A Convention to settle a Temperance Ticket for the County, is to be held in this city on the Disorganization Progressing. Mr. Amwake, who assumes to be Chairman of County Committee that became functus officio (if it really ever had an existence,) after the deision of the Reading Convention, and had funeral ervices performed over it by the Judicial Convention which met the following week, at Harrisburg. has issued a call for delegate elections and a County Convention—the former to be held on the 6th of September, and the latter to meet on the 10th of the same month; at the public house of William J. Steele, in this city. The principal object avowed in the call, is, "to appoint six delegates to the 4th of March State Convention"—we quote the words of the call. Now all this is done with a full sent on a mission to China-but, under the hope that, by pursuing such a course, they can manage to keep up a sort of fight in the party at home, and also produce discord and, if possible, a division in the State Convention, when it meets at Harrisburg. This latter course appears to be the one marked out by Gen. Cameron-and his obsequious followers here are disposed to follow his directions to the very letter. To this end, therefore, all the energies of all the corrupt politicians and disorganizers in the State will be directed, and if they can manage to get twenty or thirty delegates to Harrisburg, with or without legal authority, they will attempt to browbeat and dragoon the Convention -failing in which they may essay a separate State organization, in the vain hope of producing discord in the ensuing National Convention. That this is the course of policy these disorganizers, in this county and the State, intend to pursue, we firmly pelieve; and we now warn the true-hearted and reliable Democracy of Pennsylvania that there is danger ahead, which can only be averted by proper watchfulness and activity on their part. When treason stalks abroad, every Democrat should do his duty faithfully and fearlessly.

If a spirit of mischief and disorganization was not at the bottom of Mr. Amwake's movement why should he now persevere in thrusting an element of discord into the present canvass for State officers ?idential question at this time? for that is what Mr. | standing. Amwake and those behind the screen are driving at. Why not wait until after the October election, when they will have an opportunity, if they choose to embrace it, of testing their strength on the question of the Presidency? The County Committee will, at the proper time, issue a call for a County Convention, and will then invite all the Democrats of the County to participate in the delegate elections. These gentlemen, who appear so anxious on the subject now, can then attend (provided they do not place themselves out of the pale of the party by opposing the State ticket this fall,) and vote for whom they please to represent them in the County Convention. If the friends of Mr. Buchanan are found in the minority, (which the disorganizers themselves do not believe, altho' they are wont to make the allegation for effect abroad,) they will submit without a murmur-but if the reverse should prove true, the other side will also be expected to bow in submission to the will of the majority fairly and honestly expressed. This, of course, the disorganizers will not agree to -hence their purpose now to get up a packed convention, for the purpose of sending delegates of their own stripe to the Harrisburg Convention, to carry out the purposes above hinted at. The true and genuine Democracy of the county will have neither lot nor part in such a disorganizing movement, but will treat with the contempt it merits the call issued by Mr. Jacob B. Amwake and his defunct County Committee.

