Thirty-First Congress--1st Session WASHINGTON, May 8. SENATE.—Mr. Jefferson Davis presented a series of resolutions of the Legislature of Mississippi, in defence of the proceedings in that State, in relation to the holding of a Southern Convention.

He read at great length from the Address of the State Convention, to show that all efforts to charge that it originated in any desire for disunion, were either maliciously false or ignorantly conceived

He contrasted the Mississippi proceedings with the proceedings of the various Free Soil Conventions proceedings of the various Free Soil Conventions in the East and West, which were allowed to pass without rebuke, and which had, in fact, led to the vere then laid on the table and THE COMPROMISE PLAN OF THE COMMITTEE OF THIRTEEN.

Mr. Clay is now reading the report of the Com-nittee of Thirteen, of which the following is an ab-

1st. The Committee are unanimously of opinion, that new States may be formed out of Texas, under the terms of the compact entered into by the United States, in the resolutions of annexation; and that when they are so formed, they have a clear and undoubted right to be admitted into the Union as eloquence to carry it through—and in this laudable Texas, should be originated by Congress, but should be left to the people of Texas; also that such new States should be admitted without any objection on account of the exclusion or permission of slavery.

The consideration of the Report and accomplying the should be admitted without any objection on account of the exclusion or permission of slavery. account of the exclusion or permission of slavery.

3d. The Committee also think it quite necessary that a territorial government should be furnished for the territories of Utah and New Mexico. They for the territories of Utah and New Mexico. They had been abandoned, were inhabited by a mixed and usually varied nopulation, and were equally as deserving of proper governments, and should have them speedily. They were unfit, at present, for State governments, and the committee recommend that the admission of California, and the bill providing territorial governments be incorporated in one measure, and passed together as one measure. They also recommend that the bills be passed without the Wilmot Proviso being attached to the territories. They consider the Wilmot Proviso, as applied to these territories, a mere abstraction.

4th. The Committee report as an additional section to the California and Territorial bil, a provision determining the boundaries of New Mexico sorts of people." and Texas as follows:-The boundary of Texas shall be the Rio Grande up to a point 20 miles north of El Paso Del Norte—thence the line*shall run due north along the one hundredth parallel of longitude till it strikes Red river, and this line of ongitude that it strikes hed river, and this line of ongitude shall be the eastern boundary of New Mexico—this line includes within New Mexico the town of Santa Fe, and a large portion of the dispu-ted territory, for which the bill proposes to pay Texas blank millions of dollars in stocks, at half of 14 years. It is supposed that the sum agreed be from six to ten millions. 5th. The Committee report a section to be added to Mason's bill in r-lation to fugitive slaves. Mr. Clemens said that the report was Mr. Clay's plan, submitted early in the session, and he could not vote for it, because it was violative of the constitution. It assumed three things as true, which were not true. First, That the same irregularities which attended the formation of a State Government in California, attended all other States. Mr. Clay's Report. It will be seen by reference to the Congressions news in another column, that Mr. CLAY, as Chairman of the Compromise Committee, has presented his report to the Senate. The Bills accompanying it were read and, with the Report, were ordered to be printed. It appears from the remarks made by several Senators, that the Report was not agreed to by all the members of the Committee-and it is therefore fair to presume, that, if adopted by, the Senate at all, it will be after a long and exciting discussion. As, however, the paternity of the Re port is awarded to Mr. CLAY, that gentleman will

The bill reduces one-half of the States and their citizens to a condition of inferiority as to their political rights, under the constitution, to the other half of their sister States and their citizens. The equality of the States as political communities, and the equality of rights of their respective citizens, constitute a fundamental principle, which lies at the foundation of our Federal Union; and without the distinct recognition of which it is well-known the confederacy could never have been formed.

"The territorial possessions acquired by the treaty of peace with Mexico were purchased by the common blood and treasure of citizens of all the States-slave-holding and non-slave-holding.
