before known, the conclusion is inevitable that has been commenced to bring the guilty perpetra-tors of the Henry Clay murder to justice, and we hope it will be persisted in. Warrants have been issued at New York by the United States Marshal Mr. EDITOR:—Having had occasion to visit the restern part of Pennsylvania, on my way I delaydd aday at the Capital of the State. During my tay there, I took a walk to view the Legislative western part of Pennsylvania, on my way I delayed a day at the Capital of the State. During my stay there, I took a walk to view the Legislative Halls, public buildings and offices of government. These beautiful buildings and elevated ground on which they stand, and the variety of trees on the surrounding ground make a splendid appearance—and the pure and fresh air you breathe is calculated to enliven, elevate and give vigor to the mind—from the dome of the Capito I was much delighted with the beautiful view of the handsome town of Harrisburg, and the range of mountains and beautiful surrounding scenery which were presented to my eyes for several miles.

I also visited the Governor's rooms, which are neatly furnished and fitted up. I was kindly received by the Governor in a gentlemanly, plain and Republican style, without ostentation. In his conversation he is free and frank, and gives evidence of sound judgment and great firmness. His pleasing and cheerful countenance is an indication of goodness of heart, which makes all who visit him feel at case. During my conversation with him the counter that the counter of the two many of the capital provides that if by the misconduct of the capitain, pilot, or other persons employed on board, in their respective duties, the life or said captain or others shall be deemed guilty of manslaughter, the trial to be before any Circuit founds.

The arrest of Mr. Collier was based on the idea that sing and cheerial countenance is a literature sing and cheerial countenance is a literature goodness of heart, which makes all who visit him feel it ease. During my conversation with him which lasted more than an hour, an incident of a pleasing character took place. A youth entered the room, and with a smiling countenance presented to the Governor a handsome bunch of flowers, tastefully put up with the following note:

"Governor Bioler—Sir: Your Honor will please accept, with the compliments of the donor, this small tribute of respect, as an appreciation of your good and well guided judgment in the important good and well guided judgment in the important of the compliments of the feebler Sex."

This small tribute of respect was gratifying to my being an owner of the vessel, and on board at the time, he came under the denomination of persons employed on board. Mr. Radford was not on board at the time. The same amount of bail will be re-quired for the captain and other officers against

His pathway is sirewed with flowers. Providence has raised him up from a poor Printer boy to honor and distinction, and has designed him for yet greater and more useful purposes at the head of our State Government.

I am thus far on my return home from the West and North West—much pleased with my trip. From my intercourse with all classes of men, without deviating from the truth and according to my judgment, Pierce and King will have an old fashioned majoraty, such as there was in the days of Jackson. The Washington, August 3.

Senate.—A large number of petitions were presented, and appropriately referred.

The Chair presented a message from the President of the United States, in answer to the resolution of the United States, in answer to the resolution of the United States, in answer to the resolution for the United States, in an answer to the resolution for the United States, in an answer to the resolution for the United States, in an answer to the resolution for the United States, in an analysis of the United States and United State tion of Mr. Mason, calling for information respecing the Fisheries, accompanied with the Report of the acting Secretary of State. Scarcity of Water.

The New York papers inform us that the Croton river has been found insufficient to supply the population of that city with water, owing to the lavish and wasteful manner in which it is used. The subject has been made a matter of inquiry by the au-thorities, and the following are some of the facts reported by the Committee:

The minimum flow of the Croton during a r are minimum now of the Ground uning a drought is less than 27,000,000 gallons in 24 hours.

Now all that flow is brought to this city, and yet the notice that after Mhodak the 16th proxime, all supply is now down in the receiving reservoirs more than three feet lower than the top water line, and the distributing reservoir is not full by ten feet. The ntity that can be delivered in one day is limited to the capacity of two pipes of three feet diameter, so that if the Croton River could afford us any greater supply, we could not get out of the diffi-culty for some time. The Committee state that the cost per gallon is three-fourths of a cent, and the cost per gailon is inrec-lourins of a cent, and that the daily loss by waste amounts to $500,000 per annum. The Committee conclude their report by the suggestion that, unless our citizens voluntarily refrain from the waste, it will be necessary to pass an ordinance stopping the supply of water to all steam vessels; to interdict the use of street-washers for two or three months, and to close all public and private fountains, and to compet the reet sprinklers to obtain their supply from the

THE TEHULETEPEC GRANTS .-- The Louisville Times has an article on this subject, in which the tollowing facts, the editor says, have never been made public:

Rivers.'

It will be remembered that Commodore Porter of our navy, engaged in the service of Mexico during her revolution against Spain, and continued in her navy until the close of the struggle. After the war was closed, Mexico offered him a grant of land him the selection of it. He selected the region ly-ing about the Gulf-side terminus of the present proing about the coin-side terminals of the present purposed Tehuantener crute, which his sagacity, even at that early day, taught him would be inevitably demanded by the commerce of the world. Com. Porter possessed himself of, and preserved, deposited in an iron box, well secured, the evidences of this grant, and at his death bequeathed them to his son, Lt. Porter, now of our navy. This box, a few days after the death of Com. Porter in Washington days after the death of Com. Porter in Washington city, was found to have been abstracted from the place where he had always kept it, and has never been recovered to this day. But there can be no doubt of the binding force of this grant, and its priority to all other grants of the same ground. We presume that the evidences of it are in existence among the archives of the Maxican Government, and we have reason to believe that Col. Sloo, who has been intimately associated with, and perhaps is an authorized agent of Lieut. Porter, made this grant the basis of his successful application to the grant the basis of his successful application to the Mexican Government for the grant he which has obtained. If such a grant as that to Com. Porter is to be found among the records of the Mexican Go rnment, and we have no doubt of its existence, of course nuilines all subsequent grants and takes precedence, and our own Government, with the proofs of it presented, would of course be compeled to withdraw from insisting upon the Garay or Hargous grant. GEN. PIERCE IN MEXICO.—The editor of the Fort Smith (Ark.) Herald, who was a soldier in the Mexican war, thus speaks of Gen. Pierce: "It was our fortune to become acquainted with him personally during the Mexican war, when he commanded one of the brigades of 3en. Pillow's division of the army; and we have seen him paricipate in nearly every perilous battle field in the valley of Mexico, and can speak of him, knowingly as a brave and chivalrous soldier, and one of the most gentlemanly officers of the army.

SAVANNAH, Aug. 3.—A disastrous conflagration occurred here this alternoon, destroying seventy houses, and involving a loss of from $75,000 to $100,000. The flames swept every thing, from Hubby street north to Margaret street, south as far as Laurel street and east to Canal street. The houses were principally of wood, and thus the prohouses were principally of wood, and thus the progress of the fire was with difficulty arrested. One hundred families are left houseless.
