From the Baltimore Jacksonian We call especial attention to the following can did and interesting letter from Mr Buchanan, in reply to that addressed him by some of his friends in BALTIMORE, Feb. 19th, 1852.

Hon James Buchanan :

Sir :-- Learning that you will pass through our oir — Learning that you will pass through our city on your way home from the seat of government, we feel desirous of tendering to you, some evidence of our earnest appreciation of your distinguished public services in behalf of the cherished guished public services in behalf of the cherished interests of our nation through a long series of years; and particularly throughout the recent struggle in our neighboring State, where the combined elements of faction had raged so turiously as to sadden the hearts of the union-loving Democracy of the country. We look back with pride and exultation, Sir, to your life of devotion to the democratic with the set the Cestitution to war, made and principles of the Constitution-to your manly and powerful support of the administration of General Jackson-to your eminent services during the eventful period of the last democratic administraeventful period of the last democratic administra-tion, and to yo r zealous counsels in favor of the maintenance of the compromise measures of the last Congress; and, while holding in grateful remem-brance those evidences of your patriotism as a statesman, we are actuated by a lively sense of your exalted talents and private virtues, and by the re-collection of your gallant conduct, when, in 1814, you left your home in the interior, to join in the defence of our city against a loreign foe.

The compromise measures having now been finally settled, we confidently expect that all dis-

WHEATLAND, near Lancaster February 3d, 1852.

GENTLEMEN: In returning home through your city on Saturday last, I had the unexpected honor of receiving your kind invitation to partake of a public dinner at such time as might best suit my own convenience. For this distinguished and valued token of your regard, please to accept my most grateful acknowledgements; and, whilst regretting that circumstances, which it would be too tedious to explain, will deprive me of the pleasure of meeting you at the lestive board, you may rest assured that I shall ever highly prize the favorable opinions you express of my poor public services.

To the city of Baltimore I have ever been attachas the place where to practice my profession; and prevented me from carrying this purpose lect, but my invincible reluctance, at the last moment, to leave my native State. The feeling recting each other's faults, of living in peace and which prompted me, in 1814, during the last war with Great Britain, to march as a private to Balti-more, a circumstance to which you kindly allude, resulted from a patriotism so universal throughout Pennsylvania, that the honor which may fall to the occasion, scarcely deserves to be mentioned If I rightly read "the signs of the times," there has seldom been a period when the democratic party of the country, to which you and I are warmly attached, was in greater danger of suffering a de-feat than at the present moment. In order to avert this catastrophe, we must mutually forget and lorgive past dissensions, suffer "by-gones to be by gones," and commence a new career, keeping constantly in view the ancient and long established land-marks of the party. Most, if not all the great questions of policy, which formerly divided us from our political opponents, have been settled in our favor. No person, at this day, thinks of re-establishing another national Bank, or receasing the Indeing another national Bank, or repealing the Independent Treasury, or distributing the proceeds of the Public lands among the several States, or abol-ishing the veto power. On these great and important questions, the whigs, after a long and violent struggle, have (yielded; and, for the present, at leas would seem to stand upon the Democratic platforn The Compromise measures are now a "finality"those who opposed them honestly, and powerfully, and who still believe them to be wrong, having patriotically determined to acquiesce in them for the sake of the Union, provided they shall be faithfully carried into execution. On what issues, then, can we go before the country and confidently calculate upon the support of the American people at the approaching Presidential election? I answer unbesitatingly that we must fall back, as you suggest, upon those fundamental and time-honored principles which have divided us from our political opponents since the beginning, and which, from the very nature of the Federal n, must continue to divide us from them d. We must inscribe upon our banners, a sacred regard for the reserved rights of the Stateso Congress of all powers not clearly granted by that instrument, and a rigid economy is

These expenditures have now reached the enorand, unless arrested in their advance by the strong arm of the Democracy of the country, may, in the course of a few years, reach one hundred millions. The appropriation of money to accomplish great national objects sanctioned by the Constitution, ought to be on a scale commensurate with our behalf of the imprisoned and banished patriots of power and resources as a nation—but its expendi-ture ought to be conducted under the guidance of enlightened economy and strict responsibility. I am convinced that our expenses might be considerably reduced below the present standard, not only without detriment, but with positive advantage both to the government and the people.

An excessive and lavish expenditure of public money, though in itself highly pernicious, is as nothing when compared with the disastrous influ-ence it may exert upon the character of our free ence it may exert upon the character of our free Institutions. A strong tendency towards extravagance is the great political evil of the present day; and this ought to be firmly resisted. Congress is now incessantly importuned from every quarter to make appropriations for all sorts of projects.

Money, money from the National Treasury is constantly demanded to enrich contractors, speculators, and the projects are grided over with question question. and agents; and these projects are gilded over with every allurement which can be imparted to them by ingenuity and talent. Claims which had been been paid, principal and interest. Indeed there seems to be one general rush to obtain money from seems to be one general rush to obtain money from the Treasury on any and every pretence.

