From the West Chester Republican. A Campaign Song. BILL BIGLER THE RAFTSMAN OF CLEARFIELD. AIR-Rosin the Bow.

Ye sons of the Keystone awaken, Come forth from the hill and the dale, Bill Bigler the old craft has taken, And tast down the current we sail. Our helmsman is trusty and true, Our helmsman is trusty and true, Bill Bigler, the raftsman of Clearfield, Will carry us gallantly through.

His timber is now on the water, And down to the market he'll go. No rafe on the river is fauter, Defying the hardest Whig blow.

Then sing out the song of his crew,
Then sing out the song of his crew,
Bill Bigler, the raftsman of Clearfield,

Will carry us gallantly through.

He is true to the cause of the Union,
And boldly proclaims to the world,
That the flag which we hold in communion, Must never be dastardly furled. never be dastardly furled.
Then sing out the song of his crew,
Then sing out the song of his crew,
Bill Bigler, the raftsman of Clearfield,
Will carry us gallantly through.

October will scarce be half over, When out in the river you'll see,
A raft bearing Bigler and Clover,
Their Harrisburg quarters to see.
Then sing out the song of his crew,
Then sing out the song of his crew,
Bill Bigler, the raftsman of Clearfield,

Is coming his quarters to view. So get all your moveables ready, Ye fat ones on Capitol Hill, For Bigler is moving up steady, The chair of the Keystone to fill. The chair of the Keystone to fill, The chair of the Keystone to fill, Bill Bigler, the raftsman of Clearfield, Is rowing up Capitol Hill.

How to be Beautiful.

Venus, the embodiment of female beauty, was anciently represented as having arisen from the sea. This is another way of saying that cleanliness is necessary to beauty. A hand left unwashed for a few days becomes ugly and repulsive. If one can conceive of a face left unwashed for a week, we must imagine very far from beautiful. A freshly washed face looks more handsome than at any other time. But is in vain to wash the few square inches of skin we have in sight, if the vastly larger area we cover with our dress is left from day to day, and week to week, uncleaned from its constantly accumulating impurities. The health, and consequently the clearness and freshness of the skin, require that every square inch, nay every pore should be in the best condition, and that cannot be if a single pore is left clogged with the impure matter which is continually passing from the system. But the action of water upon the skin, es pecially cold water, seems to be more important even than its first office of cleansing it from impur ities. The rain bathes the lovely rose bush, washes it from the dust, but it also refreshes and enlivens every leaf and petal. So a cold bath not only cleanses the skin from its impurities, but gives it tone, strength and smoothness, like a rose just washed by a shower.

esteemed, and health is the fountain of beauty, has been considered the first necessity of life. I have n ladies, jaded, diseased, miserable, and looking as badly as they felt, become fresh, rosy, bright and healthy, after a few months of systematic bath ing—a thorough purification and renovation of the skin, with a consequent increase of vivacity strength, grace of action and expression. This is such a remarkable effect of the water cure, which consists mainly in a certain regular and prescribed series of bathings, that ladies would resort to it for the improvement of their looks it the recovery of their health were not a necessary concomitant.

Miss Bremer on Married Men.

The Boston Atlas says that Benedicks should make the accomplished Swede their best bow, and give her a piece of plate, in token of their thanks for the following hearty testimony in their favor as a class. Moreover, they should all join fervently in the wish that her time may come soon, to enjoy what she appears so soulfully to appreciate, the value of a good married man. She says:
"I confess, then, that I never find, and never hav found, a man more loveable, more captivating, than when he is a married man; that is to say, married man. A man is never so handsome, never so perfect, in my eyes, as when he is married—as when he is a husband, and the father of a family supporting in his manly arms wife and children and the whole domestic circle, which, in his entrance into the married state, closed around him and constitute a part of his home and his world.-He is not merely ennobled by this position, but he is actually beautified by it. Then he appears to me as the crown of creation; and it is only such man as this who is dangerous to me, and with whom I am inclined to fall in love. But then propriety forbids it. And Moses and all European legislators declare it to be sinful, and all married women would consider it a sacred duty to ston me. Nevertheless I cannot prevent the thing. It of appeasing those who are excited against me is my further confession, that no love affects me s pleasantly; the contemplation of no happiness makes so happy, as that between married people.-It seems to me that I, living unmarried, or mate-less, have with that happiness little to do; but it is so, and it always was so.'

