ADDRESS

OF THE DEMOCRATIC JUDICIAL CONVEN-TION OF PENNSYLVANIA, TO THEIR FEL-LOW-CITIZENS :

We assembled at Harrisburg, pursuant to our appointment, on the 11th day of June, 1851, and

JAMES CAMPBELL, of Philadelphia. ELLIS LEWIS, of Lancaster. JOHN B. GIBSON, of Cumberland. WALTER H. LOWRIE, of Allegheny.

These gentlemen are all cordially recommended to you as eminently qualified for the high stations which they have been nominated. The Supreme Court is a tribunal of great authority in the effect of its decisions, although in point of actual and direct power, the judiciary is the weakest of the three great departments of government. That Court has in the last resort, to pass upon the lives, liberties and property of our citizens. From its decisions, with but few exceptions, there is no appeal. In selecting gentlemen, therefore, to compose this august and important tribunal, care must be taken august and important tribunal, care must be taken that, on the score of qualification, they shall possess that moral force which the confidence of the public alone can confer, and which will enable them to maintain their relative position in the adminis-tration of our Government. The change of the mode of appointing, from a selection by the Executive to an election by the people, should not lessen the qualification of the incumbent. To fill the situation with safety to the public and credit to himself, he should have a well balanced miud,— sound judgment, discriminating intellect, and a familiar and intimate acquaintance with our com* Whilst willing to adopt the mon and statute law. former to the exigencies of society, as in the progress of improvement, it presents , new phases, and give to the latter the sound interpretation which the law givers intended, he should never assume to an the law, or set up his own judgment against the wisdom and experience of ages. He should present in himself a happy medium between and stimulate his industry, and ambition. He imshould present in himself a happy medium between that narrowness of prejudice which would reject all advances in improvement and that laxity of decision which would disregard all that has gone before it.

To these qualifications should be added that strict integrity of purpose "which yields not to time and bends not to circumstances," and that independence and decision of character which should ever be found in the administrator of the law. A Judge who falters in the performance of his duty, or calculates how his decision may effect his popularity, is unworthy the place he fills. With him the only uestion should be, what is the law, and pronounce jurisprudence. It is said to be peculiar. It cer-tainly is not very well understood out of the State, and its excellence is not fully appreciated by all within it. Casting aside the trammels of techni-cality, we combine in one forum and essentially under the same form of proceeding, the administra-tion of law and equity. With us law and equity, if tion of law and equity. not synonimous terms, are both parts of a great whole. For this admirable system we are much indebted to the wisdom and forecast of our ancesthe war of 1812 was ended, in a blaze of glory, during the democratic administration of Mr. Mad-We were denied to posses, amongst us, the necessary education or qualifications to fill offices or administer the affairs of the country. The administration of the general goveenment by Jeffer-son, and of this Commonwealth, by Simon Snyder, put down these slanders, and our opponents, who had arrogated to thembselves all the education and and an opaced to memoscives an the education and all the talents of the country, were fain to abandon their name and to profess to abandon their princi-ples. They have even essayed to give to their own party the once despised appellative of "demo-certic"

The progress of the democracy has been up ward and onward. Planting itself upon the im-mutable and inalienable rights of man-on the broad platforms of the declaration of independence and the constitution of our country, it has main tained its principles through good and through evil tained its principles through good and through evil report. If it has occasionally met with reverses, they have been few and far between, and are in no wise attributable to any fundamental error in the principles of the party. If our adversaries have occasionally had temporary success, a single term has been their duration in office, and the people, at the fort constitutional opportunity have restord We assemble at 11th day of June, 1851, and appointment, on the 11th day of June, 1851, and upon that and the ensuing day, performed the duty assigned to us, by nominating as the Democratic candidates for Judges of the Supreme Court, the the first constitutional opportunity, have restored power and authority to the democratic party, which is on never lose permanently, so long as it upholds principles, which accomplish the greatest good or the greatest number. Our party has heretofore given to the Supreme Court, both of the Union and of this, State, com-plete benches of as able Judges as have ever graced hose stations, and in the candidates now presented o you for your support as Judges of the Suprem ourt of Pennsylvania, we have not reduced the standard. The following are very brief notices of the individuals so selected. JEREMIAH S. BLACK, was born on the 10th lay of January, 1810, in Somerset County, Penn-sylvania. He is the son of the Hon. Henry Black, a highly intelligent and respectable citizen of that county, who was for many years one of its asso-ciate judges, and who died in 1841, whilst reprenting that congressional district in the House of Representatives of the United States. He pass rough an excellent academic instruction, and efore commencing the study of the law was pro ounced, by those competent to judge, to have ace than ordinary attainments in classical iterature and scientific studies. At an early age, he gave promise of those talents which have since so distinguished him. In his eighteenth year he com-menced the study of the law under Chauncey Forward, Esq., of Somerset, and was admitted to the bar in 1830. At the time of his admission the leading members of that har were Messrs. Forward, Moses Hampton, Charles Ogle, Joshua F. Cox, and Joseph Williams, (now Chief Justice of Iowa.)-Mr. BLACK had not completed his majority when he was admitted and had to enter into etition with these gentlemen, all of acknowledged ability mediately acquired a large practise, which he re-tained in Somerset and the adjoining counties, until he quit the bar for the bench. In 1841, he was appointed by Governor Porter, President Judge of the 16th Judicial District. composed of the counties of Franklin, Bedford and Somerset, which situation