We charged upon the disorganizers last week hat most of them intended to cut the Democratic ticket at the ensuing election. We did so from their own declarations, and also from their general course of conduct ever since the Reading Convention. Well, how have they met the charge? They do not pretend to deny the allegation-on the contrary, by the total silence on the subject of their organ they virtually admit the truth of all we said. But, not only are they dumb in reference to the charge-but their paper purposely refrains from saying any thing in favor of either of the candidates nominated by the Democratic State Conventions. The readers of the Lancasterian will look in vain of Messrs. Bigler Clover, Black, Lewis, Campbell, Gibson or Lowrie -and did their names not appear at the head of the paper, its readers might search till they were blind for the least intimation of its political affinities, unless praise of the Whig nominees, just after the Lancaster Convention, would be a certain indication of its whereabouts in the present campaign. Instead of throwing their influence in support of the regularly nominated candidates of the party to which they profess to belong, these men are, day in and day out, in close intimacy with the Whigs, and are doing all in their power to distract and divide the Democratic party, so as to, if possible, swell the Whig majority in the county to an unusual extent. Some of the ring-leaders in this work of disorganization have been repeatedly heard to predict a Whig majority of six or seven thousand, whilst others have been known to tell the Whigs that if they form a good ticket they (the disorganizers,) will support it. We could mention names, dates and places, if it were necessary. And yet these are the men who have the brazen effrontery to call themselves par excellence Democrats, and assume to lead the six thousand honest Democrats of Lancaster county! These are the individuals who have the unblushing hardihood to urge the " stop thief" cry and charge the true Democracy of the county with a derilection of duty in support of the ticket!-Was there ever more consummate hypocrisy and mpudence combined? The Lancasterian asserts, what it knows to be false, that the regular Democratic County Com mittee, of which Newton Lightner, Esq., is Chair man, was "not even chosen in accordance" with the resolution of the County Convention of the 5th of March last, and consequently that it is not the County Committee. It is a wilful and deliberate falsehood, because the writer for that paper knows that a resolution was adopted at the County Convention directing the officers of the body to prepare a list of the new County Committee for publication from the names furnished by the delegates in obe dience to the request of the County Committee of last year. This was accordingly done, the names were furnished by the delegates, and the new County Committee for the year was regularly and authoritatively announced in the "Intelligencer" on the 22d of April-the officers of the Convention having met, by appointment, a few days previously for the purpose of preparing the list as directed in the resolution of the body over which they had presided. So much for the veracity of the Lancasterian.

I Johnston and Stevens make it a point to abuse Mr. Buchanan wherever they go and in every speech they make. There are certain professing Democrats in this county who closely "follow in their footsteps." What strange combinations are sometimes formed by unprincipled politicians !

MORE ABOLITIONISM.-The Whigs had a meeting at the "Green Tree," in Bart township, on Saturday last, at which Mr. STEVENS attended and made a flaming Abolition speech. Stevens is the warm friend of Governor Jourston, and no doubt speaks the sentiments of that functionary.

IF A small log house, in the neighborhood of Ford's Furnace, in the extreme southern part of the City, occupied by colored people, was destroyed by fire on Saturday night last. We have not learned how the fire originated.

Judge Lewis and his Traducers. Some of the more reckless and unscrupulous of the Whig papers are re-publishing an advertisement that appeared in the Lancaster Journal, thirtyfive years ago, offering a reward for the apprehension of the present Judge Lawis, who was then an apprentice to John Wyeth, Printer in Harrisburg, but who had left his master, at the advice of his friends and relatives, in consequence of bad treatment. Judge, and shows to what a miserable shift the Whig press is put to find something upon which they can found an objection to his election. The indiscretions of his boyhood, even if they can be that Convention, than they would have of being are to be ransacked, and nothing that he has ever done, even in his juvenile days, is to be kept concealed from the light of day! Well, be it so .-Judge Lewis seeks no concealments of his past life. He is perfectly willing that these political scavengers shall scrape up every thing they can find, and publish it broadcast among the people.-

They may go back, if their morbid appetite for scandal invites them on, even beyond the period of his apprenticeship to the time when, a little boy, with satchel in band, he attended the village school in his native county of York-and they may then frace his history, through all the mutations of for. tune that have attended him, to his present exalted osition as a candidate for the Supreme Bench, and whatever of wrong they can find during that time they are at perfect liberty to publish to the gaze of the world. As it regards the charge above alluded to, all we have to say is, that a certain Benjamin Franklin was also a runaway apprentice from the printing business, on account of bad treatment-and, if his tory tells the truth, he afterwards rose to such eminence in the world that he was pronounced one of the greatest philosophers of his age. So also, we predict, will it be with the runaway apprentice that is now so obnoxious to the Whig press. He already stands at the head of his profession as a Jurist, and the people of Pennsylvania intend to confer upon him the highest judicial distinction in Why embarrass the election of Governor, Canal the Commonwealth-the sneers and the calumnies Commissioner and Supreme Judges, with the Pres- of the Whig newspapers to the contrary, notwith

