The Christiana Tragedy.

The following circumstantial account of terrible riot, which resulted in the death of his father and dangerous woulding of his brother, is from the pen of Mr, J. S. Gorsuch. It is copied from the Baltimore Sun, and will be read with great interest :

from the Baltimore: Sun, and will be read with great interest:
Having 'Been various' and contradictory, reports concerning the tragic fate of my father and the attendant circumstances; I have thought it best to perform the painful task of giving you some facts; in reference thereto, which may be relied upon :
Near three years ago, four negroes, between the ages 'of ninegeen and 'wenty-two, fled 'from my father's, in Baltimore county; nineteen miles from the oty, 'info Pennsylvana.' These negroes were to be free at the age of twenty-cight, and this fact 'they knew. It had come to the knowledge of my 'father that they had sold wheat, stolen from him, to a free negro.' A warrant was got out for the arrivest of the ires hegro, 'which, coming to the cars of his accomplices, they resolved (the same evening) to make good their escape. This was in November.'During the winter it was reported that these men were suffering for food. A colored man was sent to find them, and assure them that if they would come home and behave themselves nothing would be said to them about their theft. They were found, but did not return.
After having carefully provided the necessary vouchers and papers, attended by a deputy marshal and two' constables from 'Philadelphia, my father, his son; (Dickinson,) his nephew, (Dr. Thos. T. G. Pearce,) Joshua Gorsuch, Nathan Nelson and Nicholas Hutchins, ét out on the first of last week for the acene of intended arrest. The plan was to arrest the fugitives on Wednesday morning, but this plan was frustrated by the non-appearance of the deputy marshal, who had the authority and the papers. Both the city constables returned to the city, with the understanding that they were to come back at night with the new warrats—one of them having been deputed to act as marshal. The delinquent marshal made his appearance on Wednesday morning, about nine o'clock, urging as an excussed for his failure that he had been followed by a negro, whom he knew to be a spy. In endeavoring to live, just abo a short lane twelve lect wide. As this party, at this early hour, were proceeding along, the lane that crosses the valley, and near the house, one of the negroes, who was recognized as Nelson, came to the mouth of the short lane, and upon seeing these men, ran towards the house, all the party in other than the start lane and upon seeing the set of the short lane, and upon seeing these men, ran towards the house, all the party in other than the start lane. these men, ran towards the house, all the party in full.chase. The negro barely made his escape. One man was stationed at each corner of the house to guard the windows. The house is two stories in height, and the negroes were all up stairs. The Marshal and my father ontered the house. Mr. Kline asked for the owner of the house; told was an United States Marshal, and that them he was an United States Marshal, and that he came for the purpose of arresting Mr. Gorsoch's slaves, Netson and Josh. He then read to them he warrants, and while doing this, he heard them loading their guns up stairs. The Marshal and my father started both together to go up stairs, the latter having first called to Nelson that he saw him, and told him that if he would come down peaceably and go home with him, he would treat him as kindly as before he ran away. Resistance he said, would do no good, for he came with the proper officer and authority, and he would not leave the premises without his property. While they were on the stops and intending to proceed, one of the negroes struck at them with a staff shod with sharp iron. My father then turned and went out of the door. Just as he got out a gun was fired at his the door. Just as he got out a gun was fired at his head from one of the windows, but the aim was head from one of the windows, but the all was too high. The Marshal coming out just behind him, fired his pistol in the window. Again they went in, and starting to go to the upsteps, an axe was thrown down at them, which, however, passed harmlessly by them. In this way a little skirmishing was kept up between the negroes at the win-dows and the young men outside, and between those at the head of the steps and the two men in the house. During this period the warrants were read three During this period the warrants were read three times, the law was explained, they were advised and entreated to give up the two slaves, and as-sured that the arrests would be made even if blood must he shed. A missile had been thrown out of the window and had wounded Pearce in the head; he had attempted to shoot, but the cap only ex-ploded. At last they gave the negroes a definite time to decide; the watch was held, but before the time to decide; the watch was held, but before the lane. His presence inspired the blacks; they im-mediately raised a shout and became confirmed in their opposition. When the marehal saw the man at the bars, he went to him, and called on him in at the bars, he went to him, and called on him in the name of the United States, to assist in arresting the fugitives, showing his warrant, reading his authority, and telling him the inevitable conse-quence of refusal. Another white man was also present during this conversation. The reply was, that he would not assist; and that they had better go home, for they could make no arrests there, or b lood would be spilt.

The may be gratifying to some to know that the proceedings now in progress will bring to light the secret of this bloody affair. A negro from Phila-delphia-the same that followed the Marahal on the first night-found out by some meanis, fair, or four, the names of the negroes to be taken, and other circumstances connected with my fathers plan, and gave intelligence to the neighborhood. The abolitonists and negroes together spread the news, and thus was brought together the most of the negroes for miles around. We have the man who incided the negroes to shoot and defy the Marahal. We have also quite a number of the law will now be fairly tested, I suppose. I have written this by the advice of friends, and am glad the painful task is performed. J. S. GORSUCH. Earthquake near Naples. A letter, dated Naples 24, August, directed to the Baltimore American, gives the following particul lars of the late earthquake in that region :

