Lilly Lee.

BY ALICE CAREY.

I did love thee, Lilly Lee. As the blossoms loved the dev But the angels loved thee too.

Once, when twilight's dying head Prest her golden sheeted bed, And the silent stars drew near, White and tremulous with fear, While the night's repelling frown Strangled the young zephyr down, Told all my love for thee, Hoping, fearing, Lilly Lee.

Fluttered then her gentle breast With a troubled sweet unrest, Like a bird too near the net Which the fowler's hand hath set Death's pale arrow from the heart.

Hushing from that very day Passion pleading to have sway, Folding close her little hand, Watched I with her till the sand Lowered her softly to the dead, Where in peace she waits for me, Sweetest, dearest Lilly Lec.

As the chased hart loves the wave, As the penitent loves prayer, As pale passion loves despair, Loved I, and still love I thee Angel-stolen Lilly Lee.

The Devil's Clock. AUTHOR OF A MARRIAGE ON THE EVE

BATTLE. The town of Herringhausen, not a hundred miles from Frankfort, is one of the most picturesquely antique in Germany, and contains about 12,000 inhabitants. I like to prepare my readers with a tolerable idea of the locality wherein the events narrated transpire—for then I may hope to impress them with at least a two-fold sympathy in my dramatic personse—The street in which Herr Bom-garten had his residence, was among the oldest in the town aforesaid, and his residence the oldest in

He was himself, also, a high dried piece of antiquity, usually enveloped in a cloud of smoke from sunrise to sunset, except only when his fair daugh-ter sat beside him at their evening meal and talked over the affairs of the day. On such occasions he would narrate incidents in his progress through life, and dwell upon acquiring the independence they then enjoyed. He had one passion in excess—an intense love of music; and had at one time been no mean proficient on the violin. At the festivals held periodically in all the principal German towns, his judgment was appealed to; and, indeed eeting of the kind was considered complete it he, by any chance, was absent. It may, therefore naturally be inferred that his daughter had already in the art : and at twenty she was came stronger with its years, and which confirmed revolve that she should wed one of the most acacquires a force proportioned to its solitariness and singleness of aim. Certainly it is, that out of the many suitors whom the beauty and gentleness o the disposition of Azalia attracted to the domicil of Herr Bomgarten, not one (so scrupulous was he on the score of musical perfection) was permitted by him to continue his visits. Anxiety for the fulfilment of a hope being usually in proportion to its strength, her sire, as the young lady approached twenty-three, began to experience a dread that he might not see her settled. This preyed upon his spirits deeply, and urged him to publish, as wide as possible, his intentions. To that end he invited to his house, on a certain day, all the class musical who chose to compete for his daughter, declaring that at midnight he would decide on the claims of the aspirants. Now it is necessary that I should inform my readers that in the grand apartment of ngarten's mansion there was a piece of turniture supposed to have been fabricated by Hungarian magician, and which exibited so much rent wilfulness that it had been denominated

This time-keeping edifice struck all manner hours in all manner of ways; but whatever might be its vagaries, was always true to the solemn "twelve" at midnight; so that Herr Bomgarten, not without reason, fixed upon that hour to decide his long cherished scheme.

The day at length arrived, and it may be imagined that not a little preparation had been made. The piano forte (one of Korner's latest improvements) was placed under a mirror of immense size, and exactly opposite to the (fatal) clock.