> Whig Consistency! It has been truly remarked by a contemporary that the Whig party is consistent in nothing save its inconsistency. This is somewhat paradoxical. but it is nevertheless true. Fearful of the effect that the "aid and comfort" furnished the Mexicans by their candidate for Canal Commissioner, when a member of Congress, might have upon the patriotic citizens of Pennsylvania, they roundly assert that the present "is not a contest between John Strohm and Seth Clover!" Well, this to a very great extent is true; but mark the consistency of the fellows. In the next breath, they lug the name of General Scott into the canvass-point to the laurels he gained in this same Mexican war-and tell their party friends that if they vote against Strohm they virtually vote against Scott! Now, if this be "a contest between John Strohm and Seth Clover," as the Whig papers assert, we should like to know what Gen. Scott and the laurels he gained in a war which John Strohm and the Whigs generally denounced as "unconstitutional and unjust," have to do with it. We believe the Presidential election does not take place until 1852, and it is nof yet certain that Gen. Scott will be the Whig candidate. Verily, the Whig party is a consistently inconsistent party, and nothing else!

Galphinism Admitted!

As the Mexican War was conceived in fraud, othing but fraud can be expected to grow out of.

The millions which it is known to have cost, ill he found to be the initial of the cost. ii. The millions which it is known to have cost, will be found to be the initiative of a series of claims, real and trumped up, which will be pressed upon the government for the next twenty years.—

Examiner & Herald.

There could not be a doubt of the truth of the above prediction, that the millions which the Galphins have already drawn from the public treasury, "will be found to be but the initiative of a series of claims, real and trumped up, which will be pressed upon the government for the next twenty years,"--that is, provided the Whigs so long have control of the administration. But as that is entirely out of Democratic administration, which will come into power on the 4th of March, 1853, will bring back the government to its original purity, and throw a d around the publi neculations of the Galphins. But what will the patriotic of all parties say to the charge so deliberately made by the Examiner, that "the Mexican War was conceived in fraud?" What will the brave Volunteers of Pennsylvania, who, so enthusiastically rallied to the standard of their country, say to this infamous libel upon their government? Will they respond to it, by giving their suffrages to the favorite candidate of the Whigs in this county, JOHN STROHM, who refused, when in Congress, to vote supplies to our suffering soldiery then gallantly fighting their country's battles in Mexico? We think not-on the contrary, we believe, that there are hundreds of patriotic Whigs, even in Lancaster county, who will affix their seal of disapprobation to such base and treacherous conduct by voting for his Democratic competitor, Gen. SETH CLOVER, of Clarion

IF A communication in the last Union & Tri une strongly recommends our portly friend, ALEX-ANDER HAMILTON Hood, Esq., as a candidate for resident Judge of this district, in place of Judge Lewis whom the Democrats intend to elevate to a seat on the Supreme Bench. Mr. H. is undoubtedly one of the great men of the age, and it must be a source of lively gratification to his 'numerous friends' in Strasburg to find that the brilliant effulgence that emanates from this "living magazine of history," is no longer to be hid under a bushel, and a knowledge of which confined to that particular locality. The corruscations of his genius are to shoot forth in every direction, and will shed new light upon the dark and perplexing intricacies of the law .-Not content with taking that old dolt, BLACKSTONE for his guide, the writer assures the public that he will pry into the fundamentals of the law and "explore the sources from whence it originated."-Shades of Mansfield, and Hale, and Marshall, and Story, and Tilghman, preserve us! Hide your diminished heads, ye Taneys and Gibsons and Coulters and Bells! Here is an intellectual and legal giant-a "profound thinker," a "good logician," a "skilful debater," a "clear and forcible writer," a "living magazine of history"-in short a perfect prodigy of learning, a rara avis, containing in his own capacious cranium all the learning and knowledge of all the lawyers, doctors, preachers, historians, and literati of ancient and modern times! We are proud of the fact that such a towering genius exists in our midst, and are sincerely glad that the seat at present occupied by such a pigmy in the law as his honor, Judge Lewis, is to be so admirably filled with a superabundance of WEIGHT, such as has rarely, if ever, been seen upon the Bench!-What a pity that so much legal acumen and profound erudition should have so long been permitted to remain in obscurity, and "waste its sweetness on the desert air." But such, alas! is too often the fate of true genius-and the good citizens of Lancaster county are placed under lasting obligations to the correspondent of the Union & Tribune for the wonderful discovery he has made. What a pity he had not made this thing known before the stead of such a bushwhacker as Meredith or Coulter! when he said, "some men are born great, some achieve greatness, and some have greatness thrus-

upon them."

