It is gratifying to see how utterly the assault upon this distinguished gentleman have recoiled upon their malignant authors. Occupying so con-spicuous a position on the Democratic Judicial tick et they sought to disable him first in order that they might have a more easy access to the rest of the ticket. But they have been baffled and beaten in the most overwhelming manner. The head of the ticket defies the bitterest blasts of calumny.-The assault, that began in Bedford, among the Whigs and was re-echoed in Blair, by a lawyer who calls himself a Democrat, has aroused all parties in contradiction of its atrocious fabrications and the testimonials in favor of Judge BLACK's in tegrity and independence of character, in lavor of dicial ability and his intrepidity, have come forth spontaneously from men of all parties. A friend writing to us from the West, says that BLACK will sweep his own region by a majority that will crush his calumniators into the dust-a majority that his emment qualifications and manly virtues entitle him to. We pledge to him the undivided and the enthusiastic support of the Democracy of the East; and from all we can see and hear, the North will roll up his vote as high as the highest mark !- Pennsylvanian.

KENTCCKY .-- It is now ascertained to a certain ty that Mr. Powell, the Democratic candidate, is elected Governor' by about 1000 majority—and that six of the ten members of Congress are also Democrats! Verily, Whiggery is in a rapid decline in old Kentuck, and from henceforth we may look upon it as a Democratic State.

LOOK upon it as a Democratic State. D A man, whose name we did not learn, was found dead on the railroad, near Dillerville, on Friday morning last. It is supposed he was laying Friday morning last. It is supposed he was laying asleep on the track, when the train passed along between 2 and 3 o'clock in the morning, and crushed him to death.

DEATHS.

On Tuesday, the 19th inst., of Typhoia Fever, MARGABETTA D., daughter of Mr. Henry Carson, of this city, in the 21st year of her age. And she the loved is gone ! Her wearied spirit, longing to be free, burst the bonds that confined it to Earth and sought its eternal rest in Heaven -Joyously now she's roaming in the bowers of Light, plucking never-fading flowers of Loveliness. Short was her race, but, happier than we, she has been summoned home-she has secured the prize 'ere Life's Battle was half fought-and now "a crown of bright Glory " encircles her fair brow.

"Being dead, she yet speaketh" in gentle warning tones to friends left behind. "Another hand is beckoning on, Another call is given ; And glows once more with angel steps The path which reaches heaven.

"One young and loving friend, whose smile Made brighter summer hours. Almost mid frosts of Autumn time, Has left us with the flowers.

"The light of her young life went down, As sinks behind the hill The glory of a setting star-Clear, suddenly, and still.

"Fold her, O Father, in thine arms, And let her henceforth be A messenger of love between Our human hearts and thee."

This little child-the hope of its parent admiration of their friends-has been suddenly snatched from life, and now lies cold and dead in the silent graveyard. It awoke with the morning sun, playful and well. It danced on its fathef's knee, it smiled in the face of its mother-noon came, it was sick-evening with its darkness brought still a deeper darkness-it was death. Like a little flower, which blossoms in the morning, the noontide sun withers up, and at evening it falls dead, from its stock. Sing sweetly little birds, blow sofily autumn breeze above the grave in which the infant sleepeth. Weep not father, your little son lives yet-grieve not mother, your beloved boy smiles with you still. J.
