ADDRESS OF THE DEMOCRATIC CO. COMMITTEE. To the Democratic Freemen of the City and County of Lancaster : An address to you, adopted by eighteen members of the late Democratic County Committee, on the 10th, and published in the Intelligencer and Journal on the 15th inst., seems to require some

If resistance to the supposed slight, inflicted by you upon the late Committee, in dismissing them their trust "at the end of five months," of which they so bitterly complain, were their true and only object in this appeal, we should not think of troubling you with any remarks in reply. It would not be necessary. Individuals who for such a cause, even though the injury were real to the fullest extent claimed, could dare to distract and embarrass the party, would meet their proper punishment in the silent contempt of the Democ-What! He a Democrat, who for being deprived of the honor of affixing his name to a call for one more county convention (the time and place of whose meeting are already determined by you,) could hazard disunion and disorganizaion! He a Democrat who refuses to submit to own designs or wishes! He a Democrat, who drags his supposed personal griefs before the public, and has so little confidence in your sense iustice as to refuse to trust his cause in your Truly, if such he the Democracy of the aiders and advisers of the late Committee, then you will say it is time for them, to have not only separate committee and organization, but a rate name and creed; for such principles are not your principles - wanting as they do, the very foundation sentiment of Democracy, which is, that the people are honest and always do justice. But has there been any wrong done these men!

Let facts speak: For years, till 1849, it has been an invariable usage with the Democratic party of Lancaster county, to appoint their County Committee at the Convention which usually meets in August, to settle the County Ticket. In 1848, a Committee was thus appointed. But in 1849, it having been etermined that no county ticket should be settled by the party, no convention met in the fall of that Hence the Committee of 1848, from nesity, held over till the next convention of the party occurred, which was on the 10th of April, 1850, to elect Delegates to the Williamsport Convention. That being the first opportunity for relieving the old Committee from its task, a new one was then appointed—being the one which now attempts to treat your late Convention as it had not been held, and claims to retain the honors and advantages of their office till the 10th of April, 1851; for, they say, that their appointment But your 'was to continue at least one year?" representatives in the late County Convention, anxious to adhere to old land-marks, and not willing to build up any strange usages in the party, did not recognize their claims, and appointed the new County Committee at the usual time. They also, by resolution, fixed the day for the holding of the next County Convention.

We shall not add a single word of remark or argument upon this indisputable statement of facts; except to say, that the change has been regularly made by the Legislature of the Party. (for such is its Convention.) called, too, into session by the ecusant Committee themselves; and that though not a full year in power, yet they have had the In 1829, Anti-Masonary came into existence, not only producing great changes in the democratic vote of Lancaster county, but completely revolutions call the Committee met and called a had the honor of calling a meeting at Steele'shas assembled and performed its duties. These tee. They have been performed and exercised, and there is, or rather ought to be an end. If there are other powers not known to the Purty, coveted by the late Committee, then has the end of their authority come none too soon. With this state of the case before you, you will probably arrive at the conclusion, that the loss of few months tenure of what has heretofore been a laborious and profitless station, cannot be the first step in party rebellion. We know there is, and shall plainly and boldly state it to you, that you may be enabled to guard against the danger, and vindicate your rights as free agents and independent Democrats.

During the whole of the late session of Congress, the embittered question of Slavery occupied the public mind. Southern ultras and Northern gether to produce a dissolution of the Union. Some heretofore prominent men in the Middle States, also fanned the flame, and preached up "danger and the necessity of compromise to save the Union." But the Democratic People, whether in the North, Middle or South, never for a moment deemed the Constitution in danger; for the glorious Union of which it is the bond, is with them, not a matter of mere paper or commercial contract, but of abiding, heartfelt sentiment. In the long controversy on the floor of the U. S. Senate. which at length settled permanently this vexed and vexatious question, on the broad, safe and Democratic grand of non-intervention, the Democratic Union loving people of the land, were ably and fully represented. To Lewis Cass all eyes Every heart was warmed by the nobleness of his patriotism, the reach of his states manship and the eloquence of his language; and in no portion of this broad land, was and is this feeling more general and sincere than in the ty of Lançaster.