manner of crime against Judge Lawis. This base tissue of abominable slanders has since been copied into the Harrisburg Telegraph, and also into the National Whig, a scurrilous Whig organ of this City, and will no doubt be greedily seized upon by the baser sort of Whig papers all over the States This, to say the least of it, is a far-fetched and in the vain hope of defeating his election. The most contemptible objection to urge against the character of Judge Lewis is proof against such villainous assaults. Here, in Lancaster county where he has resided for a number of years, no man occupies a more exalted position, whether as a Jurist or an honest, upright citizen-and to show knowledge that the six gentlemen who may be called such, are to be raked up from the oblivion of the high estimation in which he is held in the very appointed, will have no more chance of getting into the past—the musty records of the last generation section of country where these outrageous falsehoods had their origin, and where he long resided prior to his coming to Lancaster, we copy the following articles from two of the leading Democratic papers in that region-the first one from the very town where the Judge resided, the editor of which paper has been intimately acquainted with him for more than twenty years.

JUDGE LEWIS .-- A scurrilous article appeared in the last Muncy Luminary, the production of some anonymous scribbler, charging Judge Lewis, one of the Democratic cardidates for the Supreme Bench, with all manner of offences. The author, who ever he may be, will effect nothing by his vile atck, as the most stupid reader will see at a glance that the whole thing is a mere Peg Beatty Slande originating in malevolence and personal spleen.— Any man's character may be assailed by a cowardly guerrilla from a chapparel ambush, and i ic will give heed to such attacks, every vile assassin may sheath his dagger in the breast of virtue, without detection or punishment. Judge Lewis is too well known both as a citizen and a jurist to be injured in this way, and we confidently predict that if the author of the base article above alluded to, will only unmask himself, the public will behold either some Sunday saint and every day sinner—some immmoral God-defying rascal, or one whom the Judge in his official capacity has been equired to sentence for stealing sheep .- Lycoming JUDGE LEWIS.—Somebody has written a very busive article against Judge Lewis for the Sanbu-y American, which has appeared in the Miltonian. ry American, which has appeared in the Militonian. We shall make no reply to it, for, to insinuate that Judge Lewis was connected with counterfeiters, and is unqualified by nature and education for the Supreme bench, requires no refutation. The writer preme bench, requires no refutation. says, the Judges should be beyond cavil or doubt, honest and capable. It is to create a doubt that this outrageous article of the Miltonian was written. But the writer has defeated his purpose by the grossness of his charges and insinuations. nication removes every doubt that the opposition are willing to resort to any means, how-ever despicable, to defeat the democratic candidates Supreme Bench - Sunbury Gazette.

Democratic National Convention.

A late letter from New York to the Cleveland Plaindealer, contains some information in reference to the next Democratic National Convention, which will be found interesting. The writer says: A committee of Democrats have been in this for some weeks, making arrangements for issuing the call of the Democratic National Conven tion. Baltimore has been fixed upon for the great National Gathering; although the members of committee from the North-west wished a more central point—Louisville or Cincinnati. Nathaniel H. Greer, of Iowa, appointed by the Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, F. Hallett, of Boston,) to fill the vacancy on the Committee from Iowa, occasioned by the death of Ex-Governor Clark, has now heard from nearly every member of the National Committee by the delegation of the several States, in the last altimore Convention; and it can be certainly baltimore Convention; and it can be certainly re-lied upon that the Convention is to be held at Bal-

The time has not been fixed on by the Commitfor June, and some for a later period.

A Modern Solomon for Judge.