e has filled from that time to this; the district being at one time, enlarged by the addition of Blair, and at another, by that of Fulton County. At the bar he was distinguished for sound, clear and logical views in his legal arguments, united to a bold and commanding eloquence which rendered him a powerful and successful advocate.

estion should be, what is use have a set of the second state of th in charges he clears up all its difficulties and puts it to the Jury in such a lucid point of view as enables them to understand the precise point in issue thus relieving the case of all extraneous matter. Few men possess a stronger grasp of intellec and none can express themselves with more clear ess upon any subject that comes before him. rich scholar in general literature—a sound and in-dustrious lawyer and judge, with nearly ten years experience on the bench—with a methodical and trong mind quick percention. tors. Wherever a party would, in other States or countries, be entitled to redress at law or in equity, he can obtain it here under our combined system. He cannot do otherwise than fill with credit to him-lumbia, which he filled with credit and reputation we have gentlemen of the most unexceptionable for upwards of twelve years. In the year 1845, he was appointed President Judge of the 11d Judi-cial District composed of the county of Lancaster, which situation he has filled up to the present time So prompt and energetic has he been in the dis charge of the duties of his office, in that large and populous county, that since his appointment the Legislature have dispensed with the Mayor's Court of the city, and District Court of the county, and devolved the whole duties of the three Courts upon him and his associates, and he has performed them promptly and satisfactorily. Judge Lewis has delivered many learned legal pinions on several very important questions whic have been given to the public. They evince him a ripe scholar and a sound jurist. From this short notice it will be seen that he is a self made man.-He has been a hard student all his life, and ha schieved a noble triumph over the obstacles that beset his path in its outset. For he is not only sound lawyer but a gentleman of high attainment in other branches of science. The Philadelphia College of Medicine conferred upon him the Honorary Degree of M. D. and Transylvania Univer sity that of L. L. D., for those attainments. With eighteen years judicial experience, he cannot fail o give satisfaction in the new situation for which

be has been nominated. JOHN BANNISTER GIBSON, the present learned and able Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, was born in Sherman's Valley, in then Cumberland, now Perry county, Penn aylvania. He is the son of a worthy and distin-guished revolutionary officer, who served from the beginning to the end of that trying struggle, and was subsequently killed in St. Clair's defeat. Hav ing gone through the usual course of academic studies, he entered Dickinson College at Carlisle, and graduated at that institution. He studied law with the late Thomas Duncan of Carlisle who was afterwards one of his associates on the Supreme Bench. On his admission to the bar, Judge GIBSON removed to Butler, Pa., where he practised law for about two years, and then returned to Carlisle;was elected by the Democrats of Cumberland coun ty to the State Legislature for two successive years, and whilst there took an active part in preventing the re-charter of the first bank of the United States, and in supporting the war against England, by the advocacy of resolutions by the State Legislature on those subjects. In order to aid the general Government in obtaining funds, he was greatly instrumental in repealing the prohibition in our State Bank charters from loaning more than $50,000 to the General Government. He was appointed by Governor Snyder President of the XIth Judicial District, composed of the counties of Bradford, Ti oga, Wayne and Susquehanna; and after filling that situation for some time, during which the district was partially changed so as to include Luzerne, he was in 1816, appointed by the same Governor a Judge of the Supreme Court in the place of Hugh Henry Brackenridge, deceased. On the 18th of May, 1827, he was appointed by Governor Shultz, Chief Justice of Pennsylvania, on the decease of the late C. J. Tilghman. His opin ons as Associate Justice and Chief Justice will be found in all our volumes of reports, from 2nd Ser-geant and Rawle down to the present time. They bear the impress of his giant intellect and of the sound knowledge of legal principles which he pos-sesses. It has been well said of him that his mind is a perfect stream of light. His nomination on the present occasion is peculiarily proper, as he will be the connecting link between the present Court and that which is to succeed it, and he will bring to his associates on the new bench, the light which thirty five years experience must necessarily shed, and which the great purity and integrity of shed, and which the great purity and integrity of his character cannot fail to impart, There'is no greater mind upon any existing bench, than that possessed by this distinguished ju-rtst, whose judicial reputation is not confined to Pennsylvania or the Union. For his high attain-ments as a Civilian, he has been created L. L. D. by both the University of Pennsylvania, and Har-

