The Result, so far, in the State.

Below will be found a correct table of Delegates to the Fourth of March Convention, so far as they have yet been elected in the State. A full Convention consists of 133 Delegates, and 67 constitutes a majority. Already there are 76 instructed for Mr. BUCHANAN, and of the 9 not instructed, he will have at least six, thus giving him 82 of the 98 now elected. There are yet 35 to elect, of which number he will have from 30 to 33, thus making his strength in the State Convention from 112 to 115, out of the 133 Delegates-and showing a degree of unanimity but rarely equalled in any former Convention. In the State Convention of 1848, he had but 84 Delegates, to 49 against
