COURTSHIP. BY N. P. WILLIS.

"Oh, Laura! will nothing I bring thee E'er soften those looks of disdain? Are the songs of affection I sing thee All doomed to be sung thee in vain?

I offer thee, fairest and dearest, A treasure, the richest I'm worth;

I offer thee love, the sincerest,
The warmest e'er glowed upon earth! But the maiden, a haughty look flinging,

Said, "Cease my compassion to move; For I'm not very partial to singing, And they're poor whose sole treasure is love 'My name will be sounded in story-

I offer thee, dearest, my name;
I have fought on the proud field of glory!
Oh! Laura some share in my fame. I bring a soul that adores thee, And loves thee wherever thou art;

nich thrills as its tribute it brings thee

Of tenderness fresh from the heart." But the maiden said, "Cease to importune Give Cupid the use of its wings; or fame's but a pitiful fortune—
And hearts are such valueless things.

Oh Laura forgivé if I've spoken Too boldly—nay turn not away— For my heart with affliction is broken-My uncle died only to-day! My uncle the nabob—who tended My youth with affection and care;

My manhood who kindly befriended Has-died-and-has-left-me-his-And the maiden said, "Weep not, sincerest My heart has been your's all along;
Oh! hearts of treasures are dearest—

Do, Edward, go on with your song."
