Dr. Geo. B. Green: Dear Sir:—In reply to your question in regard to the action of the Crygenated Bitters, I feel much pleasure in stating, that from its prompt and decisive effect in alleviating and corrections. and overcoming a severe and chronic case of Indi gestion and Dyspepsia in my own family, and from a knowledge of its wonderful results in curing several attacks quite as severe in ether families of my acquaintance, I consider it a sovereign and infallible remedy in that distressing complaint, and would codisilly and accounts.

fallible remedy in that distressing complaint, and would cordially and earnestly recommend it to all who may be thus afflicted. Respectfully yours,

ISAAC DANFORTH, 17 South Market St.

The above certificate is from a well known and highly respectable merchant of Boston, and is entitled to the fullest confidence. Give the medicine a trial, and you will be satisfied of its astonishing efficacy: it rives immediate relief, and imparts efficacy; it gives immediate relief, and imparts health and strength to the whole system, contains no alcohol, and is the most agreeable medicine for those of delicate constitution.

ent-colors are more readily bee that the differ-ent-colors are more readily brought out by mixing a less quantity of other paints, than if it were black oxyde, getting a livelier color at less expense.— Forming a perfect cement body, a large portion being silica; it bids defiance to the action of the weather, and is a great protection against the de-weather, and is a great protection against the de-vouring element.

All the colors may be got up from this composi-tion, from a beautiful lead to a jet black, with less than half the expense of the usual way, forming: a harder coat, which is believed to be twice as valnable. It is also susceptible of receiving a high polish, and may be use for the finest kind of ORNAMENTAL PAINTING

This composition will be found especially useful or painting all kinds of outside, houses, steamboats ships, schooners, sloops, &c., as it is wholly imper vious to water, and less attractive to the rays of th In introducing this paint now in use.

In introducing this paint to the public, the prorietor flatters himself that the superior advantages prietor flatters himself that the superior advantages he has in obtaining the raw material, it being pure and taken from a bed one hundred a fifty feet in height and being the finest and purest substance of the kind, or as much so as any in the world; and in addition to that, exposed to action of rain and frost, rendering it constantly softer and purer, and no pains shall be spared in manufacturing. After testing its qualities they will be satisfied it is not an imposition upon their credulity, (of which there is so much done at the present day,) but on the contrary, the high commendation it received is sufficient to warrant its reception.

For cottages, of either wood or brick, this paint cannot be too highly recommended. For Railroad Depots, Bridges, Cars, and Public Buildings of all descriptions, it is invaluable. It is now being used on the Atlantic Steamers and Packets, with great satisfaction, and must soon supersede all other paint, for like purpose. For coach painting it is said to be a perfect desideratum, it being susceptible to the highest polish, and forming a surface as hard as marble. For Farm Houses, Out Buildings, Fences, Factories and Foundries, its value can scarcely be calculated; its fire and weather proof ient to warrant its reception. scarcely be calculated; its fire and weather proof qualities have been thoroughly tested, and has found favor with the public, so much so, that a building covered with this paint will insure at less premium than a building covered with other paint.