Azalia was dressed in a holiday suit, and lookher father augured a prosperous finale. At about eight o'clock in the evening, the suitors were as themselves as competitors for so beautiful and so rich a prize were four in number. They severally to the instrument, and each appeared more than his predecessor, to astonish the audience; and it was generally imagined that the last per-former would be entitled to become the fair girl's husband. But ere Herr Bomgarten had quite re-solved in his own mind the exact merits of each candidate, another stood beside the instrument, and rather by signs than words, indicated that he too, must try his skill, guests seemed extremely puzzled at this singular apparition; for up to that moment the gen-tleman had not been observed in the room at all! One or two persons, indeed, declared that he had actually stepped from the clock case as the last player of the four concluded his fantasia! Be it as it may, he sat down to the piano, and produced -but it is wholly impossible to describe the sensa-tion. He now withered up the heart with the inity of his pathos; and again enchanted the soul with multitudinous images of delight. Then would be pour over the imagination a storm of harmonies that exalted it almost to frenzy; and, anon, sub-dued it to the placidity of childhood. He was a dued it to the placidity of childhood. He was a man; yet, who was he? The question was a fearful one. He was handsome—his aspect was singularly wild and melancholy. He executed with marvellous ease, but his mind appeared (judging from his eye) to be wandering over fields of thot remote from that in which he was engaged. He rose. Her Bomgarten sprang from his seat; and would have embraced him, but was repelled by his peculiarity of mein. Few minutes had he to decide, for midnight was at hand. As to the pretty Azalia for midnight was at hand. As to the pretty Azalia, she wore no expression save only that of extreme palor, and of internal agitation; but when the stran es the clock struck "twelve." touched her hand reluctance. The most surprising part of the whole

"I would! I would!" exclaimed the old man sobme majority.

In the davice of those who assume to profess a full knowledge of the wants of the country, and of the capability and disposition of different men to contribute to satisfy those wants. Every man's first the church of St. Roque; (the choristers who always set it right at twelve at night, from superstitious feeling, play a variety of tricks with it by day;) and I have been the means of doing an act of triendship and justice." As to the moral—but no; we will think of that some other time.

I make the merits of rival candidates, are obliged either to abstain from voting, or to follow the advice of those wants of the country, and of the capability and disposition of different men to contribute to satisfy those wants. "Then," exclaimed the appiration, "come forth, ye happy pair!" At these words the door of the room opened, and Carl von Muller and his a happier evening, was never spent in the good old town of Herringhausen.

Two Years in Heaven.

Two years ago to day, he went to heaven. With us they have been long, long years, since we heard the sound of his sweet voice and the merry laugh that burst from his glad heart. He was the young-est of our flock. Three summers he had been with us, and OI he was brighter and sunnier than any summer day of them all. But he died as the third year of his life was closing. The others were older than he, and all we had of childhood's glee and gladness were buried, when we laid him in the grave. Since then our hearts have been yearning for the boy that is gone. "Gone, but not lost!" we have said a thousand times; and we think of him ever as living and blessed in another place not far from us

Two years in Heaven! They do not measure time in that world; there are no weeks, or months or years; but all the time we have been mourning his absence here, he has been happy there. And when we think of what he has been enjoying, and the rapid progress he has been making we feel that it is well for him that he has been taken away. Two years with Angels! They have been his constant companions, his teachers too; and from them he has drawn lessons of knowledge and of love The cherubim is said to excel in knowledge, while love glows more ardently in the breast of seraphim He has been two years in the company of both, and must have become very like them.

Two years with the Redeemer! They have told him of the Saviour in whose blood they wash their robes and whose righteousness, is their salvation. The child while with us, knew little of Jesus and his dying love; but he has heard of Him now, and has learned to love Him who said, "Suffer little children to come unto me." There are some among those redeemed who would have loved him here had they been living with us; but they went to glory before him, and have welcomed him now to their company. I am not sure they know him as our child; and yet do we love to think that he is in the arms of those who are gone from our arms, and thus broken families are re-united around the throne of Goo and the Lamb.

Two-years with Christ! It is joy to know that our child has been two years with the Saviour, in his immediate presence; learning of him, and making heaven vocal with songs of rapture and love. The blessed Saviour took little children in his arms when he was here on earth, and he takes them in his bosom there. Blessed Jesus! blessed children!

that are his, we are more than willing that he should stay where he now dwells, though our hope is darkened by the shadow of his grave, and our hearts are aching all the time for his return. Long and weary have been the years without him, but they have been blessed years to him in heaven.—

CHOLERA IN IOWA .- POISONING OF TWO CHIL-DRES.—CAUTION TO DRUGGISTS.—We saw a letter says the Boston Post, received in this city, yesterday, from Dubuque, Iowa, dated June Sth. from which we are permitted to make the following extract:—A terrible disease made its appearance here yesterday, which is called by some cholera, by others plague, and by others ship-fever of a very malignant type. It has already swept off large numbers, how many none but the undertakers can know, because the facts are kept as quiet as possiknow, because the facts are kept as quiet as possible for fear of spreading alarm. Three funeral pro-cessions have just passed my window, and I don't cessions have just passed my window, and 1 don't know how many more have taken place during the day. The cases are confined chiefly to the poor Irish and French in the lower and most filthy parts of the town. same disease and died in a few hours.

