"His able and patriotic management of public affairs will constitute one of the brightest leaves in the administrative history of the nation. The shir of State was nearing, if she was not already among the breakers; the storm cloud, collected by the fel spirit of fanaticism and sectionalism, hung darkly and portentously over the destinies of the country, when, by an extraordinary visitation of Providen e was called to pilot her."

This is remarkable! It is a truthful acknowl edgement which few whig journals have had the courage to make, and which no democratic journal cours make without calling down the censure of the opponent party. Gen. TAYLOR, it as much as says, had charge of the ship of State, and had run her among "THE BREAKERS." "By an extraordinary visitation of Providence" Gen. TAYLOR was relieved of the helm, and Mr. FILLMORE "was called to pilot her," and just in time to save her from being wrecked! This is a literal rendering of the sentence, and undoubtedly the genuine meaning of it. It is true, too! The administration of Gen. TAY-

LOB was not only a failure, but it was the most nischievous and weak one since the organization of the Government. What it would have become had Providence not come to the relief of the nation to save it from the mischies into which the whig party had involved it, we can only conjecture; but that this "extraordinary visitation of Providence," overruling the counsels of the whigs, resulted in saving the nation from grave dangers, and, probably anarchy, we are not permitted to doubt.

Twice have these "extraordinary visitations of Providence" been exercised to save the country from the evils projected by whig triumphs; yet the party, thus severely rebuked, stiff-necked, self willed, and short-sighted, are again intent upon the very course which has so signally been met by the displeasure of Omnipotence. It seems to be one of the provisions of Providence that they shall not learn wisdom from experience.-Inquirer.

CROPS .- The Memphis (Tenn.) Enquirer, of the 19th ult. says:

"The reports as to the Cotton crop continue he more and more distressing. We saw a gentle-man yesterday from. De Soto county, Mississippi, who had 229 acres of Cotton, from which he does not anticipate realizing thirty bales. The Corn crop is for the most part hopelessly ruined."

The Louisville Courier, of the 16th ult., says: "Our telegraphic dispatches from Clarksville and Nashville speak of the great drought prevailing near those places, and which threatens great de-struction to the Corn, Tobacco and other crops— We hear complaints of the drought from nearly every portion of Kentucky."

The Nashville Banner, of the 14th ult., says: "The long season of dry weather has been very injurious to the Corn crop in this county, which will be unusually short. The Cotton crop is in a good condition and promises an abundant yield.—
We learn that in Cannon, and portions of Wilson and Rutherford, there have been fine rains recently and that the Corn crop will be heavy. In Giles both the Corn and Cotton crops are represented as being promising."
The Crops in West Jersey.—The Woodbury Constitution says that in Atlantic and Cape May counties the people are everywhere complaining of a very severe drought. Up a little distance from the shore the corn and potatoes were suffering for want of rain, none having fallen, except a light sprinkle, since the first week in June. The roads are unusually heavy, hot and dusty. Immediately on the shore the moist salt air has preserved the crops, and the corn and potatoes generally look well. A suc cession of showers tell during Saturday night, which probably reached all the parched region, and re ored life life to suffering vegetation

MURDER IN MICHIGAN .- The Detroit Tribune of July 25th, contains the following:

A diabolical, murder was committed in Muske gon, some three months since, but not discovered until last month. The discovery was made by a man out hunting, who came across a spot of ground in the woods, which had recently been dug and supposing something of value migh be buried there, came home and took another person with him, and dug down three feet when they came to the corpse of a man. He was taken up and carried to Muskegon, where an inquest was held on the remains, which developed the fact who he was, and threw suspicion on his brother-in-law of being the murr. The name of the murdered man is J. Burke. The suspected murdered is John Cary. Both are rishmen. Mr. Burke was but recently from the old country, and was in the possession of some $500 or $600, which his brother-in-law coveted. derer.

THOS. J. WENTZ & CO. Circumstances were developed in the examination

Some three or four weeks after the man was killed, Cary wrote home to the father of Burke, counterfeiting Burke's hand writing, and soliciting some forty pounds in money, to assist him in ma-king a purchase of some land in the northern part of this State. To which a reply was received from the father of Burke (and his wife of course) who appears to be pretty well off, that he had ordered thh transmission of a check for 100 pounds, as he would need the money for making improvements on his new tarm. This letter was intercepted; and the fact of other deception and lies on the part of Cary, go a great ways in fixing his guilt. He is now confined at the Jail in Grand Haven, Michigan, and will be tried next month; for the crime of murder. His wife, it appears, has left there. Every-body seems to think that she must have been accessary-before or after the fact. The old man in Ireland has been written to, and will probably be present in person or by agent.