"I have received several details relative to th dreadful disaster which occurred on the 14th inst. in the provinces of Basilicara, in this kingdom and about one hundred miles from the capital of more than fifty villages is given, in which greater or less damage was done; in more than one place the principal buildings have been destroyed, and in all several lives have been lost amid the ruins of fallen houses. The greatest sufferer, however, was the town of Melfi, a place containing 10,000 inhab itants; three quarters of the city are a mass of ruin a the Archbishop's Palace, the Municipality, the College, the Barracks and the Police Station, have all been levelled to the ground. The known deaths; amount already to 700 besides 200 wounded, among whom the principal families count victims. "I have not time this morning to give all the minute details, but it is sufficient to say that a rich and populous district has been completely destroyed, and the loss of life has been immense. It does not and the loss of life has been immense. It does not appear the ground opened, but all, the injury was done by the houses falling from the repeated shocks of the earthquake, the rapidity of which was such that the persons in the houses and passing in the streets had not time to escape. The King, on re-ceiving this dreadful news, immediately ordered a sum of 4,000 ducats to be sent from his private purse to which the Queen added 2 000, in addition to the sum of 5,000 ducats contributed out of the Treasury. Temporary hospitals have been put up and sappers and miners have been sent to different places to assist in clearing away the ruins and disinterring the unfortunate victims. Subscriptions been opened in the towns near to the place where the catastrophe occurred, and the charity of he city of Naples will not be deficient."

Before, during, and after the conversation with this man at the bars, negroes were arriving from every quarter, some on horseback and others on foot, armed with guns, pistols, clubs, corn-cutters, cc. They seemed to be scattered all around upon the first of their arrival, but most of them were extended is bintranear the place where the white the first of their arrival, but most of them were gathered in knots near the place where the white man on horseback and the marshal were talking, engaged in loading their guns. At the close of the conference, the marshal called to his party to retire, saying that he would not press the arrest farther, and that he would hold this man responsible for the property. Then the marshal and two of the young men left. My father was then near the house, his and that he would hold this that tesponstor or any property. Then the marshal and two of the young men left. My father was then near the house, his son, Pearce, and Joshua Gorsuch, not far from him, still guarding the house to keep the slaves from escaping. Just as the marshal and the two young men left, the Quaker on the horse said something to the negroes that had assembled near him, when the prove most bidoous real and the two young to the negroes that had assembled near had, when they set up a most hideous yell and rushed towards the house, the negroes in the house at the same time rushing out, and whooping like savages, met the advancing gang around my father. They were four mea, all armed with pistols, it is true, opposed to about one hundred infuriated, blood-thirsty, howling demons. As soon as these two gangs minimum in the narrow lane, the attack was made upon the diminished band by a negro from behind striking my father on the head, which caused him to fall forward on his knees, when he was shot several times and cut over the head with corn-cutters.

When the young men near him saw bhm fall, Dickinson and Joshua ran to him and discharged their pistols into the crowd that was murdering him, Pearce having been cut off from them by the negroes who advanced from the bars. As Dickin son was shooting immediately over his father, his revolver was knocked out of his hand by a club striking him upon the arm, near the wrist. Then a negro shot him in the right side and arm, lodging a negro shot him in the light side and him. The regroes were whooping and yelling with savage glee over their victim, and the son, nephew and cousin start-ed, to save their lives. They'all escaped from this narrow lane, the scene of the awful conflict, into the lower laws the saturate forces the valley and the longer lane that extends across the valle the woods on either side. Dickinson, staggering under the stunning effects of his wounds, blood gushing from his mouth and streaming from his arm and side, took the southern end of the lane, and, in a distance of a hundred fards, reached the edge of the wood, falling down by a large stump, exhausted. Some of the fiends followed and would have most evenly myndred big, but so old nebare most cruelly murdered him, but an old ne-gro, who had been in the affray, threw himself over his body and called upon them for God's sake to assist him, for he would soon die any how. Pearce kept the lane, and after him rushed the whole band of negroes, shouting and shooting every jump, a distance of three hundred yards. In his flight he overtook the Quaker on the horse, and strove to keep him between himself and his pursu-ers, to which course he ascribes the salvation of his ers, to which course he ascribes the salvation of his life. At the distance of half a mile from the negroes' house, he reached a dwelling, and bolting in asked two ladies, who were then the only per-sons whom he saw in the house, to protect him. They expressed fear lest the negroes might come and find him there, and kill them for concealing him. He told them he would not expose them to danger then, and turned to go out, when they con-sented to conceal him. Soon his infuriated pur-ueurs came to the house and asked if he was not there. They were told that some one had gone past, and they kept on to the woods, which they searched and guarded until late at night, to find and to butch-er their desired victim. Joshua Gorauch, who had received a violent blow on the head when by my father, was rather later in starting, and ran obliquely from the house to the lane, reaching it in advance of Pearce. Him they overtook and beat over the head with clubs, until it was supposed they had killed him; but he got up and went up the lane as far as he could. One negro, who had chased Pearce father than the rest, as he was returning, struck him (Gorsuch) over the head with a club. At last he reached the woods, completely crazed by the blows he had received. There he was found by the Mar-shal and taken to a place of safety. Dickineon did not lie long before some gentlemen came and carefully removed him to Mr. Levi Pow-nall's where he now lies, and where I now write. Every attention that kindness can suggest and charity execute is bestowed upon him.
