HENRY CLAY.

The Nation mourns her noble CLAY, Whose spirit freed, has passed away From Earth to that "mysterious bourne, Whence no travellers e'er return." Well may she mourn, for ne'er again, In fiery, soirit-stirring straina, Will he be heard in Council Hall, To hayle at his country's call. Will be be heard in Council Hall, To battle at his country's call. Yet demostrations sublime, grand, From sea to sea, throughout the land, Evince the glories that await The death of man when truly great: From North to South, from East to West, A saddened thought pervades each breast. The rich, the poor, the high and low, And they in life his mortal foe, Admiring friends, and friends more dear, In sortow shed affection's tear. From first his brilliant course began, From hist his equal rights of man; He plead the equal rights of man; "Twas his 'mid maddened, phrenzied throngs, "Twas his "mid maddened, pinentread In withering words to cite the wrongs Of Nations struggling to be free— His motto "Right and Liberty." When in that far-off sunny clime, Where CHIMBORAZO rears sublime Where CHIMBORAZO rears sublime Its sunny crest and lurid flame, Freemen fought for rights not fame, In thunder tones his voice was heard When Greece—that classic land—once free! The cradle of Democracy ! For Human rights too long deferred. When Greece—that classic land—once free The cradle of Democracy! Of freemen once the pride and boast, Was nushed beneath a Moslem host, When murderous shout and savage yell, Was heard in mountain pass and doll, When lovely women! helpless age! Alike fell victims to the rage Of savage Turk—a brutal los! Long dead to shame and human woe, Of tyranny and galling chains, ->Twas then he spoke in turning strains, And called on freemen all to save Tottering Greece from Freedom's grave; His words were heard across the sea, Were echeed at Thermopylae! And Salamis 1 and heard upon The classic plains of Marathon ! And when dread gloom our land o'erspread And Salamis! and heard upon The classic plains of Marahon! And when dread gloom our land o'erspread, When faction reared its Hydra head To crush the Union! then 'twas he, The land a series the series heat To crush the Union't their true to by The land to save from anarchy, Brought forth those measures, great and wise, The glorious, far-famed CostROMISE, Till earth and sky shall pass away, We'll ne'er forget the name of CLAY. L. M. MARIETTA, August 5, 1852.

A Double Execution. WOMAN AND MAN HUNG AT POUGH-KEEPSIE.

On Friday, July 30th, Ann Hoag and Jas. Williams, were hung at Poughkeepsie, New York .---The Times gives the following account of the vic.

tims and their execution:

meet the awful fate that awaited her. As the hour of 12 o'clock, M, approached, she prayed fervently with the clergymen, and asked God to forgive her and receive her soul. The colored man exhibited a penitent feeling, and in his prayers asked the for giveness his of Creator.

The doorned prisoners were attired in dresses of white cambric. At 29 minutes before 12 A. M., they were conducted to the gallows, and placed side by side under the scaffold. The female looked exby side under the scathold. The temaie looked ex-ceedingly pale, and her bright blue eyes beamed with an expression of sadness und despondency.— She was about five feet eight inches in height, sien-der form, small featured, with fair skin and auburn hair. Her appearance was that of a female not over 22 years of age, although she was, in fact, past 31 years.

The negro was 5 feet 11 inches in height, of a large, muscular build, with a dogged, animal-looking countenance. Ann was quite resolute, exhibi-ting much firmness to the last moment. At 14 minutes to 12 o'clock, Sheriff Morey shock At 14 minutes to 12 octock, Sherin Morey shook hands with each of them. and said:---God bless you: I trust your sins are forgiven." Ann replied: 'I feel that I am to be saved. God bless you, dear Sheriff, for your kindness towards me." An appro-priate and affecting prayer was offered by Mr. Waldo. The arms of the condemned were pinion-ed; and as the rope was placed around the neck of each the death warrants were read and the white each, the death warrants were read, and the white caps drawn over their faces.

At 1124 o'clock both ropes were severed by the Sheriff and Deputy Myers, the weights fell, and the bodies were suspended about two feet from the floor. Ann Hoig died comparatively easy, and in a few seconds her body was motionless. The ne-gro struggled for nearly five minutes, during which time be seemed to be in great agony. His whole frame was convulsed, and shuddered at intervals.— His legs were drawn nearly double. After being

This legs were drawn nearly double. After being suspended about an hour, they were pronounced dead by Drs. F. Dezo, Thorn, and Cooper, Jr., and were cut down, deposited in coffins, and interred in grounds belonging to the Court House. During the past week Ann Hoag made a full confession, which covers nearly 70 pages of fools-cap paper, in which she declared William Summers her confluents in the murder. Summers in some nfederate in the murder. Summers is no in the County Jail. awaiting his trial as an accessory before the fact in the awful crime. The confession was placed in the hands of Mr. Pitt, Editor of the Poughkeepsie American, with instructions to publish the same in pamphlet form, for the benefit of six unfortunate orphans who are left to the cold charities of the world. We also learn that the mother had property amounting to $300, which she placed in the hands of the Rev. Mr. Waldo, for the benefit of her children.