A most distressing event occurred here last week, which, together with the above named calamity, has east a gloom over the city. Two lovely little children of a Mr. Fennimore were taken with measles (which disease is also prevailing here to considerable extent). A physician was called to them and left a prescription for a simple mixture, and the druggist through a most unpardonable mistake put up a compound containing a large proportion of morphine. This was given to the children during the night, at intervals, creating a deep, sleep. The parents had no cause for alarm, until dren during the night, at intervals, creating a deep, sleep. TROUT FISHING EXTRAORDINARY.—The Pottsrishing Extraordinant.—The Potts-ville Emporium of the 17th inst, says:—Our young friends and fellow-townsmen Capt. Womelsdoff, T. F. Beatty, J. M. Beatty, and Solomon Hoover, re-turned on Thursday last from an excursion to Sulivan county of about a week, which must have yielded more glorious sport in the way of Trout fishing, than usually falls to the lot of fishermen in any part of our country. The scene of their operations was the Lovalsock creek, about ten mile below the Berwick and Towanda turnpike at Ellis' tavern, where they were engaged in fishing between four and five days, during which time they caught about fifteen hundred Trout, some of them of extra-ordinary size. A bountiful "mess" was kindly sent to the editor of the Emporium, (the largest Trout measuring full fourteen inches in length.) for which he begs the young gentlemen to accept his unfeign-ed acknowledgment. May they never fish in vain.

The victim was a son of "Billy" a drunken Choo taw, whom, doubtless, the reader has frequently en countered in the streets begging, and exhibiting written testimonials of his claims on public charity. reluctance. The most surprising part of the whole business was this, that the stranger holding the hand of the young lady, proceeded at once to the hand of the young lady, proceeded at once to the Devil's Clock, and giving one melancholy glance at the company, touched a spring and retired within its case.

As the door closed on the fatal couple, a murning that the control of the couple is the couple of the couple mur of horror ran through the assembled guests.

The unhappy father was so affected that he fainted away, and as sensation returned, declared that he skinned, as hunters skin a dear, and the skin was stretched and hung up on the limbs of a tree. Our New York Correspondence.

NEW YORK, June 24, 1852. MR. EDITOR:—If the rank and file of the Whig Party of this city, and indeed, of the Union, were left to pursue the promptings of their own inclina-tions and their better judgment, the Democratic candidates for the Presidency and Vice Presidency candidates for the Presidency and vice Presidency would be elected next fall, by a large majority.—
But the masses, having little leisure or inclination to investigate the merits of rival candidates, are obliged either to abstain from voting, or to follow the advice of those who assume to profess a full er forget what it is. Hence the importance of requiring of our leading and most active politicians, to whom much discretionary power is often given, the most sterling integrity, unsuspected love of republican institutions, and dogged faith in the power of God and the people.

I am happy to be able to say that the men who now stand at the head of the Democratic party in this city are men of sterling private character, and untiring energy and perseverance. They are determined also to take all fair and lawful means to put Franklin Pierce and Wm. R. King in the two highest offices in the gift of the people. It grieves me much as a N. Yorker, to be obliged to confess that it would be difficult to rake and scrape together from the four quarters of the globe, a more reckless, unprincipled set of fellows, in private as well as in public life, than the men who pull the wires for the louing the columns of their newpapers, the vilest slanders of our nominee; and many of them openly avow their determination to beat him—fairly if they can, but at any rate, beat him. But they can't. We have God and the Right on our side.

