CITY OF LANCASTER, TUESDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 25, 1849. NO. 35.

Lancaster Blind Manufactory.

VENETIAN BLINDS of the most beautiful pattern and finish, are now manufactured by the undersigned at his manufactory in the rear of Vanhook's (late Scholfield's) Hotel, and at his Wentworth Warehouse, in West King Street, where a large quantity of Venetian Blinds of the latest style, both Broad and Narrow Blinds, can be inspected.

These Blinds are made of wood of the smoothest and most durable quality, and at short order and moderate prices. The subscriber having had considerable experience in the manufacture of Venetian Blinds, the people of this city and county can depend upon having any work that may require to be executed with despatch and in a workmanlike manner.

Old Blinds repaired—Trimmed and painted to equal to new. All Orders from the country promptly attended to.

Poetry.

THE RESULT.
By J. K. DOW.

Night—dark night—on Europe fall,
The pattering mistral strive no more;
The dawning morn'g's sunbeams
And the waning moon's pale light;
While the reaper gathers grain,
And binds the independent heart.

The struggle's o'er—the voice is gone;
The dawning morn'g's sunbeams
And the waning moon's pale light;
While the reaper gathers grain,
And binds the independent heart.

Oh God! when will the people rise,
And walk erect in proud attire,
While calm contentment lights the skies,
And peace and justice reign on earth;
When pious words shall cease no more,
And matter yield to the good deed.

GOOD NIGHT.

FROM THE GERMAN OF PAPER.
Dark is the night!
Yet stars are glimmering through the cope of Heaven,
All sighs softly through the waning trees;
And moonbeams gleam on the dew-drops,
As if with a smile they would say,
To all who have their day's work filled,
To them good night!

Wearily and sadly eyes on the claim;
The throbbing heart with heavy sighs
Whom cares keep watching, press your cares
Disarm;
Soothed be the couch of sorrow and of pain;
To such good night!

Rich is the night!
Can man hope here for more,
When the moon's pale light
Shines on the dew-drops,
As if with a smile they would say,
To all who have their day's work filled,
To them good night!

When all the fond heart's wishes
Have long beneath the lonely light slept,
Then the dew-drops, deep and deep,
Pat the pillow from the forehead,
May her soft whispers in her sleep be found;
To you good night!

When all the fond heart's wishes
Have long beneath the lonely light slept,
Then the dew-drops, deep and deep,
Pat the pillow from the forehead,
May her soft whispers in her sleep be found;
To you good night!

When all the fond heart's wishes
Have long beneath the lonely light slept,
Then the dew-drops, deep and deep,
Pat the pillow from the forehead,
May her soft whispers in her sleep be found;
To you good night!

When all the fond heart's wishes
Have long beneath the lonely light slept,
Then the dew-drops, deep and deep,
Pat the pillow from the forehead,
May her soft whispers in her sleep be found;
To you good night!

Thomas H. Benton—The Willmot Provision Gen. Cass.

From the Willamette Farmer.

It is the attendant upon every worthy man, that he will be a minister of peace. Again, Mr. Clay made the sacrifice of his allegiance to the Constitution in supporting a United States Bank to purchase the favor of the mercantile and speculative community—also the interpolation of taxation for "protection" in the place of sacred obligations of the constitution—in order to build up a notorious interest deal to all the claims of justice and patriotism. In short, Mr. Clay's whole career for the last thirty-five years, has been a system of licentious bribery or pledges of important rights to the altar of an unscrupulous ambition. "Who" is the man who has broken through, and hence the constitution has been broken through, and hence the danger that always threatened our country, has been averted. Mr. Benton's desertion from the country Democratic platform, ought not, perhaps, to be regarded as an act of cold calculating apostasy, with undue profligacy, but as the result of a noble and patriotic spirit, which would not be a little startled at the explosion of the fatal peace-maker. Mr. Benton's course is certainly not the result of quiet reflection, but of a noble and patriotic spirit, which would not be a little startled at the explosion of the fatal peace-maker.

It is a prevailing fault of the people to place too high an estimate upon the firmness or inflexibility of their great men. Men are much more than the marks of the Constitution, and the fact that they are not so firm, is a great deal more than a fault.
