Without the remotest design to disparage the talents or character of any man, be he from the east, the west, the north, or the south, I do nevertheless unhesitatingly aver, without any sear of contradiction from any quarter, that Pennsylvania, now presents a statesman, in the person of Hon-JAMES BUCHANAN, second to no man living. pre-eminent services of this distinguished patriot in the memorable struggle between Democratic principles and Aristocracy, during the administration of Gen. Jackson, are well known to the coun ry. He stood unawed by the side of the old Hero, while the lowering thunders of Aristocracy shook the very foundation of our glorious institutions. Since then he has stood as a beacon light upon the watch-tower of Democracy, never veering to the right or to the left. As a Senator, he has justly entitled himself to a place in the first rank of or-ators; as a diplomatist, he is acknowledged in all nations as a man, of superior genius and tact; as a Cabinet officer, his giant intellect and lofty patriotism was a tower of strength to the adminis-tration of Jas. K. Polk. Need I say more of the man whom the Key State presents? His characacter as a statesman is the nation's legacy, as it has been the shield of her institutions. to say that Pennsylvania presents him, and claims his nomination for her claims' sake, and I ask, without any apprehension that a successful answer can be given: Is there any State that has as good a claim for the honor of furnishing the candidate?
Did she not contribute as much as any other of the old thirteen States, in the glorious struggle for American Independence? Has she not been the steadfast and ardent supporter of our national compact under all circumstances? Has she ever mur-mured, rebelled, or threatened to rebel against the constitutional mandates of the Federal Government? In short, has not her vox populi, as well as her statesmen proved her emphatically the Keystone of the Federal Arch, never swerving, nor attemp-ing to swerve from the frue interest of our national Union? And I would ask further: Can any State And I would ask further: Can any State in this Union say more with the same degree of well known truth? Why then, I continue to should not the young and patriotic State of Wis consin, with a commendable désire to do justice to to her hoary-headed sister, cast her vote in the Na tional Convention for James Buchanan. Examine this subject, fellow-citizens of Wisconsin; remember that the great State that now lays claim to the honor of furnishing the Democratic candidate has never had that honor awarded before and that no President has ever been elected by the people, without her vote, and that none will ever be likely to succeed without her. Remember, also, that Pennsylvania has a clear majority of intelligent and steadfast Democrats, who being honest them-selves, have a right to expect honest treatment from their neighbors; but campaign after campaign has been marked with an evident deign to tamper with her credulity, until forbearance seems to have lost its virtue. This was evidently one of the principal causes of kicking the traces in 1840 and 1848, but if the choice in the coming campaign would fall upon her favorite son, she would undoubtedly rally in a perfect rush around the standard of Democracy. hould the sober judgement of the Democracy of Wisconsin at the proper time influence her in fa-vor of extending this act of justice to Pennsylvania. which would be equivalent to a Democratic triumph, "foll on" and your conscience will doubtless approve the act ad infinitum, while no injustice could thereby accrue to any member of this great MILWAUKIE, JAN. 14, 1851.

Disease like death is the common destiny of man-

Disease like death is the common destiny of man-kind. Till the hour of sickness comes how few ever think of a subject which interest all. Every atom of the material world is constantly undergoing a change—man continually—"he is every thing by time and nothing long." The phenomena of dis-ease presents us with numerous lights and shades, alternating with the numerous agencies by which we are afflicted. Presuming that life is a unity whatever material agent possesses the power of u-resting the motions of the body is capable of de-ranging their action. What is disease in its sim-plest form but an interruption of the electrical moranging their action. What is disease in its simplest form but an interruption of the electrical motions of the body by agents not compatible with them. These motions may to a certain extent be either increased or decreased without positively injuring the vital actions of the whole—like the wheels of a time piece, stop one and you influence all—so with disease in all chronic maladies whether effecting one or more organs of the hold water. affecting one or more organs of the body, we in-variably discover them to be effects rather than cures of ill-health. Change the electrical motions which occasion them, and health consequently follows; for this purpose art furnishes no remedy, equal to Dr. Keeler's Sarsaparilla. Its virtue has been tested in all chronic, glandular and constitutional diseases. Afflicted: "De wise in time, 'tis folly to defer."

Philadelphia, Nov. 22, 1848.

Dr. Keeler—Dear Sir: I take great pleasure in bearing testimony in behalf of your valuable medicine, Sarsaparilla. I have been using it for a pain in the side of long standing, which was occasioned by a severe attack of Pleurisy and fever several years since in the West. For several months past my health has been failing and the pain in the side. whealth has been failing, and the pain in the side so severe at times as to disable me from attending to my business. I have used many remedies with scarce any benefit until I commenced using your Sarsaparilla, since which time my health has gradually improved, so much so that at the present time I enjoy much better health than for years past. I have used the medicine in my family, and consider it infinitely superior to any remedy within my knowledge in chronic affections of the chest and organs.
