107 the coultay of capital—the wear and tear of Books, and the certain depreciation, in value of almost every kind of Books, after they have lain upon the shelves a certain length of time; is compelled to add at least 25 per cent to the price of his publications. Under these circumstances, how is the Bokseller to sustain himself!

The answer is a very simple one. He must, add 25 per cent to his prices, which the purchased is mpelled to pay ! Again, our experience has taught us, that of all old stock, old books are decidedly the most unprofitable. No other stock depreciates so rapidly in value, and the Bookseller who permits his stock to lie on his shelves longer than a twelve months, loses not only the interest of his capital but at least 40 per cent of its original cost. From this it necesarily appears, that the largest amount of old Books on the shelves, does not always indicate where the cheapes Books are to be had

Books are to be had.

Our plan is, to buy where Books are always bought cheapest—to keep no more books on our shelves than are absolutely necessary to meet the wants of the public—to keep on hand always a few copies, of every new publication of merit—to hold ourselves ready to fill any order at two days notice—to sell our books, not at commission prices, but at such rates as those only can, who buy as we do, at the Trade Sales, and for cash, never expecting our customers to pay the interest on our dead stock.

We therefore most cordially invite an examination of our stock and prices; holding ourselves firmly bound to the public, to furnish books, or any thing in our line as cheap to say the lesat, as any other house in the city. the lesat, as any other house in the city.

Thus the posed of his business to some strangers. Thus the claim to originality and other pretensions, fall to the ground. He voluntarily abandons them in thus evading the issue before the public, by disposing of his trade and going into retirement. The fact also that his article became notorious for its SOURING, FERMENTING and BURST-ING BOTTLES, thereby DECEIVING and INJURING the sick, and destroying goods demonstrates beyond all reasoning or gainsaying, the fallacy of his pretensions, and the baseless fabric of his claims. Hereafter, it is to be sent out to the peopie by some STRANGERS, yet bearing the name of S. P. Townsend. We have been informed that these Strangers intend to print on the labels, the name of some chemist, in order to redeem if possible its bad character of souring, fermenting and bursting bottles.

It should be called the "Strangard Sarsaparilla". Six per cent interest allows the "Strangard Sarsaparilla". the "Strangers' Sarsaparilla," and not S. P. Townsend's. But if there is no alteration, the people may still expect the same old souring, fer otheer stuff, as formerly made by Ruel Clapp, the worth $12000.

We have felt it our duty to inform the public of the true position of this matter, that OLD DR. JACOB TOWNSEND'S SARSAPARILLA may not be confounded to the continuous strick. In conclusion, we would TOWNSEND'S SARSAFARILLA may not be confounded with the souring article. In conclusion, we would remark that some months ago S. P. We understand these strangers who have taken up S. P's business intend to remain there. Such conduct needs no comment.