It will be remembered, says the Columbia Star of the North, that as one of the Commissioners to sell the stock of the rotten Susquehanna county stock subscriptions to be paid in "current bank notes," while the act of incorporation required that the stock should be paid for in SPECIE. Dayton, the New Jersey financier, was convicted of perjury for swearing that the Morris county Bank had a certain amount of specie funds when it actually had only that sum in bank notes. But Judge Jessup would have been able to secure an acquittal for the question, it is fair to presume that the next Dayton by showing that notes are specie, for he even ventures to prove that potatoes may be specie, as only anxiety was that they should be hurried away." appears by the following extract from the Montrose

"We recollect talking some two months since, Utica Observer gives the following particulars of a fered by Judge Jessup. He informed us that when the Judge introduced the Resolution, it was objected incorporation. The Judge supported it in a speech, illustrating it in this wise. If a man owed him specie, and he was in want of potatoes for which he must pay specie, if he took the potatoes of his debtor, it was all the same and he could say with truth that the debt was cancelled. A spi legal reasoning we presume never heard of in our.
Supreme Court to this day, and the gentleman added, "according to that, I could not see why it would not do just as well to fill the vaults of the Bank with potatoes, and issue bills on them, and so

I voted against the resolution!" Wouldn't a man like that be an ornament to the Supreme Bench. What a pity it is that the legal juggler could not have Signor Blitz for a colleague on the ticket, for then we should be at least amused if not instructed by the legerdemain which should say "there, now you see specie is potatoes-there now you see potatoes are specie."-Pennsylvanian

The Golden Banner.

In the event of Pennsylvania winning the Flag proposed to be given by California, in case Col William Bigler has a larger majority, in proportion to the number of votes cast, than Col. John, the Democratic State Central Committee propose pre senting the same to the county which shall give the largest vote for our Gubernatorial candidate, in Proportion to the whole number of votes polled.— If we might be permitted to guess as to which will win the prize, we should take little Monroe county in preference to any other.

SINGULAR PRENOMENON .- A short time since Mr. Samuel Evans, of Atlantic county, New Jersey with a team of mules, was in the woods, and while hauling out a log preparatory to loading, from under a large tree, he was struck down with his four mules by an electric shock. He did not lose his conciousness, but he was wholly unable to move hand or foot, and his mules were in the same helpless condition. After remainining in this state for about fifteen minutes, vitality returned, first in the surface, but the clothes giving way it would fall fore finger and thumb on one hand, enabling him to rub them together. Fearing the mules might recover before he could get from among them, he worked his fingers, and by slow degrees regained the use of his hand, then his arm, &c., when, by great exertion, he dragged himself out of the reach of the mules' heels. The mules gradually recovered also, and he got them upon their feet. A bright red line marked his arms and down his chest and legs. He felt sore for some days after the occurrence. There was a cloudless sky at the time, then descended, and having fastened a rope around the teet of Thomas, he was hoisted to the surface and no indication of lightning or rain. The tree was completely shivered to splinters. His clothes were found to be entirely stripped from his body, his neck broken, his head very badly

The slanderers of Judge Lewis must forget that he was nominated to the Lancaster District. and his appointment almost unanimously confirmed by the Senate, (there being but three votes against him in that body, not one of which was from the northern section of the State,) long after the time when it is alleged he committed the offences charged meeting of the Whig State Convention-as we then against him. This of itself, if there was nothing should have had the counterpart of Blackstone, to else, is sufficient to nail the base falsehoods to the be a candidate for a seat on the Supreme Bench, in. counter, and stamp with infamy the vile slanderers who thus seek to injure the fair fame and character Verily, Shakspeare, was more than half right of an estimable citizen and upright Judge.

The Court of Quarter Sessions, for this county, is being held this week-Judge Lawis preGov. Wm. F. Johnston.

A foul, malignant and infamous article appeared This distinguished Whig is now in our section in the Millonian a week or two ago, charging all of the State, and from all that we can learn he is making rapid headway in the work of mis state ment. All his efforts are directed to the establishment of the positions, that he has ever been a mos vigilant and watchful guardian of the finances of the State; and that, when the Commonwealth became almost overwhelmed with debt, he came forward and proposed the creation of a sinking fund, which should eventually pay off both principal and interest.