REDUCTION OF TOLLS ON THE PUBLIC WORKS.— As was anticipated in the notice of the Harrisburg Keystone of the meeting between the Pennsylvania

Canal Commissioners and the agents of the Transportation Lines, the wishes of the latter were acce ded to, and an additional reduction of tolls granted by the board. In consequence the transporters have reduced the rate of freight, and are now car rying goods to Pittsburg at 75 cents per hundred. The Keystone adds: "Whether they can carry at this low rate suc cessfully, and whether the present low rates o tolls can be maintained, will of course depend or the increased amount of business which may result from the reduction. There can be no doubt that a low rate of tolls and freight, calculated to bring large amount of business, is the correct policy but there is a limit at which even an increase pusiness ceases to be durable, unless accompanie by an increased compensation. The extremely lov ates at which the New York lines are now carry ing, are not likely to be permanent; it is a spass modic effort to draw the trade from other routes with the hope of retaining it hereafter up favorable terms; if our transporters and the Penn-sylvania Railroad Company can defeat the present movement, there will be little fear of their being able to compete successfully with their rivals here The completion of the Pennsylvania Rail road, and of the road to avoid the planes on the Portage Road, will so far diminish the time and expense of transportation, and increase the capacity of our public works and the facilities of the trans porters, as with the natural advantages possess the route through Pennsylvania, to give that route a decided advantage over all others, and enable those who use it to compete successfully for the carrying trade of the great West."

Opposed to Matrimony

Yankee scene from the Drama of "The N. Y. Fire-men, or the Heiress of Bond Street?"

"Is your family opposed to matrimony?" "Wal, no, I rather guess not seein' as how my mother has had four husbands, and stands a pretty smart chance of havin' another."

mart chance of havin another."
"Four Husbands! Is it possible?"
"O, yes. You see, my mother's christened name vas Mehitable Sheet, an' dad's name was Jacob Press; an' when they got married the printers said it was puttin' the sheets to press. When I was forn they said I was the first edition. An' you see nother used to be the tarnalist critter for evenin meetings. She used to go out pretty late every night, and dad was afraid I'd get in the same habit, so he used to put me to bed at early candle light, cover me over with a pillar an' put me to sleep with a poot jack. Wal, dad had to get up every night to let mother in; if he didn't get down and open the door pretty darned quick when she cum, he'd ketch particular thunder, so dad used to sleep with his head out of the winder, so's to wake up quick, an' one night he got his head a little too far out an' he slipped out altogether; and down dad ocum, caflumux right on the pavement, an' smashed into ten thousand pieces."
"What! was he killed by the fall?

" Wal no, not exactly by the fall. I rather kinder sorter guess as how it was the sudden fetch up on the pavement that killed him. But mam she cum hum, an' found him lyin' thar, and she had him swept up together, an' put in a coffin an' had a hole dug in the burying ground, an' had put in an' buried, up, an' had a white oak plank put up to his head and had it white washed all over for a

So your mother was left a poor lone widow." "Wal, yes, but she didn't mind that much; it wasn't long before she married Hide because he was just dad's size, and she wanted him to wear out dad's old clothes. Wal, the way old Hide used to hide me was a caution to my hide. Hide had a leetle the toughest hide of any hide except a bull's hide, and the way Hide used to hide away liquor in his hide was a caution even to a bull's hide. Wal, one cold day, old Hide got his hide co Wal, one cold day, old Hide got his hide so tarnal full o' whiskey that he pitched head first into a snow bank where he stuck an' friz to death So mam had him pulled out, an' laid out, an' then had another hole dug in the buryin' ground, an' had him buried, an' than she had another white oak plank put up at his head an' whitewashed all

"O, yes, but I guess she didn't lay awake nights long, to think about it, for in about three weeks she married John Strong—an' he was the strongest headed cuss you ever did see. "Yes, but mam didn't seem to mind it a tarna sight. The next feller she married was Jacob Hayse, and the way mam does make him haze is a caution, now I tell ye. If he does any a leetle out o' the way, mam makes him take a bucket and whitebrush and go right up to the burying ground, and whitewash the three oak planks, jest to let him know what he may come to when she's planted him in the same row, an got married to the fifth husband. So you see my family arn't a 'tarnal sight opposed to a dose of matrimony.'