Love of Country

BT REV. E. W. HUTTER.

Love of country, by some pretended philosophers and dogmatists, is described as not entitled to a place in the catalogue of human virtues They affect to regard it as an attachment, narrow and contracted, because in its comprehensive grasp it encircles not, like the arm of God, all mankind But, how tutile the logic-the arguments how flinsy and fallacions! The wisdom of our Creator hath linked us, by indissoluble ties of natural affection, first of our bretheren, our "kinsmen according to flesh," then to our familiar friends and accouging tances-and then the community, State. and Na tion, under whose benign auspices our lot is cast. These are high and holy instincts, implanted by Deity's own finger, and they are like all things Di-vine, bo h wise and fruitful of g od. Our affections, like our wealth, our learning, and our every other talent, may be so dissipated upon space, as to con-fer no real benefit whatever. Whereas, centered upon local objects, expended upon cherished domesthe interests. Like the collected rays of the sun, they smoke and burn like holy incense ascending from a holy altar.

Our hearth-stones to be enjoyed, must be more relolent of bliss than of strangers. The rivers of Babylon, in Israel's ears, flowed not near so gently, Ann Hoag, as is well known, was sentenced to | and to his eyes, sparaled not near so brig vicissitude of for une, from the bel of Death it self, the heart goes back in a receding current of affection, like the returning shadow on the dial plate of Ah z Other climes are not near so grateful. Other fields are not near so teeming with ver-dure! The love of country, what ver dogmatists and self-styled philosophers may affirm to the con trary, is a virtue, and that of the cardinal sort. Nor is it incompatible with the pure precepts of the Sa-vior's gos; el. Jesus himself made the lost sheep of the house of Israel his first care. He came to his awn, though his own received him not. His diciples, armed with miraculous power, he commissioned to go into all the world, and preach His everlasting gospel to every creature, but they were to begin at Jerusalem. The patriarch Jacob loved his land so well, that upon his dying bed he extracted from his weeping children the promise to carry back his bones out of Egypt, and deposit, them with those of his pious ancestors. These home affections, it is clear, then, even the monster Death has no power to extinguish. Though the vase he dashed into pieces, to every fragment does the scent of the roses cling. The citizen of the United States does, then, we on her interest of the online of the source, then, we on her interest a source of the source of the source of the so her people, and her interests, a deeper and a more fervent attachment, than he owes to the in stitutions and interests of England, or France, or Italy, or Holland, or Spain. And he, who of this sentiment is destitute, so far from being filled with a world-like sympathy, it is to be feared, is devoid of all sympathy. The blood that courses in his veins, it is to be feared, is cold as that which creeps sluggishly under the torpid skin of the viper,-Such an one, it were not calumny to suspect, like the Turk, could be bribed by a handful of sequins, to sell father and mother into bondage. This at-tachment, I admit, like any other noble impulse, is susceptible of abuse. It may be carried to un-justifiable extremes. "Our country, right or wrong," is a maxim tounded in bad logic and worse morals. The right, God's eternal and immutable right, be-read the countries of the earth. The right above fore all the countries of the earth. The right, above and beyond every other consideration, which can cause a single chord in the human heart to vibrate. "Let Justice be done, though the instance tall." But, our country, the right upon her side,

