Peter Gray.

1'Il tell you of a nice young man, Whose name was Peter Gray; The State where Peter Gray was born Was Pennsylva-ni-a.

When Peter he did fall in love

All with a nice young girl, The name of her I'm positive Was Lizzyanny Quirl. When they were going to be wed, Her father he said "No!"

And brutally he sent her off Beyond the O-hi-o When Peter heard his love was lost

He knew not what to say, He'd half a mind to jump into The Susquehan-ni-a. But he went trading to the west,

In furs and other skins, And there was caught, killed and drest By the bloody In-gi-ins. When Lizzyanny heard the news

She straightway went to bed, And never did get up again Until she di-i-ed.

Ye fathers all a warning take, Each one as has a girl,
And think upon poor Peter Gray

Selling Chickens to the Legisla## ture. While the Legislature of Missouri was in ses

After several ineffectual efforts to dispose of his load, a wag, to whom he had made an offer of sale, told him that he did not want chickens himself, but that perhaps he could self them at that large stone house over there, (the capi ol.) Thomas F. Meagher.

It is well known that this distinguished Irish patriot has determined to remain in the United States as an adopted citizen. The following correspondnce between the Hon. Messrs. Seymour, of New York, and McLanahan, of Pennsylvania, explains that the idea has been entertained of conferring upn Mr. Meagher, the privilege of American citizenship, by special law, and that the purpose has been abandoned only in view of the constitutional objecions to such a course. Concurring in the spirit of the correspondence, we commend it to the attention of our readers :-

WASHINGTON, June 21, 1852. SIR :- In common with many of my constituents FIR:—In common with many of my constituents and large numbers of our fellow-citizens throughout the country; I entertain a high appreciation of the talents and heroic efforts of Thomas F. Meagher, the distinguished Irish patriot now an exile in this ountry.

With a view of marking his patriotism more dis tinctly with the public approbation it has been pro-posed in many quarters that a law be passed by Congress for the special purpose of conferring upon im the privileges of an American citizen. By a resolution passed at a meeting of the citizens of the city of Troy, in my district, this subject has been pressed upon my particular consideration as their representative. As some doubts have been expressed of the constitutionality of such a law, I

My DEAR SIR :- I have received your estremed layor of the 21st instant, and would have acknowlto those who availed themselves of the provisions What the devil are you doing here with these of the treaty and thereby became citizens of this government. The subject was referred to the com-mittee of which I have the honor to be chairman, and was closely investigated. It soon became ar uniform rule of naturalization." The practice of the government from the beginning has been consistently in obedience to this clause. Not a single instance can be found upon our statute-books at vari-ance with this constitutional provision. The States delegated the power to Congress to pass naturalization laws, in order that the privileges and rights of a citizen of the United States might be conf aliens desiring to enjoy the advantages of a repub lican form of government, without distinction of persons, by a "uniform rule." Consequently, no legislation has taken place bestowing the rights o citizen anon any incividual who has not resided in this country the prescribed period of time, and complied with the requirements of the statutes which have been passed to carry out the injunctions of the fundamental law.

The character of Mr. Meagher, his services to his country, his inspiring and elevated eloquence his modest and unpretending deportment, his trial his captivity, and his escape, are all eminently cal culated to awaken in his behalf the active sympathies of a great, generous and progressive people Landing upon our shores, his first act was to enrol himself under our flag, and to decline every proffer-ed honor to himself while his country was enslaved sell before I'll take—Drat your hides, don't shove do honor to himself while his country was enslaved so hard, will you! you'll hurt them chickens, and and his companions were in exile. ## Fish for Food

The April number of "Hunt's Merchants' Magazine" contains an excellent article on the "Fisheries of the United States," from which we select the tollowing extract on the use of Fish for food:

More fish must be eaten in our own country.-We are growing fast, and with the rapid multipli-cation of mouths an additional substance will be needed to fill them. More fish should be called for by the new mouths, as well as more beef, corn and potatoes. But, apart from the prospect of increased numbers, the market at home is not as large, with sacred boon. There are general laws providing for the naturalization of all those who come to our shores, and here publicly declare before a court of loustice their intention of becoming citizens of the great consumers in our cities and towns. These people are problic. But surely here, as in the Roman republic, whose situation was so honorable, there may be taker cases peruliar in their nature and spection. other cases peculiar in their nature, and affecting Italiacious. Continual use of stimulating tood is inmen of such high and exalted character, that it jurious to the system, and especially in the summable exceptions to the general rule, they will serve the mer season, when meat is, in any state, not particularly wholesome, and when animals are known to pair its force. I refer to those who, having, like Emmett half a century since, and Meagher of late, to be wondered at that where flesh is a considerable stood forth in their native land the acknowledged article of lood, at this season, those malignant dis eases called summer complaints should be espec

Light food is required in warm weather, and if men do not in that season force themselves to the use of stimulating yiands, they will easily adapt themselves to: light substances. But it is certain heir health will be better at all seasons by varying their diet, substituting partially a weaker food for the uniformly strong to which they are so devoted. And by usage nature will be just as well satisfied n this way as the other. A great number of la-oring men, will of course, deny the correctness of our argument, but there is a class, and a large class oo, who cannot fail to acknowledge its validity.

We refer to the adopted citizens, natives of Ire-

Following the directions, our friend soon found himself at the door of the Hall of Representatives.

To open it and enter was the work of a moment. Taking from his shoulder the string of chickens, and giving them a shake, to freshen them, he commenced his journey towards the Spraker's chair, the fowls, in the meantume, lousily expressing, from the half-formed crow to the harsh quaark, their botly presence, and their sense of bodily pain.
