

FOR PRESIDENT:
GEN. FRANKLIN PIERCE
OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT:
COL. WILLIAM R. KING
OF ALABAMA.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS.
SENATORIAL.
NATHANIEL E. BARNES, Wayne.
WILLIAM M'CALLISTER, Allegheny.
ADDITIONAL DISTRICT.
ROBERT PATTERSON, Philadelphia.

The Presidential Election will take place on TUESDAY NEXT, the 24 day of November.

Death of Mr. Webster.
The Philadelphia papers of yesterday brought the melancholy intelligence of the death of DANIEL WEBSTER, the great American Statesman, and one of the most eminent men of the age. His disease was Chronic Diarrhea, and he expired at his late residence at Marshfield, near Boston, on Saturday morning, in the 70th year of his age.

Get Your Tickets.
The Democratic Electoral Ticket, for this county, is now printed and ready for distribution to township and borough committees. Apply to WILKINSON MERRITT, Esq., who has the tickets in charge.

Democrats of the City!
Recollect that the Polls close on Tuesday next at 7 O'CLOCK in the evening. At that election you lost a number of votes in consequence of the early hour at which the Polls closed. See to it that none are too late next time. By all means have every voter at the Court House before 7 o'clock on you will again be too late.

Vigilance Committees.
To act as auxiliary to the regular Ward Committees of the City of Lancaster, appointed by Dr. J. O. Miller, Chairman of the Democratic City Meeting, held on Saturday the 14th inst.

Agricultural State Fair.
This great Exhibition came off, according to appointment, on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday last, and such a vast assemblage of people we have never witnessed any where or upon any occasion. We have no means of estimating the number of strangers present; but, I think that thirty thousand would be rather under than above the mark.

Scott Raked For and Anti-Terrific Dilapidation in the Heart of his Unfortunables!
The effect of the recent overwhelming Democratic victories in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and other States, is mournfully visible in the elongated countenances of our Whig friends. We have not seen a single Scott man smile since the returns first began to pour in from the gallant Keystone; and the old hero himself, alarmed by the new and unexpected "fire in the rear" with which he was assailed, suddenly dropped all thought of that "siege" for which he has been so industriously looking for the last few weeks, and made straight tracks for Head Quarters without coming this way to see the great Agricultural Fair, as he had promised to do. A more precipitate retreat was never beaten, nor was a retreat ever made with such bad grace.

Scott Raked For and Anti-Terrific Dilapidation in the Heart of his Unfortunables!
The effect of the recent overwhelming Democratic victories in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and other States, is mournfully visible in the elongated countenances of our Whig friends. We have not seen a single Scott man smile since the returns first began to pour in from the gallant Keystone; and the old hero himself, alarmed by the new and unexpected "fire in the rear" with which he was assailed, suddenly dropped all thought of that "siege" for which he has been so industriously looking for the last few weeks, and made straight tracks for Head Quarters without coming this way to see the great Agricultural Fair, as he had promised to do. A more precipitate retreat was never beaten, nor was a retreat ever made with such bad grace.

Scott Raked For and Anti-Terrific Dilapidation in the Heart of his Unfortunables!
The effect of the recent overwhelming Democratic victories in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and other States, is mournfully visible in the elongated countenances of our Whig friends. We have not seen a single Scott man smile since the returns first began to pour in from the gallant Keystone; and the old hero himself, alarmed by the new and unexpected "fire in the rear" with which he was assailed, suddenly dropped all thought of that "siege" for which he has been so industriously looking for the last few weeks, and made straight tracks for Head Quarters without coming this way to see the great Agricultural Fair, as he had promised to do. A more precipitate retreat was never beaten, nor was a retreat ever made with such bad grace.

Pennsylvania Election.
We publish below the full official vote at the recent election in all the counties in the State, which foot up the handsome majority of 19,721 for Wm. H. FORBES, for Canal Commissioner, and AS. S. 7411 for Gov. W. Woodward, for Judge of the Supreme Court. The Democracy of our State may well be proud of this result, achieved as it was over the combined and untiring efforts of the unscrupulous Federal press and orators of this and neighboring States. This is but the beginning of the end—the precursor of a still more glorious triumph on Tuesday next.

OFFICIAL VOTE.—1852.
Whig.	Dem.	Whig.	Dem.
Adams,	1659	2197	1672	2191
Allegheny,	6580	7146	6539	7067
Armstrong,	1891	1447	1764	1714
Beaver,	1653	1508	1508	1508
Bedford,	2045	2026	2032	2032
Berks,	1732	2748	2685	3538
Bucks,	2518	2518	2518	2518
Butler,	3097	2458	3058	2432
Carlisle,	2408	4810	3418	4772
Centre,	2176	2431	2130	2463
Clearfield,	2232	1120	1814	2133
Clinton,	1188	1020	1104	1104
Columbia,	1388	1774	1841	1884
Crawford,	1668	2175	2662	2197
Cumberland,	974	2745	2927	2792
Dauphin,	2518	2185	2810	3071
Delaware,	1644	2020	1520	2001
Elk,	2077	112	242	181
Fayette,	2180	2257	2165	2247
Franklin,	3107	2423	3109	2405
Greene,	774	649	779	646
Harrisburg,	1821	2095	1710	2076
Hempden,	1464	1942	1460	1939
Heron,	1007	793	1031	858
Indiana,	2185	2210	2210	2210
Juniata,	6698	9986	6526	9741
Lancaster,	1048	1685	1026	1719
Lawrence,	1762	2224	1747	2273
Lebanon,	3193	2432	3161	2472
Lefebvre,	4894	3141	4896	3268
Lycoming,	3983	1912	3499	1795
Mechanic,	2518	270	2518	270
Mercer,	2556	2079	2558	1958
Mifflin,	1448	1253	1487	1231
Monroe,	1647	320	1647	320
Montgomery,	3024	4120	2923	4121
Montour,	1319	717	1317	756
Norfolk,	318	2174	3321	2038
Norumberland,	2918	3259	2918	3259
Northampton,	1901	1172	1952	1112
Northumberland,	2918	3259	2918	3259
Philadelphia,	4235	8041	4562	8782
Richmond,	1760	1592	1862	1313
Schuylkill,	392	175	390	166
Snyder,	4232	2477	3960	3755
Somerset,	2470	1548	2417	1351
Stewart,	354	163	373	163
Tioga,	2247	1292	2248	1222
Todd,	1827	1827	1827	1827
Venango,	1559	828	1562	821
Warren,	1229	982	1246	1035
Washington,	2675	2675	2675	2675
Westmoreland,	1947	413	1959	474
York,	1029	744	1158	711
York,	4390	1445	4538	2417
Total,	171154	151433	172473	150393
Majorities,	19721		18741