What will be the inevitable consequence of such lavish expenditures? Are they not calculated to disturb the nicely adjusted balance between the Federal and State Governments, upon the preservation of which depend the harmony and efficiency of our system? Greedy expectants from the Federal Treasury will regard with indifference, if not with ontempt, the Governments of the several States.— The doctrine of State rights will be laughed to scorn by such individuals, as an obsolete abstraction unvorthy of the enlightened spirit of the age. worthy of the enightened spirit of the age. The corrupting power of money will be felt throughout the length and breadth of the land; and the Democracy, led on by the hero and sage of the Hermitage, will have in vain put down the Bank of the United States, if the same fatal influence for which it was condemned, shall be exerted and fostered by means leave from the Public Treasury.

drawn from the Public Treasury.

To be liberal with their own money but sparing of that of the Republic was the glory of distinguished public servants among the ancient Romans. When this maxim was reversed, and the public money was employed by artful and ambipuone money was employed by artist and anton-tious demagogues fo secure their own aggrandize-ment, genuine liberty soon expired. It is true that the forms of the Republic continued for many years; but the animating and inspiring soul had fled for ever. I entertain no serious apprehensions that we shall ever reach this point, yet we may still profit by their example.

With sentiments of the highest respect, 1 remain your friend and fellow citizen,

JAMES BUCHANAN. John Nelson, William F. Giles, John O. Whar ton, John Morris, Carroll Spence, William P. Pouder, and John A. Bowen, Esqs., and others.

The following article, from the Erie Obser ver, on a subject which is now agitating the public mind to a considerable extent, is one of the most attention of all our readers, whether for or against the new fangled doctrine of intervention:

A Word on Kossuth and Intervention.

Though our own locality has not run Kossuth mad, finally settled, we confidently expect that all dissensions in our party to which they gave birth, will be speedily healed, and that the Democracy of the country, thoroughly united, will proceed to gain new victories upon its ancient principles of Staterights and an enlightened economy, and street renew victories upon its ancient principles of Staterights and an enlightened economy, and strict responsibility in the expenditure of public money.

regard for you as a statesman and citizen, we beg of you to accept an invitation from us to partake of a public dinner in this City at such time as may be roots convenient to yourself. dom to shout "long live Kossuth," and we would not be considered as wishing to wage war against Fashion, nevertheless it has always struck us as a claim Kossuth to be, should have surrendered his position and his power to one he had long suspected and denounced as a traitor. Neither is it at all charf a great captain to go parading through acteristic of a great capital to go parading turough the country, publishing to the world, on all conceivable occasions, the preparations he is making to wage war upon the ruling powers of the continent—telling Russia and Austria that he has contracted here for so many muskets, that he has desited there so much money, and that ere long he will be upon them with a host of "sympathisers" and his coffers full of "material aid." That was and his coners 1011 of "material aid." That was not the way of Napoleon, by all odds the greatest Captain of the Age. When he struck, the enemy knew it not until the blow fell. But we did not take up our pen to enter into an elaborate discussion of the merits or demerits of Kossuth as a leader, but merely to call attention to Mr. Szemere's letter, and to enter our protest against the doctrine of intervention. What Kossuth's plans are is not material to us, so far as they relate to Hungary and do not interfere with the long established and cherished principles of our own governent. But when he and his friends, agitators who only rise upon the bubbles of the hour, attempt to introduce a new theory, and that theory leads to nevitable war, we think it time every friend of the constitution as it is now, and has been administered, should protest against its, introduction. not do to say that "intervention," peaceable intervention," "moral suasion," is going to restrain Francis Joseph, or Nicholas, from doing as their education and their instincts teach them, in regard to Hungary. Talk about "moral suasion" with a Cossack! Nothing short of the "moral suasion" of a Kentucky rifle, or a Colt's revolver, will reach his nscience! And why? because he has never been taught any force but brute force; and what is true of a people is true of their Government. ory is beautiful, we know, of a community of nations restraining one another when wrongamity, of yielding to peaceable, moral, argumen-tative 'intervention.' We do not believe there is a man in the Union that is not fully persuaded that Louis Napoleon has trampled out every spark of liberty in France, yet backed as he is by Russia and sustained by those he tyranizes over, what does he care for the execrations and denunciations of the world?— Nothing! He laughs it to scorn. And so it is with Nicholas of Russia. As long as his legions are obedient to his beck, and the Cossack's spear s between his breast and the foe, he is invulnerable to fear or argument. From the Florida Democrat.

