"FLORAL APOSTLES."

BY MRS. H. J. LEWIS, Gather me flowers. Since spring has strewn Her floral gems o'er hill and glade, My soul in silent dreams hath flown To those old haunts of light and shade, Where, with a gentle friend, the hours Swept by awakening fair young-flowers.

There pause the birds for welcome rest. And trom their flowing urns of song Fill the hushed air the charmed breast, While over and around them throng Soft incense laden airs, that bless All life with angel tenderness.

Gather me flowers, and each shall be Love's messenger, almost divine, With whispered tales of stream and tree And voice of bird attuned with thine. Spring too is here-but not the flowers That smile is sunlight, weep in showers.

Marriage without Courtship.

A ROMANCE WITHOUT FICTION. Wondrous are the ways of Providence, and s gular are the doings of man, especially in these lat-ter days of human progress. The gigantic strides hot, was set before him. ce, levelling in its track prejudice and igno rance, making "ancient goods uncouth," has pre-pared the human mind to combat the expression of the wise man, that there is "nothing new under the sun." Nothing new, forsooth! Well, it there is really nothing new, old customs sometimes ap pear before us clothed in a strange garb—a very new coat of many colors. "It is not meet that man should be alone"-from the very foundation of the world, woman was placed in it to love, cherish and comfort man. In pursuance of this divine seated upon the threshold gift of God, the custom of courtship and marriage was introduced, and at the present day wisdom sanctions the former while law binds the latter. Courtship and marriage in all civilized countries, present the phase in the abstract, but the success-ful issue of a matrimonial negotiation we are about to chronicle, possesses a spice of romance altogeth r out of the ordinary manner of every day life, having gleaned the facts from authentic and reliabl

About three years ago, the Rev. R. S. M'Clay, of Concord, Franklin county, Pa, (late of Gettysburg,) received a call on the Board of Foreign Missions connected with the Methodist Episcopal Church, to visit China and preach the Gospel to the benight ed Celestials of the central flowery land. M Clay was young, ardent and enthusiastic, and most wilexcited no surprise. At noon he called at a snug little house, and asked the lad who was gazing lingly embraced the high and holy duty assigned out of a window: 'Who lives here, my son !'

In due time he arrived in China, and was staioned at Eau Chun seven hundred miles in the Mr Samr

CITY OF LANCASTER, TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 25, 1850. MR. SAMPSON'S HOUSE; A MELTING STORY. OR THE MISTAKE OF A TRAVELLER. One winter evening a country storekeeper in the Green Mountain State was about closing his door 'Once upon a time,' a queer old fellow named Smith started from a Southern city upon a pedes-trian excursion of about one hundred miles. He for the night, and while standing in the snow out-side putting up the window shutters, saw through the glass a lounging, worthless fellow within, grab a pound of fresh butter from the shelf and conceal it in his hat. was not such a very old fellow, either; he was about forty years older than when he was born... This Mr. Smith, (he was not connected with the John Smith family in the most remote degree,) was a man of many peculiarities. It absolu Was a man of many peculiarities. If absolute sup-pidity did not form a prominent trait in his char acter, it was a quality which very much resembled stupidity, and might easily be mistaken for it, by at least one half the world.—He had manifested a

This hesitation however, was soon settled by the right owner of the butter taking Seth by the shoulder and planting him in a seat -brought him brandy and water-and in addition, furnished him with a bit of bread and cheese. All this was decidedly welcome and refreshing. When Ir. Smith had quenche@his thirst and satisfied the slight craving of appetite, he re-commenced his travels, and, as he left the city tolerably early in the morning, he thought he might walk two or three hours longer, before he stopped for dinner. His road seemed to be very level, and was skirt. ed on one side by an uncommonly high fence. On he footed it for about three hours longer, until a glance at the position of the sun satisfied him he "Seth, we'll have a little warm Santa Cruz," said the grocer as he opened the stove door, and stuffed in as many sticks as the place would admit;

"Seth, I'll give you a toast, now, and you can butter it yourself," said the grocer, with an air of such consummate simplicity, that poor Seth believed himself unsuspected. "Seth, here's—here's a Christ-mas goose, well roasted, eh ? I tell you it's the mas goose, well roasted, eh ? I tell you it's the quite dark. Still there was something wanting—a void the heart to be filled—he sighed for that best solace to man, either in weal or woe-a wIFE. How to get one, was an intricate question to solve. There were no American ladies there from whom he could make a choice, and as for a Chinese wife, the laws of the land forbade it, neither did his inclination desire it. What then was to be done ?-A fertile imagination can accomplish wonders—a firm determination can surmount difficulties that would "o'ertop old Pelion." He wrote to the Board whittlin of Missions on the subject—he wrote in pathetic— we might perhaps say poetic—strains, of his lone ly condition for the want of one on whom he could bestow his affections, and who would be the part-ner of his joys and sorrows through life, and ended by asking that the Board send him a young lady ho would be willing to become his wife -----agreey to his directions, which he sent in the form of a blank declaration to be filled up by the lady ccepting the proposision. This was a novel proposition, but the Board was of opinion that it was a just one, and proceeded due diligence to search for the object desired, and strange to say, success crowned their effort

Sometime previous to the receipt of Mr. M'Clay's letter, a young lady, Miss Henrietta Sperry, of Brooklyn, N. Y., made application to the Board to be seen as a functional statement of the Board blocking it. 1., made application to the board to be sent as a Missionary to China, but was refused on account of being unmärried. To her the application of Mr. M'Clay was shown; she at once filled up the blank application, and a correspondence ensued which ended in her leaving New York in company with a number of other Missionaries, on the 12th of March last, in the ship Tartar, for Hong Kong, where she will be met b Mr. M'Clay, and the nuptial ceremony will be so