It may be that Governor Johnston forgets hi connection with the celebrated " Tape Worm, called the Gettysburg Railroad, which, as som one about that time remarked, "commenced in the woods and ended nowhere." If so, it may be in teresting to him to be advised of the facts that he sustained this utterly seckless project, in every stage of its progress through the Legislature; that seven hundred thousand dollars have been expended upon it by the State; that it has been universally pronounced so totally useless as to lead to its entire bandonment; and that, consequently, every dollar of this has been lost to the Treasury; for which Wm. F. Johnston is as justly liable as any other individual. He may lorget, too, a certain other scheme of lunder, (and of which, by the way, he was the father,) which, had it been continued, would have led to another loss of about seven hundred thousand dollars! This was the Kittaning Feeder, that was commenced at the town where the gentleman re sides; and on which forty thousand dollars were expended that have been sunk to the State. What an insulting degree of arrogance and impudence do we therefore find exhibited in the speeches of this especial pattern of the Whig party; and how easy is it to show that he has aided, as far as was in his ower, as much as any man in Pennsylvania, to entail debt and consequent embarassment upon the State. In these two plunder schemes alone he has lost to the State more than seven hundred thousand dollars, and this is pretty strong evidence of a will to act upon a larger scale.

As it respects the Sinking Fund we are not dis posed to deny to him the merit of having sustained the project; but we utterly deny that he was the originator of it. He well knows who is the author or projector of that wise measure, and if he shall continue to characterize it as "my measure,"-which we are told, he almost universally does,-he may have his memory refreshed on that point before he leaves the western part of the State

It is said that, in some of his speeches, the Gov ernor has stated, unqualifiedly, that "there was no public debt created during the administration of Gov-Ritner!" If he has made such a remark at any other place, we think he will scarcely have enough assurance to make the declaration in Pittsburgh,great Convention of his friends on the 20th of August, when we shall give him our especial attention -Pittsburg Post.

THE CHOLERA AT THE CANARIES.—We sometime since mentioned the ravages of the cholera, in the Canary Islands. The British Consul gives a most distressing account of the ravages there. The population was about 10,000, but seized with panic on the 8th of May, when the disease first broke out flight soon reduced that to 4,000. "Fathers left dicial ticket elected by such a majority as will their children, and children their parents; all ties come. Of Bigler and Clover, it will require all of relationship were forgotten and nought but the the cyphering and mathematical propen safety of the moment was thought of. Toward 5 o'clock in theafternoon they halted for a moment, when the negro was heard suddenly to exclaim, "He has cut me, and I am killed." He immediately staggered from the spot some ten feet in the unmown grass, and fell to the ground. A surgeon was sent for, but it was nearly an hour and a half before he arrived; the negro was then taken up and carried into the house. On taking off his clothing a wound of the most fearful description was presentedfrightful gash, reaching nearly around his body ; the lower bowels protruded from the wound, and the spinal column was nearly severed. The scythe which Perkins had used during the day was found near the place where the negro fell, and it was covered with blood. The unfortunate young man lived nearly ten hours after the wound was inflicted, and retained possession of his senses. On being told by Dr. Preston that he had but a short time to live, and that if he had anything to say relative to the affair he had no time to lose, he stated that he received his injuries from Perkins, who inflicted them intentionally. Coroner Harris held an inquest this forenoon, which resulted in a verdict in accordance with the above facts. Perkins made no attempt to escape, and is now in custody. > DISTRESSING ACCIDENT .- At Chainville, Mont gomery county, on Saturday evening week, Thos. Clark was killed from the effects of carbonic acid gas in a well. Subsequent to the unfortunate man being overcome by the foul air, efforts were made to hoist the body by grappling irons, says the Nor ristown Herald, and several times they succeeded so far as to get it within ten or twelve feet of the downward, thumping and striking, and chilling the blood in the veins of the hundreds who had assem bled at the scene of disaster. Experiments were then resorted to to drive the foul air from the well, and shavings and straw were burned in a large bucket, which was lowered into it. A large cedar bush was then procured, which was worked up and down in it by means of a rope, and by this means the foul air was so far expelled that a lighted can dle would burn at the bottom of the well. Truth well spoken.

