Whis Meeting in Drumore.

Mr. Editor:—On Saturday the 23d of August, was the dayset apart by the different factions of Whiggery to elect delegates to their County Conmore township. The Silver Greys and Woolley Heads assembled in their strength. About 10, o'clock the batteries were opened, and a regular fire was kept up until 3, which was the appointed hour to organize. The Greys nominated J. M. Dever as Judge of the election, and at the same time the Woolies proposed John Long, Esq. Both Judges took their seats—and both contended their right to occupy the chair, and also alleging that the regular consistent with a certain state of facts with which many are familiar, and whither there has not been between him and Judge Lewis " the slightest" difference. By reference to the files of the Bradford, Settler, edited by H. A. Kerr, in the fall of 1831, we find that Ellis Lewis then took a conspicuous part against S. D. Ingham. At that time a portion opposition to Gen. Jackson, and sought to prevent his re-election. Martin Van Buren was an object of peculiar hatred to them; among the prominent leaders in this movement, was S. D. Ingham. He had just been removed from the cabinet by Gen Jackson, in consequence of his course in relation to Maj. Eaton, and his slanderous imputations against the Major's family. Such was his nice sense of honor and character then, that he could not refrain from injuring an innocent and unoffending woman. He had undertaken also to drive Martin Van Buren (San Martin Van Buren ( from the confidence of the President. Galled and stung with mortification by his removal he commenced his career to distract the democratic party, probably as in the matter against Lewis, without ings. However, an opportunity offered, and they jerked the paper from the hands of the Silver Greys—the latter retook it—and it was pulled about from one to the other until it was completely de Judge Lewis, it is well known here, approved of molished. The batteries then opened with terrible effect. The Greys seized hold of the table, swearing Gen. Jackson's course and entered warmly in favor of his re-election. He opposed S. D. Ingham, and contributed as much as any other man in preventing it was theirs and they would have it—and the Woollies, not willing to submit, grabbed the table, his carrying out his schemes to defeat the old hero. too, and such a pulling and hauling from one jend of the room to the other I never witnessed. Some etings were called for that purpose, in swearing they would turn the others outwhich Judge Lewis took an active part. In September, 1831, a democratic convention was held at the Court House in this borough; Resolutions offered opponents taking off their coats to prepare for the encounter, cursing and swearing at a prodigious by Judge Lewis were passed, strongly in favor of Gen. Jackson, and repudiating the attempt to dis-tract the party; and also the following which we and table—then the point to be obtained was as to which should remain in possession of what they

"That this convention will support no candidate That this convention will support no candidate for the Legislature who is not openly and decidedly in favor of the re-election of Andrew Jackson and

Here the matter connected with the troubles at Washington, and the attack of S. D. Ingham on the wife of Maj. Eaton, are distinctly referred to, and severely censured. It is well known in this county, what part the "deceased friend" of S. D. Ingham took on this occasion; as well known as was the opposite position of Judge Lewis.

Mr. Ingham could not, in thinking of the friendly relation of one but think also of the unfriendly relation of the other. The reason he had to be grateful to one, would be the occasion of indignity to the other. In calling to mind these matters, we have no object other than to explain the course o Mr. Ingham, in pursuing Judge Lewis, with an apparent determination to hunt him down. The Judge persevered in the way he had marked out, until General Jackson was triumphantly re-elected; which consigned S. D. Ingham to his political

In further explanation of Mr. Ingham's motives for his attack we state upon the authority of one acquainted with the tacts, that the "deceased friend" of Ingham held an office under the latter in the Treasury Department, and held at the same time, a large claim upon Mr. H. A. Krer, above referred to, for the purchase money of the Bradford Settler, an influential Democratic paper printed in Bradford county. Judge Lewis, in order to relieve that Press from all possible control of the Ingham influence, as soon as Mr. Ingham commenced war upon Gen. Jackson, advanced, out of his own pocket, the whole of the purchase money due by Mr. Kerr, who did good service in the cause of Gen. Jackson in opposition to the Ingham influence. In consideration of these services, as appears by the testi mony of Mr. Kerr, taken before the Committee, Judge Lewis was willing to assist him, by becoming his security or otherwise, in purchasing an interest in the Reporter establishment for which he was in negotiation. This was freely spoken of at the time, and the hint was sufficient to operate upon a diseased imagination. The same malice, tinctured with a species of insane delusion, which, upon being dismissed from the Cabinet, induced him to charge all the clerks and other officers of the War Department with an intention to waylay and murder him has probably produced this effort to distort an innocent transaction into something improper. That his statement receives no credit in any respectable quarter is evident from the fact that, although it was brought to the notice of the Senate upon the confirmation of Judge Lewis as President of this District in January 1843, the Judge received every vote in the Senate, including Whigs and Democrats, except three-every Senator from the entire North, where Judge Lewis was best known, and from Bucks

GEO. SANDERSON, ESq.—Dear Sir: As there exists, at the present time, two County Committees, and also two Committees for each Ward, Borough and Township in the county, I would state that I was appointed a member of the County Committee selected by the County Convention, of Sep. 18, 1850, and likewise by the Chairman of said Committee, as one of the Committee for Leacock twp. Both divisions cannot be right in the positions they occupy, and as the Reading & Harrisburg Conventions admitted the delegates elected under the call of the County Committee appointed by the Convention of April 10th, 1851, I deem it my bounden duty as a Democrat, to respectfully decline (through the Intelligencer) serving on either, being of the opin-ion that if the said organization, or rather disor-ganization, is continued in, it will prove injurious to the interests and destructive of the integrity of the Democratic party.

Yours truly, &c. JOHN M'KILLIPS.

GEO. SANDERSON, Esq.—Dear Sir: The undersigned would like to know what authority the Lancasterian has for publishing our names as the Township Committee for Salisbury Township Some time since that paper had the audacity to charge the regularly appointed county committee with selecting persons in the different townships to act as Committee men without consulting the serve practices what it charges others with doing. We were elected in the spring of 1850 to serve one year, at the expiration of that year, which was at the delegate election last spring, another Comregularly elected.

We are Democrats who recognize the will of the majority, and we protest against being connected in any way with the disorganizers of our party.