Upon whom should the selection fall is the next question. I express no opinion for the North, but for the South. And it is so obvious to my mind that JAMES BUCHANAN should be the man, that condemned by former decisions and had become cannot believe there would be the least hesitation rusty with age, have been again revived and have upon him. In his advocacy of the just rights of the South under the Constitution, in his early oppo-sition to the slavery agitation in Congress, dating back seventeen years, he is placed so far in advance of any and all other Northern candidates, that there can be no room for hesitation that our delegate would unite on Mr. Buchanan. His opinions and would unite on Mr. Buchanan. The spinning principles are not for the nonce; there is nothing of President-seeking in them. They have been held so lottg, maintained so inflexibly, and expressed so independently at all times and under all circumstances, as to put at rest every suspicion of that sort. I need not trace Mr. Buchanan's political sort. I need not trace Mr. Buttainan a pinctar course since 1835, the period of the first dawn of abolition in Congress, to prove this. It must be familiar to every half read politician in the South. But if there was any question of expediency of selecting Mr. Buchanan, prior to the late Pennsylvania election, the brilliant termination of that con test under the peculiar circumstances attending it, must have dispelled all doubt. In no Northern State have the lines been so clearly drawn upon the ques tion of a faithful enforcement of the compromis measures and an unflinching opposition to the fur-ther progress of abolition. The Democratic presses and speakers, up to the opening of the polls, resounded with appeals to the people to come to the rescue, and pronounce a last and final condemnation of the abolition principles of Gov. Johnston and his supporters. The democrats invited the issue, forced it upon their adversaries. The Christiana tregedy, which came off in the heat of the canvass, and the official delays and delinquencies, of Gov. Johnston growing out of the occurrence, drew the lines still eper and wider. The clarion tones of Mr. Bu chanan's voice rung in various parts of the State calling on the democracy to arise and vindicate the arnished honor of the Commonwealth. He insist ed that the first step towards effacing the dark stain imprinted upon her escutcheon at Christiana, was the election of Bigler, and the condemnation of Johnston. Never did a Southern statesman take a more bold, comprehensive or national ground in his speeches. He contended that the result would deermine whether Pennsylvania was any longer ensensible arguments we have yet seen on either side titled to be called the "key stone"—as it would be of the question. We, therefore, commend it to the or against the compromises of the constitution and the further agitation of slavery. He insisted that the South had rights—that they had been violated—that the South looked with hope and anxiety to the election of Bigler and the defeat of Johnston—that the South looked with hope and anxiety to the election of Bigler and the defeat of Johnston—the lection of Bigler and the defeat of Johnston of the lection of Bigler and the defeat of Johnston of the lection of Bigler and Bigler and Bigler and Bigler and Bigler and Bigler and and the success of Bigler would be regarded as a fresh guarantee that Pennsylvania would stand by and maintain the Constitutional rights of the South, and that it was due to the South to give the guar

Pennsylvania's response to the patriotic appeals of her favorite son and the democratic press, is be-fore the country, and Messrs. Editors, I shall not soon forget the thrill of joy which I felt at its an-nouncement. And now I ask is it not due to that nouncement. And now lask is it not due to that gallant State,—is it not due to ourselves, to extend to her a greeting and a congratulation upon the late glorious triumph, that shall be worthy of her and ourselves? No non-slaveholding State has ever uttered so upequivocal a determination to stand by us as an auxiliary in the maintenance of our just rights. Let us not slight so warm and fraternal a demonstration. But let the Southern democracy tender to Pennsylvania the highest compliment w can pay,—the nomination of her savorite son to the highest office in the nation's gist. It is demand-ed by justice—it is no less demanded by interest and our love of the Union. James Buchanan nominated by the Southern democracy, and elected too, (which would be but a sequence to the nomination,) yould bring Pennsylvania to our side in all future struggles with the federal power against its usurping instincts.

Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by private and improper indulgencies, that secret and solutary habits, which run both body and mind, unfitting them for either business body and mind, unfitting them for either business or society.

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, viz: Weakness of the back and limbs, Pains in the head, Dinness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irrinbility, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. Mentally.—The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded: Loss of Memory, Confusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Evil of Foreboding, Aversion of Society, Self Distribut, Love of Solitude, Timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced.

NERVOUS DEBILITY.

Weakness of the system, Nervous Debility and premature decay generally arisee from the destructive habit of youth, that solitary practice so fatal to the healthful existence of man, and it is the young who are the most apt to become its Victims from an ignorance of the dangers to which they subject themselves. Parents and Guardians are often misled with respect to the cause or source of disease in their sons and wards. Alas! how often do they ascribe to other causes the wasting of the frame, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspensia, Indigestion, Derangement of the Nervous System, Cough and Symptoms of Consumption, also those serious Mental effects, such as loss of Memory, Depression of Spirits or peculiar fits of Melancholy, when the truth is they have been caused by indulging Pernicious but alluring practices, destructive to both Body and Mind. Thus are swept from existence thousands who might have been of use to their country, a pleasure to their friends, an ornament to society. NERVOUS DEBILITY.
