THE FEMALE ASSASSIN.

AS RECATED BY PRINCE CAMBACERES, ARCHCHANCELLO OF THE FRENCH EMPIRE. About the close of the government of the Directory, the keeper of the hotel garni; in the Rue de "Universite, waited on the Minister of Police, and in a state of great agitation, stated that one of his lodgers, whom he named, had been murdered on the preceding night. He had engaged the lodging six o'clock in the evening, describing himself as an inhabitant of Melun, who had come to Paris for a day or two on business. After ordering his chamber to be prepared for him, he went out, saying that he was going to the Odeon, and would return immediately after the performance. About midnight he returned, but not alone; he was actor was actor which she dared not plunge, she changed her plan, and busined by a young and beautiful female, dressed which she dared not plunge, she changed her plan, and busined baself in a convent or numery near as an inhabitant of Melun, who had come to Paris hey were shown to the apartment which had been prepared. The door was broken open, and the unfortunate man was found dead in his bed. A doctor was sent for, and he declared it to be his opinion that the man's death had been 'caused by a blow of hammer adroitly inflicted on the left temple. The terrale never again appeared; she was sought for

In about a month after a similar murder was committed. The victim was likewise a man from the country, and his death was produced in the manner I have before described. The affair excited considerable consternation in Paris. Within another fortnight, a third crime of the same kind was tted; and in all these affairs, the mysterious female in man's attire was involved. It is scarcely credible, but nevertheless true, that eighteen or twenty of these extraordinary murders were comor any one to give a minute description of her with sweet oil, which some of the Ethic

The Celebrated Mrs. Miller. Washington A. Bacon, of Detroit, writes the foi owing interesting letter to the Vermont Family

Sazette, Bellows Falls: DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 10, 1850.

Mrs. Miller has returned to her friends in this city. She states that it was her intention when she left the hotel at Niagara, to have thrown herself off the bridge which crosses over to Goat Island, just above the cataract; but, on arriving at the place, she had not the courage to do it-"she was a cowshe had not the contage to do he saw was a con-ard on instinct." She had, previous to leaving the house, put her children to sleep, written letters to her parents, and one to the landlord, stating her intention, and requesting them to be kind to her babes; she had also cut off her curls, and left them with the letters, in a conspicuous place on the table. From that time to the present, nothing positive has been heard from her. It was rumored that she had left the country with a gentleman, and was travel-ing on the continent of Europe. Her father, however, believed she was somewhere in the vicinity of Philadelphia, and spent several weeks in a fruitless search. Returning in June or July, he died of a broken heart. Not long since a brother of hers died at Saratoga. His death, too, was undoubtedly accelerated by the same cause.— He was a captain in the army, Her father was tornierly a U. S. Senator. Learning the condition of her family, I believed she intimated to them by letter where she could be found, and her willing ness to return. Accordingly a friend of the family went after her last week, and brought her home to mourn with her widowed mother over the ruin she had caused. Her children are with their father. and buried herself in a convent or numery near Baltimore. She positively denies having been in mother, who has received her with open arms. The Uniontown Whig, of the 17th ult., says that Major Miller, the husband of Mrs. Miller, died at the residence of Dr. Porter, on the Thursday previband, father and brother of the lady have all died since her strange disappearance.

Police Reports.

Some of the Police Reports of the Pennsylvanian are decidedly rich, and well calculated to excite the risible faculties of the reader. The following is a specimen

CITY POLICE, SEPTEMBER 23.—Soaping a Dary.—There is a fashionable boarding house, for laes and gentlemen of color, in Lombard st. above Fighth. Among the boarders is Mr. Henry S. At that time the capitol was filled with Fouche's spies. A fine-looking man, about twenty, was one evening accosted in the street by a person whom he at first supposed to be a very handsome man. He passed on, but suddenly the thought struck him that the person who had spoken to him was a woman in disguise, and he immediately recollected the female assassin.

"It is she," he exclaimed; "I have discovered her, and my fortune is made."

He turned back and entered into conversation with her. She at first denied her disguise, but finally acknowledged it, and the young man prevailed Harry had been drinking pretty freely at the party "Where do you live?" she inquired.

In this country there are but two great political parties-and two have existed since the commencement of the Republic, and Dut 100 can or will exist so long as our glorious institutions bless the land of the free. The one is the Whig, and the other is the Democratic party. The Whig party is mainly composed of the wealthy classes, and its leaders are, in a general sense, the self styled and its leaders are, in a general sense, the self styled are the sense of the wealthy classes, and its leaders are, in a general sense, the self styled are the sense of the wealthy classes, and its leaders are, in a general sense, the self styled are the sense of the wealthy classes, and its leaders are, in a general sense, the self styled are the sense of the wealthy classes, and its leaders are, in a general sense, the self styled are the sense of the wealthy classes, and its leaders are, in a general sense, the self styled are the sense of the wealthy classes, and its leaders are, in a general sense, the self styled are the sense of the wealthy classes, and its leaders are, in a general sense, the self styled are the sense of the wealthy classes, and its leaders are, in a general sense, the self styled are the sense of the wealthy classes, and its leaders are, in a general sense, the self styled are the sense of the wealthy classes, and its leaders are, in a general sense, the self styled are the sense of the wealthy classes, and the wealthy classes, and the wealthy classes, and the sense of the wealthy classes, and the wealthy classes, and the wealthy classes of the wealthy classes, and the wealthy classes of the wealthy classes of the wealthy classes. and its readers are, in a general sense, the self styled aristocracy of the land. These men, or most of them, believe the people—the common working people—incapable of governing themselves, and have long since avowed it as one of the fundamental control of the control of the control of the fundamental control of the con tal principles of Whiggery, that the Government should take care of the rich, and the rich wou take care of the poor! As shocking and anti-re publican as this may appear, it is, nevertheless, the truth.