by both the Universites of Pennsylvania and Harvard. WALTER H. LOWRIE was born in Armstrong county, Pennsylvania. He is the son of Matthew B. Lowrie, formerly Mayor of Pittsburg, and comes of that honest, upright and intelligent stock of peo ple who emigrated from the province of Ulster, and have done so much for the cause of education, und morals and nonular rights in this Western character and qualifications, and in every respect entitled to your confidence and support. Col. WILLIAM BIGLER, of Clearfield, our candidate for Governor, is a gentleman of talents, experience aud of great private worth. Emphatically a self made man, he is of the people and belongs to the peo ple, and nobly will they sustain their favorite, and place the Keystone State under the goverrance of an executive, who, whilst he will regard the rights of the State, will remember and let the world know, that Pennsylvania cherishes the Union of the States. and will evince her attachment to that Union by her acts as well as by her professions. General SETH CLOVER, of Clarion, has been ery properly selected for the office of Canal Com Able, energetic and efficient-in the f prime of life, and having had much practical expe-rience, he will discharge all the duties of that station with honor to himself and with eminent advantage to the public. He will watch over and guard the great public interests involved in our internal improvements with vigilance and fidelity, and lend his aid in making them instrumental in ischarging the debt incurred in their construction. We urge you, therefore, to come forth to the polls. Let no man absent himself. Let every Democrat vote the whole Democratic ticket without alteration or change, and a glorious friumph awaits us. We charge you, in conclusion, to re member that the Democracy of Pennsylvania and of the Union expect every man belonging to them, to do his duty upon the present occasion, in sus-taining the party and its nominees.

deny his suit, turn him out and bid him enter another, to seek the relief to which he is entitled.---Our temple of justice has but one door of entrance. and our system is simple and harmonious in its action when properly understood and intelligentl carried into execution. It is challenging and will continue to challenge, the admiration of other Governments, who are beginning to adopt it, and we hould be careful how we mar its symmetry, entail upon our posterity the evils, delay, expense and arbitrary power of a separate equity administra-tion, and fall back upon that, which the wisdom of experience is abandoning elsewhere. It follows, that in Pennsylvania a man to be good lawyer or a good judge, must be familiar as well with the rules and principles of law as of those of equity. We looked for these qualifica-tions in the candidates before us, and believe we have essentially obtained them, in the gentleme selected.

In the nominations made, we were singularly unanimous. The selections of all the candidates were made on the first ballot., Many excellent lawyers and judges were named before us, and we believe that all of those who did not receive a major ity of the votes of the Convention, were gentlemen possessing high legal and moral qualifications. Of the number, however, five only could be selected.-It is impossible in such a Convention, that each delegate can obtain the nomination of all the can didates he desires. There must be mutual consul tation and concession, and there necessarily will be individual disappointments. The selection of the majority will control the wishes of the separate members of the nominating body. The choice thus made, governs, and the minority submits and concurs in the nomination. This is the true Democratic principle, and withot carrying it out, there would be no such thing as a preliminary nominal tion, which is always necessary to ascertain the sense of the party, and, when that is ascertained, should govern and control all who belong to that party. Should any other course be pursued, we should, as a party, come to the polls with divided and distracted forces, and fall an easy prey to the ombined and concentrated action of our opponent They always act in concert and endeavor to carry out the policy of dividing their opponents, that they may conquer. Our only safety is in the com-bined action of all the members of our party. In a Democratic Government the will of the majority, fairly and legitimately expressed must always govern. In the Democratic party, the same st be observed or onr principles cannot be carried out. We emphatically, as a party, go for "principles-not men." We use men, for candidates, as the exponents of our principles, and, when they are fairly selected according to the usages or expressed will of the party, they are entitled to the support and confidence of the whole The riends of every gentleman have a right to bring his name as a candidate, before a nominating Convention, and to urge every fair argument in their power to place him in nomination. By the very act of presenting his name to the Convention, the virtually pledge him and his friends to the support of the nomination which shall be made, and the person suffering his name to be used, binds himself, n henor, to a like support.

It is the duty of the party to enforce this rule. for if nominations can be sustained or opposed, just as a particular candidate can be successful in pro-curing a nomination or not, they had as well be abandoned. Every Democrat should keep coned. Every Democrat should keep constantly in mind the doctrine that "every man owes more to his party, than the party owes to any man." Each individual, with generous devotion to the great cause of the people, should sacrifice private griefs and personal disappointments on the of patriotism. By these means alone, can Be secured that ascendency of the Democratic party, which is essential to the maintenance of the true principles of our government, the peace, good order and prosperity of our common country, and the transmission to posterity of "those sacred rights to which ourselves were born."