The news from California is quife encouraging for those who are interested in quartz mining. The most successful mine that is worked upon a large scale is the "Quartz Mining Company" in Grass Valley, most of the stock in which is held by two gentlemen formerly of Massachusetts, Mr. Crosset, of Boston, and Mr. Cook, of Nantucket. These gentlemen were the original proprietors of the "Claims" of the company. The California papers state that the stockholders receive monthly dividends of from ten to fifteen per cent. and that other companies having "claims" in Grass Valley will soon be started with equal chances of success.—

A company called the "Manhattan Company" of which Mr. J. A. Collins is President, and Horace of successThe shares are put low—at $100, which accounts in some measure for their rapid sale. Greeley and those interested with him are said to have feather-ied their nests handsomely, by mining;

It moves at a good pace being no less a velocity that 2550 yards per hour, ploughing about six acres in one day. The price of it is £300, or $1455. It requires an engineer and two laborers to attend it. Altogether this plough it very useful, and a decided improvement on all for-mer steam-ploughs. It will never be introduced into America, for the reason that it is too large and expensive. But while it will not become domesticated with us, it will be a production of much good. It will show our farmers what is doing is other parts of the world to make steam-power sub servient to man in tilling the earth. It will, no doubt, also afford many good hints to some of our inventors, for steam power will yet be employed more extensively for agricultural purposes in ou country than it is at present, especially in the West and Southwest regions. DR. JOHNSTON,

DR. JOHNSTON,
Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, Graduate from one of the most eminent Colleges of the United States and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the Hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia, and elsewhere, has affected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known. Many troubled with ringing in the ears and head when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, and bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended, sometimes, with derangement of mind, were cured immediately.

rangement of mind, were cured immediately.

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE.

Dr. J. addresses all those who have interested in the second of the secon themselves by private and improper indulgencies, that secret and solvary habits, which ruin both body and mind, unfitting them for either business body and mind, unfitting them for either business or society.

These are some of the sid and melancholy effects produced by early, habits of youth, viz: Weakness of the back and limbs, Pains in the head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irriability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. Mentally.—The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded: Loss of Memory, Confusion of Jacas, Depression of Spirits, Evil of Foreboding, Aversion of Society, Self Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, &c. are some of the evils produced.

Weakness of the system, Nervous Debility and premature decay generally arises from the destructive habit of youth, that solitary practice so fatal to the healthful existence of man, and it is the young who are the most apt to become its Victims from an ignorance of the dangers to which they subject themselves. Parents and Guardians are often misled with respect to the cause or source of disease in their sons and wards. Alas! how often do they ascribe to other causes the wasting of the frame, Palpitation of the Hea., Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Derangement of the Nervous System, Cough and Symptoms of Consumption, also those scrious Mental effects, such as loss of Memory, Depression of Spirits or peculiar fits of Melancholy, when NERYOUS DEBILITY. Mental effects, such as loss of memory, Depression of Spirits or peculiar fits of Melancholy, when the truth is they have been caused by judulging Pernicious but alluring practices, destructive to both Body and Mind. Thus are swept from existence thousands who might have been of use to their country, a pleasure to their friends, an ornament to scoretty. WEAKNESS OF THE ORGANS

WEARNESS OF THE ORGANS immediately cured and full vigor restored.
Oh, how happy have hundreds of misguided youths been made, who have been suddenly restored to health from the devastations of those terrific maladies which result from indiscretion. Such persons, before contemplating

should reflect that a sound mind and body are the should reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. Indeed, without this, the journey throlife becomes a weary pilgrimage; the prospect hourly darkens to the view; the mind becomes shadowed with despair, and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another becomes blighted with our own. Let no false delicacy prevent you, but apply immediately.

He who places himself under the care of Dr. JOHNSTON, may religiously confide in his honor as a Gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a Physician.

To STRANGERS.

The many thousands cured at this institution within the last ten years, and the numerous important Surgical Operations performed by Dr. J., witnessed by the Reporters of the papers and management witnessed by the Reporters of the papers and many other persons, notices of which have appeared again and again before the public, is a sufficient guarantee that the afflicted will find a skilful and honorable physician.

N. B.—Shun the numerous pretenders who call themselves Physicians, and apply to DR. JOHN-STON. Be not enticed from this office.