Again: While the timid or the designing were crying danger! and offering to compromise the onstitution by making it the means of establishing slavery south of a particular line, Lancaster county sent forth a voice which echoed throughout every quarter of the country, asserting not only her abiding confidence in the Union of the States, but the determination of the Old Keystone to do, and see done, justice to all. The eloquent and patriotic speech of Reah Frazer, in the Wil liamsport Convention, not only found a response in the breast of every true patriot and Democrat, but at once attracted that degree of attention to the speaker which his personal friends had long known him to merit. We say to you distinctly then, and we charge it upon the recusant Committee openly, that op-position to the well known and growing popularity of Lewis Cass for President, and Reah Frazer for Governor, amongst the Democrats of Lancaster county, and not the lew odd months of the year, which they claim, is the true cause of the diganizing move upon which they have dared to venture, and of their attempt to retain power in order to make that opposition effectual.

You know the existence of the feeling in favor of the citizens whom we have named. know why and to whom it is distasteful. We shall, therefore, not occupy your time by dwelling upon this part of the subject; but shall proceed to show how, by every means of suppression and de lay in their power, the recusant committee have attempted and are still laboring to smother and

Committee is to be gleaned out of the following Committee is to be greated out of the following assertion relative to the Gubernatorial Convention of 1846: "If our delegates had acted in accordance with the Reading Convention "be postponed to a future the Reading Convention "be postponed to a future the Reading Convention be postponed to a future that the delegates to the Reading Convention be postponed to a future that the vell known wish of their constitutions."

Well, the Democracy of the county, in Convention assembled, on the 18th of September, obeyed this strange mandate and did not elect Delegates. What, then, do the committee complain of in this respect? The reply is, that although delegates were not then elected, the voice of the county in favor of the Party for Governor. In that event does any man doubt that he would have been elected, and that we should at this moment have a Democratic Governor, instead of the present incumbent?"

Note the voice of the county in favor of the present incumbent?"

were made up, and that if an opportunity had been given him the nomination, as the following table afforded, the acclammation for Cass and Frazze will show: would have been nearly general over the county.

Of a piece with this same system of suppression and delay, is the refusal of the recusant com to recognize the call of your late representatives for a convention on the 13th of November. They have actually dared to nullify this act of the legislature of the party, and have called a conventio on the 5th of March, 1851. No one, in his senses, believes that this act of rehellion would be ventured on merely to show their independence. It must have some other mo-tive. Whether it is designed to conceal the true mise is a failure, it is not for us to say.

auch an outrage has been perpetrated without adequate motive, will hardly be asserted.

Thus you will perceive, fellow Democrats, that those who were lately trusted, as the executive organs of your party discipline, have not only used their power to suppress the expression of your an "angry contest" about Governor, into the known sentiments, but are now seeking to perpetuste its possession for the purpose of misrepresenting your wishes and defeating your will. You well know how to rebuke such treason to Demo-upon some of their arguments; though not one of them has the slightest relevancy, that we can perceive, to the committee's seven month's claim, which is their great grievance.

The first, such as it is, is contained in the statement, that little more than twenty years ago, the democratic party was in a decided majority in this Convention has expressed itself "in favor of a county; and that since "we have not been adding that strength to our party which the soundness of our cause should warrant;" the whole passage conveying the idea that we have numerically lost force.

An examination of the following tabular statements, which, however, go back a little more than the twenty years at which they see fit to begin, will expose the fallacy of their assertions. So far from the Democratic vote decreasing, it has steadily prior to the holding of that Convention, it is infiincreased, notwithstanding the powerful opposition

In the concluding part of their address, the re cusants come back again to their great grievance and endeavor to clinch it with something very like a misstatement. They at least use terms calculated to leave a false impression on the minds of persons uninformed of the true state of the case.— Speaking of the fact that the Democratic people of Lancaster county dared to prefer Col. Frazer as their candidate for Governor, and that their delegates presumed to express that preference by the adoption of resolutions in the late County Con-vention, pledging the county to sustain him, the recusant committee say that "a protest, signed by Delegates from 17 election districts" was present ed; thus using language expressive of the idea that 17 districts protested; when, in fact, only out of 38 protested by a majority of each of their delegates. The remainder of the recusant com-mittee's "large number" of protestants and seceders, being scattering individuals, who differed from the majority of their own colleagues, and thus misrepresented their districts, as the result will show