The progress of the democracy is one of the w steadily the cause of truth must ever dvance. The principles of the Democratic party were sneered at, as levelling and grovelling, and denounced as jacobinical, in this republican country, which he has been nominated, and which he wil grace, as well by his qualifications as by his simple naffected and urbane manners. JAMES CAMPBELL, was born in the year 818, in the District of Southwark, in the County of Philadelphia. His father emigrated from th north of Ireland in the year 1798, at the age of 19 years, settled in Southwark, and there resided up to the time of his decease, a period of 46 years. His son, the subject of this notice, was carefully edu-cated in the ordinary branches of English and lassical literature, his instruction in the latter be ng received at the hands of the Rev. Francis indman, a gentleman who stood high as a clas sical instructor.

At the age of eighteen, he entered the office of Edward D. Ingraham, Esq., of Philadelphia, as a student at law, and was admitted to the bar in Philadelphia, in the year 1834. He commenced the practice of the law in Philadelphia immeditely upon his admission, and notwithstanding the well known ability of that bar, the competition among its members, and the difficulty of a young advocate succeeding without family of a young advocate succeeding without family influence or adventitious aid, he obtained a very respectable practice, with which he continued to be engaged ntil his translation to the bench. Dur period of time he was President of the Board of Commissionors of Southwark, and represented the District in the Boards of Directors and Controllers of the Public Schools.

On the 3d April, 1842, at the age of 29 years e was appointed by Governor Porter one of the Law Judges of the Court of Common Pleas of Philadelphia county. For this office he received the unanimous recommendation of all the Democratic Senators and members from the county of Philadelphia, and was unanimously confirmed by the Senate. He has continued to fill this responsible office up to the present time. Naturally modest and unobtrusive, although possessed of excellent talents and extensive legal attainments, he has not ought opportunities to exhibit himself before the public. He has performed his duties with exemplary fidelity, and his legal opinions have been marked for their accuracy, perspicuity and system. The business with which he has been occupied since his elevation to the bench has been princi pally of a criminal character, the Equity and Qr. phan's Court business of that Court having been enerally assumed and performed by his colleagues so that he has not had the same opportunities display, had he been disposed to make it, which vere enjoyed by the others. In all the relations of life, Judge CAMPBELL has sustained an unblemished reputation. Pure, well educated, honest and inflexible; combining with hese, gentlemanly deportment and manners, h ses a large fund of that useful virtue common 05565 nse; has a strong mind and sound judgment He has a large circle of warm and devoted friends, who have known him from his youth, rejoiced in his elevation by his energy of character, to the position which he holds, a d cherish him for his in sition which he holds, and cherisa him for his in-tegrity, talents and social virtues. ELLIS LEWIS is now 53 years of age. He was born at Lewisbury, York county, Pennsylva-nia. He was the son of Mr. Eli Lewis, of that place, whose ancestors were Welsh Quakers, who emigrated with William Penn. Being bereft of both his parents at the early age of nine years, and having little patrimonial estate, he was while yet still young, placed in a printing office at Harris burg, and there learned the trade of a practical printer. Having gone through the years of his probation there, he went to New York and worked in that city as a journeyman printer. He subse-quently purchased a printing office in Lycoming county, and edited a newspaper for some time, at Williamsport, in that county. During this occu-pation, about the year 1820, he commenced the study of the law-was admitted to the bar in 1822, practiced law and prosecuted the pleas of the Com-monwealth for some years, in Lycoming and Tigg counties, and finally removed to Bradford county. In 1832 he was elected to the House of Represent-tives of Representation have been as the source of the s atives of Pennsylvania, where he occupied a very prominent position during the years 1832 and 1833. In the latter year he was appointed by Governor Wolf, Attorney, General of Pensylvania, which office he resigned in the fall of the same year, on tending to his growing practice, he continued to perform with great credit, until the University ouildings were destroyed in the great conflagration of 1845. His selection for such a situation from a ar as numerous and talented as that of Pittsburgh by the learned gentlemen who had charge of the institution, was no slight tribute to the talents and worth of one who was then comparatively young in years. Public opinion fully ratified the choice, as it did the appointment in 1846 from Governor Shunk, of Assistant Judge of the District Court for the county of Allsistant Judge of the District Court for the county of Allseheny, which had become vacant by the promotion of Hon. Hopewell Hepburn to the Presidency of that Court, in place of Judge Grier appointed to the Supreme Court of the United States.