The late accounts of a revolution in this Island The late accounts of a revolution in this island have rendered it quite an object of public interest in this country. It would, therefore, seem desirable that the resources and position of the Island should be properly understood. It is situated between 23 deg. 12 min. and 19 deg. 43 min. N. lat. Its length is 770 English miles—its breadth varies 25 to 90 miles, and it measures on its surface, about 4000 English square miles. Of 24 millions acres comprising the surface of the island, only s are under cultivation. Its position admirable, being within a few days sail of the Atlantic ports of the United States, and two and a half days by steam from New Orleans. The eastern sea. The valleys in the eastern department are exceedingly picturesque and fruitful. The princi-pal agricultural productions are, the sugar cane coffee, molasses, honey, rum, tobacco, wax, rice cocoa, cotton, together with all kinds of tropica fruits, sweet potatoes, yams, arrowroot, cocoa, In dian corn, castor oil, and different kinds of woods such as cedar, mahogany, lancewood, and other hard wood used by turners, etc. In 1841, the number of sugar estates on the island amounted to 1,238, upon which were employed, 138,701 persons. Wax is produced to the amount of about 800,000 pounds, and honey to the amount of two million gallons. Cattle to the number of about 900,00 head are owned in the island, and there are about 200,000 horses, and 50,000 mules.

In minerals, the island is very rich; of copper mines no less than 114 mines have been discovered in the island, 47 in the Eastern Department, 18 in the Central and 45 in the Western. The mine a Cobre, worked by an English company, has shipped from 27, to 43,000 tons per annum. Coal iron, silver, and amianthus have been discovered.— The revenue of the island, is about $12,000,000.— The population is about 1,200,000. Cuba was discovered by Columbus on the 27th of October. 1492, when the island had an Indian population o about 200,000. Only a few half breeds now remain in the Eastern Department. In 1519, Ha and gave it up again in 1763, in exchange for other ossession and advantages.

The late advices indicate that the fires of liberty have been lighted in the fruitful vales of this queen of the Antilles,—not by a band of adventurers from the United States, but by the hands of her own citizens who alone can render its glories per manent, and who seem now aware that "those who would be free themselves must strike the Important to Farmers & Thresh-ing Machine Makers.

The subscriber respectfully informs the public that he has lately completed a TRIPLE POW-ER INTERNAL GEARED HORSE POWER, which outrivals any other in use, It is made en-irely of Iron, both Frame and Gearing. The Jour-als are Cast-Steel—its weight is 600 lbs. On trial thas proved itself capable of performing from 50 100 per cent, more work than other Powers with ie same labor of the team. It is warranted to he same lator of the combined THRESHER load 8 horses.

I have also completed a combined THRESHER AND CLEANER, which is capable of Threshing and Cleaning from 300 to 500 bushels of wheat per combined from 6 to 8 Horses, and an equal number hands. 4 horses can thresh with it from 100 to 200 bushels per day of wheat, and 400 to 500 of oats. It is very convenient for those who follow Threshing, and for two or more farmers to own in company; it is more convenient to move than any machine in use. The Machine stands on the wagon while threshing—the Power is loaded on the same wagon in moving—two horses are sufficient to move it; it will save enough labor in threshing 2000 bushels to pay its extra cost. It will thresh in the field or by a tack as conveniently as in a harn. n the field or by a stack as conveniently as in a barr The cylinder and concave can readily be adjusted so as to thresh with equal facility both tough and dry grain. It is free from the complication and liability to get out of order of other machines of the kind, and of less cost—price $100,00.

CURE OF HEAVES,

CURE OF HEAVES.

By Sir James Lyndonton, Principal Farrier to his Royal Highness Prince Albert.

THE great discovery contained in this little work procured Sir James his Baronetoy. It is really its weight in gold io all who own or use Horses. It prescribes a Certain and Positive Cure for the Haues, which any person can prepare. The remedy is being and chapter than any advertised Heave edy is better and cheaper than any advertised Heave Powder, and is perfectly safe, as any can know who tries it. Horse owners know that many a valuable tries it. Horse owners know that many a valuable horse losses half his price by this prevalent disease. The remedy prescribed in this work will cure him and increase his market value, besides relieving the poor beast of a horrible complaint, similar to the Asthma in a man. The public can depend on this work: it is no catchpenny humbug. The articles prescribed by Sir James are all cheap and can be had at any store. To prevent imposition the work will be sent in scaled envelopes. English price, four shillings and three pence sterling. the work will be sent in sealed envelopes. English price, four shillings and three pence sterling.—
American price, $1 per copy. Persons ordering Sir James' work are expected to confine his instruction to their own animals. It will be sent to none others. Address, post paid,
