that the Whigs are again lusty after the sleek and onions of Europe. The demagogues who are in the lead on this subject will pass the Senate, still it is of some interest showing what the Whigs would do if they could. It is that which would be the ability of any good result in any way, they shake off the reinforcements by which they have gained their recent victory, and without making any concession gain another, nor retain the ascendancy which they now hold.

John A. Gamble.

We perceive by our exchanges from different parts of the State, that our fellow-citizen JOHN A. GAMBLE, Esq., is strongly recommended as the democratic candidate for Canal Commissioner at the next fall election. Mr. Gamble is a man of high character, and that, too, with a full knowledge of his character, that if selected, his great care will be not to serve himself, but the people, and make it possible our public works yield a large revenue to the State. Mr. Gamble is a strong man in the Northern part of this State, and has a powerful voice, and we have not the least doubt, if nominated, that we believe he will be elected by a triumphant majority.

Israhelites in Austria.

ISRAHELITES IN AUSTRIA.—The Austrian Diet, on the 5th of October, by a vote of 243 against 20, decided to abolish the tax imposed on the Hebrew citizens, called the "Judensteuer," as well as of the other taxes levied for permitting the temporary residence of Jews in Vienna, or by passport and police regulations. The minority vote was solely German.

Curious Suit.

CURIOUS SUIT.—In the Cambridge (Mass.) Court of Common Pleas, a few days since, a constable was presented in a suit for the recovery of his wages. Capt. C. was among the most enterprising merchants in Newburyport, and was one of the largest ship owners in New England.

Lancaster, Pa., Jan. 6, 1848.
Doctor William Steelling—It affords me great pleasure to inform you that I have been cured of my pulmonary Syrup with great benefit for Cough, Pain in the Breast, and Bronchitis. It is about one year since I contracted it. I consider it the best article I know of for those complaints, having derived great benefit myself from it in those affections, and I have no hesitation in recommending it to my labor under similar diseases. I have also given it to my little son with great advantage.
Wm. ROHRER.
Lancaster City, Pa., Oct. 2, 1848.
Dr. Wm. Steelling—I take pleasure in informing you that I have been greatly benefited by your Pulmonary Syrup. I had contracted a very severe cold, and with it a violent cough, so that I could not sleep at night; in this condition you gave me a bottle of your Pulmonary Syrup, I had not taken half a bottle before I found myself much relieved, and in fact felt like a new man. I would recommend your Pulmonary Syrup to all who may be afflicted with cough or any other diseases of the lungs.

Doctor William Steelling—It affords me great pleasure to inform you that I have been cured of my pulmonary Syrup with great benefit for Cough, Pain in the Breast, and Bronchitis. It is about one year since I contracted it. I consider it the best article I know of for those complaints, having derived great benefit myself from it in those affections, and I have no hesitation in recommending it to my labor under similar diseases. I have also given it to my little son with great advantage.

DR. WILLIAM STEELLING'S.