Led on blindly by guilty ion, the ill-starred woman plunged into passion, the instants of virtue, reputation, hus-and degradation; renounced virtue, reputation, hus-band, and children, until at last she murdered her husband, with the deliberate purpose of removing all barriers to the complete abandonment of herself to crime. It was in July, 1851, that she resolved to commit the atrocious crime of taking the life of her husband, which purpose she accomplished by mingling arsenic with his daily food until he died. In the month of March following she was tried and convicted, and the sentence of death pronounced by Hon. Judge Barculo, who fixed the day of execurion. Judge Darchin, who inter the day of execu-tion on the 7th of May, 1852. As the appointed, time for the execution approached, a respite was granted until the 30th of July, as the unfortunate anted until the soun of saily, as the unfortunate oman was again about to become a mother. Jonas Williams was a negro. He was born in the town of Horsepeck, Dutches county, in the year 1825, and was reared on a farm in that vicinity.— About three years ago, he married a widowed col-ored woman, with two daughters. In the month of January, 1851, the heartless villain took advan-tage of the absence of his wile and other child, and committed a fiendish outrage upon the person of his other candyachter, named Amelia Poe, aged only committee a neurosu ourage upon the person of dis other step-daughter, named Amelia Poe, aged only eleven years and six months, who died in a few days from the revolting injuries inflicted upon her. For this crime the brutal murderer was tried, convicted, and condemned to death at the March term of the Court of Oyer and Terminer. He was senon the control over and the third of May last, but re-spited by the Executive until the 30th of July.— Strenuous efforts were made to induce the Governor to commute the sentence of both criminals to im prisonment for life; but after a careful examination of the testimony. Gov. Hunt arrived at the concluthere was not sufficient grounds to justify such commutation, and so advised the Sheriff. During yesterday afternoon, the scaffold was erected in the vestibule of the Court House, attacherected in the vestione of the Court House, attach-ed to the jail, in Main street, Poughkeepsie, under the direction of Sheriff Morey, and his efficient dep-uty, John B. Myers, Esq. The cordage was rigged at each end, with weights (one weighing 173 where 2.48 poughs) tested at the at each end, with weighns, (one weighing 173 pounds and the other 248 pounds,) tastened to the end of the ropes outside of the uprights of the scaf-fold. They should love it, as a mother loves her own offspring.

THE AMERICAN WORLD'S FAIR .- We stated in yesterday's American that the arrangements for the exhibition of the indust V of all nations to take place in New York, in May next, were definitely announced. The exhibition is to be held in a building erected for the purpose at Reservoir Square, the use of which has been granted by the authorities of N. York. The construction of the building is to be proceeded with at once, some $200,000 having already been subscribed for that purpore. Mr Chas, Buschell late Austrian Commissioner at the London Exhibition, has been appointed agent of the Associaround the building seeking to gain admission.— The interior of the jail and court house were under charge of Constable Graham and the Sheriff's aids, who preserved perfect order and decorum. The condermed were in separate rooms, adjoin-ing the vestibule, in company with their spiritual adviaers, Rev. Mr. Ferris, and Rev. When that's over, we want something rational. Do you ever think of that, you selfish wretch, when you sit with your feet upon the mantel-piece, reading the newspaper all to yourself, or sit from tea-time till ten o'clock, staring the ashes in the grate out of Lord Harry! TAKE PARTICULAR, NOTICE.

Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured

thenselves by private and improper indulgencies, that secret and solvary habits, which run both body and mind, unfitting them for either basiness body and mind, unfitting them for either business or society. These are some of the sad and melancholy ef-fects produced by early habits of youth, viz : Weakness of the back and limbs, Pains in the head, Dimness of Sight, loss of Muscular Power, Pal-piration of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irria-bility. Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. Mentally.—The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded : Loss of Micmory, Confusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Evil of Forebo-ding, Aversion of Society, Self Distrust, Love of Solutude, Timidity, &c. are some of the evils pro-duced.

NERVOUS DEBILITY.

NERVOUS DEBILITY. Weakness of the system, Nervous Debility and premature decay generally arises from the destruct-ive habit of youth, that solitory practice so fatal to the healthful existence of man, and it is the young who are the most apt to become its Victims from an ignorance of the dangers to which they subject themselves. Parents and Guardians are often mis-led with respect to the cause or source of diservice led with respect to the cause or source of disease in their sons and wards. Alas! how often do they in their sons and wards. Alas! how often do they ascribe to other causes the wassing of the-frame, Palpitation of the Hea., Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Derangement of the Nervous System. Cough and Symptoms of Consumption, also those serious Mental effects, such as loss of Memory, Deptes-sion of Spirits or peculiar fits of Melancholy, when the truth is they have been caused by indulging Pernicious but alluring practices, destructive to both Body and Mind. Thus are swept from ex-istence thousands who might have been of use to their country, a pleasure to their friends, an orna-ment to society.

ment to society. WEAKNESS OF THE ORGANS immediately cured and full vigor restored. Oh, how happy have hundreds of misguided youths been made, who have been suddenly resto-red to health from the devastations of those terrific maladies which result from indiscretion. Such persons, before comemplating MARRIAGE, should reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote commbnal happiness. Indeed, without this, the journey thro' life becomes a weary pilgrimage; the prospect bourly darkens to the view; the mind becomes shadowed with despin; and filed with the melan-choly reflection that the happiness of another be-comes blighted with our own.
