COLUMBIA, March 3, 1851. Friend Sanderson :- I has en to inform you tha the poor white woman, whose circumstances were such as to justify "Tattler" in bringing her cas before the public, has been relieved by some ladie whose names. I have not as yet learned. I have understood they received their first intimation o this case of destitution through the medium Tattler's letters. All honor to our ladies!

The Democracy of our Borough responded to th regular call of the Chairman of the Democratic County Committee, William B. Fordney. Esq., last Saturday night, and polled one hundred and seventy-two votes for the county delegates, of which Dr. N. B. Wolfe received 170

Population of Pennsylvania.-According to POPULATION Of PENNSYLVANIA.—According to a statement published by the Superintendent of the Census in the National Intelligencer, Pennsylvania has a population of 2,341,204. This is about 20,000 more than has generally been allowed her, and indicates an increase, in ten years, of 617,171—or nearly thirty six per cent. She will gain one mem ber of Congress, while New York will lose one and Ohio will only retain her present number. None of the old States have increased in anything like the ratio of Pennsylvania. The statement in the Intelligencer makes the population of the Union 20,067,720 free, and 3,070,734 slaves; total 23,138, Pennsylvania contains more than one tenth of the whole population. The returns from many of the States in the Intelligencer are only estimated, and the aggregate is therefore not perfectly correct.
We shall publish the returns in full when they are

What a comment is the above upon the reiterated assertions of the whig papers and orators, that the interests of Pennsylvania were sacrificed by the tariff of 1846! Her laborers thrown out of employment to starve, and her business prostrated!-Har. risburg Keystone.

DEATH OF A VENERABLE COLORED CITIZEN. John Campbell, a highly respectable colored citizen, died in this borough, on Monday the 17th instant, at the advanced age of one hundred and six years!— John Campbell was a slave for many years in the State of Virginia; but by strict industry and hones ty, he succeeded in purchasing the freedom of him self and wife, for the immense sum of $1500. They then removed to this place, where they have both been living, happy and comfortable, for twenty years.—Carlisle Volunteer.