The Democratic Convention of Dauphir County, nominated the three Whig Judges of that county for election. This is singular, very. Will the organ of Gen. Cameron, in this county, who seems to have such an exalted opinion of the Dauphin wire-workers, let us into the secret of this strange movement? We apprehend there is more under this thing than meets the eye. The rest of the ticket is composed of "good men and true," and it is a subject of wonder that three more good Democrats could not be found in the county who were worthy or capable of filling the Judicial offices.

THE attention of the public is invited to this improvement in CORN SHELLERS, which is acknowledged to be far superior to any other—being on an entirely new principle; shelling the corn ngthwise of the ear, the cob passing straight lengthwise of the ear, the cob passing straight through without revolving, thereby requiring no gearing to increase its speed, which adds so materially to the cost of other machines. It turns easier and shells cleaner than any other, and is portable in size, and durable in construction. Persons interested are invited to call and see it in Sacred Scenes and Characters.—By the Rev. J. T.

Headley. This work may very properly be considered a companion to the "Sacred Mountains," by the same author. It is to illustrate and the same author. It is to findstrate and wheater more life-like" the sacred writings. It is not the author's design to supersede the Bible. But his wish is to excite a solicitude to obtain, and to become intimately acquainted and perfectly familiar with its history dortines and laws; to know its truth, to imbibe its spirit, feel its power, and partake of its to imbibe its spirit, feel its power, and partake of its salvation; in a word, to prize in some measure as it deserves, this it casure which is indeed beyond price. We predict for it a circulation far beyond any of the author's former works.—The News, Jan. 7th, Sacred Scenes and Characters.—By the Rev. J. T. Headley, author of the "Sacred Mountains," &c. This work will add greatly to the reputation of the author. In literary merit it more than equals his "Sacred Mountains." Mr. Headley excels in his glowing style and vivid descriptions. His works are a rich treasury of all the sublimity of thought, moving tenderness of passion, and vigorous strength moving tenderness of passion, and vigorous strength of expression, which are to be found in all the languages by which mortals declare their minds.—See Daily Globe, Jan. 5th.

Rambles and Sketches.—By Rev. J. T. Headley.

Rambles and Sketches.—By Rev. J. T. Headley. We have not for a long time sat down to a book with more pleasing anticipations, or found those anticipations more fully realized, than in the perusal of the work before us, and we know it will be hailed with gratification by the many admirers of the talented author. His "Napoleon and his Marshals" was, perhaps, as popular, and found at least as many enthusiastic readers as any book that can be mentioned. We think the Rambles and Sketches are destined to be as popular at least as any of his previously published works. There is not a dull chapter in the work, filled as it is with "an infinite variety." The author has ample room and verge enough for the employment of his fine talents to great advantage and most successfully has he regreat advantage and most sucsessfully has he re-complished the task. The biographical sketch of the author is interesting and "well considered," and adds much to the value of the book, which is got up in a very neat and attractive style by the publisher.—See Portland Transcript, Dec. 15th. Mr. Headley is one of the most promising wri Mr. Heading is one of the most promong in ters of this country, and we have here on of his best books—one on which he can safely rest his fame. It possesses the fatiguing charms of perfect simplicity and truth. There is a graceful frankness pervading the composition, which engages the in-terest of the reader in the author as well as in the subject. His rambles about Rome, Paris, and London exhibit a thousand lively traits of an ingenuous nature, upon which a man of taste will de-light to linger. We predict for this a sale equal to light to linger. We predict for this a sale of that of any of the author's works.—See No

The collection is one of which no author need be ashamed. It consists, indeed, of some of Mr. Headley's most brilliant and highly flashed compositions, of those specimens of his abilities by which he may be judged with the greatest safety to his fame as a word painter and thinker .- See New York Tribune. Dec. 17, 1949.

State Mutual Fire Insurance Co., THIS company having been doing business for nearly one year and a half, have the satisfaction to state, that they have accumulated an earned nearly one year an ladi, mark the state that they have accumulated an earned capital of over $125,000 above all losses and expenses, besides a large surplus to be disposed of in the shape of a dividend. The Directors confine themselves to the safest kind of property, dividing their risks into two separate classes, there being no connection of the one class with that of the other, except that the business of each is under the supervision of one Board of Directors, thus giving the public the advantage of two companies with the expense of one office. The success of this Institution has far surpassed the most sanguine expectations of its friends.

The rates of premium are established with a view to avoid the odious and expensive mode of assessing, thereby enabling the Directors, by keeping a close watch of expenses, to make large dividends to each insured.