The following communication is from the pen of one of the most prominent and influential Democrats in south-western Pennsylvania. It embodies the true sentiments of the Democratic party, and hould be read and pondered upon by every wellwisher of the Republican cause, who is sincerely desirous for its success in the ensuing Presidential

Cass should be his favorite candidate for the Presidency, is not surprising, as he is a very eminent statesman, and every Democrat at this primary stage of the contest has an undoubted right to express his preference for the man of his choice with such zeal and energy as he may choose to employ; but that he should place himself in such an attitude of hostility to Mr. Buchanan, and by his severe denunciation of that distinguished and prominent candidate, assume a position which will utterly preclude him, as an honorable man, from supporting him in the event of his nomination, is, to our plain mode of judging, very extraordinary. If the denunciation of Mr. Buchanan, by the leading organ of the Cass party in this State, is to be understood as giving the friends of Gen. Cass such a position in advance, as to preclude them from a hearty and honorable support of Mr. Buchanan, should he prove to be the choice of the Baltimore Convention, and thus to operate as a threat, I can assure the Editor that the standard of Gen. Cass in this part of the State will have but few followers and such doctrine but few empires. Cass in this part of the State will have but fer followers, and such doctrine but few Any thing in the slightest degree tending to an alienation of the party, or that may prevent a cordial, hearty and united support of the man who may be chosen as our standard bearer by the Conver

The Judicial Ticket.

It is the absolute and imperative duty of every man who professes to be a Democrat, to vote the whole of the Democratic judicial ticket. There is no apology for backsliding or scratching a single name on it. According to the usages of the party, the ticket has been formed. There is no charge of fraud connected with its formation, and the party creed demands a hearty and unflinching resp from every republican. The Whig appeal, that the North has been abandoned, is insincere—it is heartless at bottom. There is no sympathy on their part towards Democrats which has a particle of He is, however, to be here at the assembling of the of reality in fact. Democrats, don't listen to this; it is from your old enemy, and beware. There is an attempt being made to injure the election of Judge Campbell. This is all wrong. As we have said before, we repeat now—that if there is any reason in the world, why one man on the ticket should have a warmer support than another, it is in favor of Judge Campbell, on the score of religious intolerance; because with the qualifications and correct political principles of the judge, no man can cavil or complain-no Democrat

How the Tariff Works!

American manufactories that are not overworked seem to be doing good business. The Newark Advertiser says the Bay State Mills have recently sold 100 cases, numbering nearly or quite 5000 shawls, for the Canada market, to a regular dealer there, who can afford to pay a duty of 12 per cent, and sell his goods alongside of British productions at a profit. The production of shawls from some of principal mills the current year will be as follows: James Roy & Co., nearly all long shawls of beautiful designs, 30,000; Bay State Mills, the great pioneer in this work, 385,000; Waterloo Co., 22, 000, Empire State Mills, 30,000; Peacedale Mills Duncan & Cunningham, and one or two smaller makers, say 25,000; making a total of 492,000, or nearly half a million, of the the medium and better class of goods produced in this country in a single Attacks on Judge Lewis.

The infamous falsehoods published against Judge Lewis in the Harrisburg Telegraph and its filthy coadjutor in this City, y'clept the National Whig are thus alluded to by an intelligent correspondent of the Pennsylvanian writing from Northumber land:

"As to the slanders against Judge Lewis, they amount to nothing when it is known through whom they originated. as to Judge Campbell, he will get the full vote of his party, notwithstanding the assertions of the Sunbury American to the contrary, as the oppo-sition of that press can have no weight with the

Communications,

Mn. Ediron:-I am happy to congratulate you upon the gratifying result of the Reading Convenion of the fourth of June—the pleasing selection of the truly great and gond Bigler, by that noble assembly of Democrats, for Gubernatorial nominee. For he is a worthy man. The blood that courses in his veins, is no sluggish current of a mercenary Whig, but the warm blood of a reliable, true-hearted Democrat and philanthropist. His, the enduring and ardent love for his country; his the deepest scorn for a mean action; his the inexpressible in dignation when the spirit of fanaticism rears its snaky head in its vile attempts at poisoning the pure fountains of our glorious Union. I love to contemplate Bigler the Man. Nay, even Bigler the Printer's boy, tugging at the press and laying the foundation of his future greatness. I like to contemplate Bigler the stripling Democratic editor, sitting in his printing room, clad in the garb of the poor peasant boy—neglected and unknown—ardently devoted to the cause of his country and the happiness of his fellow beings, with pen in band advocating the rights of sun-hurnt toil. I like to contemplate Wm. Bigler dressed in the garb of a son of hardship and toil, laboring with the sun-burnt lumberman amid the tall pines of the northern wilds of the majestic Susquehanna, and behold him with his fellow oarsmen yonder, on the floating lumber, tossed to and fro by the proud waves of that lofty stream. Or yet again, I love to contemplate Bigler the poor, friendless printer boy, elevated to the giant statesman, presiding over the Senate of his native State, supporting with firm countenance and determined resolve, the measures of the lamented Shunk, and with him, opposing the place and schemes of dishonest ambition against the contemplate this gon of toil to whom I like to contemplate Bigler the stripling Democontemplate this son of toil, to whom, which may the public, there never came an hour of idle repose; because his anxiety to futifully discharge the duties of his station, stimulated him to steady exertion. Too pure for party intrigue, soaring far above the foul atmosphere of faction, the only aim of his pure soul was the good of his country.

And lastly, still more do I like to behold this noble son of Nature's creation, standing before the proud Democratic Freemen of the great Keystone State as their chosen candidate for the highest office known to the Constitution of Pennsylvania. For with this true nobleman of soaring genius—known to every cottager in the State, as their standard-bearer, they have nothing to fear from the fangs of Whiggery or wolves of faction, that sally forth from their dens; for the name of this Man, clad in the coarse garments of toil, will reach the heart of his coarse garments of toil, will reach the heart of his brother peasant in the cottage, his brother mechanic in the work-shop and his fellow husbandman in his field, bid them look from their toil, and know themselves Mem—call them forth to battle, that with the rush of the mighty torrent, will carry the stronghold of the enemy and drive factionists howling from the camp with a victory that will resound from the Aroostic to the Rio Grande.

It is with feelings of deep regret that we notice the death of the young and amiable. The interest, which nature prompts us to feel in the welfare of those we admire for their good qualities, awaken the most agonizing yearnings when compelled to contemplate their death. The subject of this notice, cut off in the prime of her young days and whilst surrounded and associated with all that could add to the enjoyments of life, is a sad illustration of the insecurity of earthly existence and the unadd to the enjoyments of life, is a sad illustration of the insecurity of earthly existence and the unfathomable ways of Providence. Truly, "in the midst of life we are in death." In health it hangs above us like the sword over the head of Damocles; in sickness, like the slowly advancing yet destructive Pendulum. There is, however, an inspiring hope that clings around the sicknesd soul and brings with it the highest consolation. The trials and yim the statement of the side of the same yet. hope that clings around the sickened soul and brings with it the highest consolation. The trials and vicissitudes of a turbulent world are about to yield to the enjoyments of a "land paved with gold," on whose smooth and glittering surface the troubles and turmoils of carth are unknown. To the deceased such has been the change. Schooled from her inlancy in the paths of virtue and rectifiede, she never departed from them, and thus was happily enabled to exclaim, "O death! where is thy sting! O grave! where is thy victory?" Kind and forgiving, generous to a fault, and the possessor of the highest and most amiable domestic qualities, her home was and most amiable domestic qualities, her home was at once made the theatre of tranquility and enjoyat once made the theatre of tranquility and enjoy-ment; gentle and modest in her deportment towards others, she gathered around her many warm and admiring friends; affectionate and dutiful in her re-lations as a wife and mother, her loss will spread a solemn gloom over her husband and kindred that time can never efface. We sympathize with the sorrowing and afflicted, but bid them take cheer.— "The hanniest hour for the good, is that wherein "The happiest hour for the good, is that wherein they die."