Next Tuesday.
RECOLLECT THAT TUESDAY THE PRESIDENTIAL election is to be decided, and upon that decision may depend the destiny of our great country for many years to come. The issues involved in this election are of transcendent importance, and every Democrat should consider well the duty he owes to his party, his country, and the cause of liberty throughout the world.

Democrats of Lancaster County!
Are you ready for the battle on Tuesday next? Have your torches ready and bonfires being carefully canvassed and efficiently organized? Have arrangements been made to bring out to the polls your entire strength? And will you see to it that conveyances are provided so that the aged and infirm may be conveyed to the election, whether it rains or hails, snows or shines? Every vote in the county should be polled, and it must be done in a way that will prevent the Whig majority from swelling beyond what was two weeks ago. There are at least sixty-five hundred good and true Democrats in the County who should cast their suffrages for Pierce and King, besides many others who have heretofore acted with the opposition, but are sick and tired of voting for men whose sole claim to the Chief Magistracy of the Republic rests upon their military achievements alone, and nothing else.

Democrats of Lancaster County!
Once more to the breach. You have one week left to thoroughly organize and concentrate all your energies. Do your duty like men. Show that you are worthy of your ancient renown. After Tuesday next, when the battle is fought and won, as it will be won if the Democracy do their duty, you can repose upon your laurels, with the proud consciousness of having discharged your whole duty gallantly, nobly, fearlessly.

Democrats Remember TUESDAY NEXT, the 24 day of November.
A few words to our friends.
This will be the last opportunity that we will have of addressing our brethren in the remote districts of the county prior to the Presidential election. We congratulate one and all upon the grand result which we have achieved in Pennsylvania. Our majority upon the State ticket is nearly 20,000. What Democrat, what friend and lover of our Institutions is there who will not feel proud of such a brilliant victory? It has been carried with all the speed of lightning to the very remotest corners of our continent, response after response has come up; bonfires, salutes, torch-light processions in every State in our almost boundless Confederacy have been gotten up in honor of the gallant and patriotic exertions of the sons of the old Keystone State. Simultaneously with our victory, the hardy sons of Ohio, Indiana, Alabama, Florida, fall into line with handsome Democratic majorities for their State tickets.

Mr. Buchanan's Speech at Greenburg.
In allusion to this great speech, the Boston Post says: "Hon. James Buchanan's speech, delivered at Greenburg, Pa., is an effort worthy of the high reputation of this great statesman. It is a masterly presentation of the politics of the country; calm and yet strong; admirable in its arrangement, characterized by maturity of thought, such as large experience only can give, and marked by the purest patriotism. It is one of the best speeches which the contest has elicited; and were not our columns so pre-occupied with matter requiring attention, we should regard it as a masterpiece. Throughout the whole of the struggle this distinguished Democrat has borne himself with admirable ability and propriety."

Meeting at Contewille.
A very large and enthusiastic meeting of the Democracy was held at Contewille, Chester Co., on Friday evening last, which was addressed by Messrs. Frazier and Sanderson, of Lancaster. Chester County will give a good account of herself.

A Presidential Estimate.
The New York National Democrat states, that during the visit of Secretary Corwin to that city, he was solicited to give his opinion as to the approaching Presidential result. That distinguished functionary, of Galphin notoriety, was compelled to concede that Pierce and King would certainly carry the following States: Virginia, Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, South Carolina, Missouri, Illinois, Michigan, Iowa, California, New Hampshire and Massachusetts. These States have 123 electoral votes.

After the Galphin Secretary had got so far in his estimate, continues the Democrat, he saw that Pennsylvania or New York would elect Pierce, so he would not do to include them among the Pierce and King States. Ohio and New Jersey would also have been sufficient to elect the Democratic nominees—so these States must be assumed for Scott. North Carolina, Indiana and Maine would have defeated Scott, had the Secretary included them among the States he conceded to Pierce. New Jersey, Maryland and Maine would have had the same effect, had the Secretary given them to Pierce and King. Tennessee, Connecticut and Maine would have accomplished the same result under the same circumstances.

Now, not one of the States named, but a certain number for Pierce and King. The impudence of the Secretary, in not conceding such States as Maine, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and some others, to Pierce and King, fully equals the rascality of the Galphin business.

A friend sends the following estimate of the result, which he says will prove correct and is a much better one than that of the Galphin Secretary:

State	Electors	Whig	Dem.
New York	35	13	22
Pennsylvania	27	10	17
Ohio	23	10	13
Indiana	11	4	7
Illinois	12	5	7
Michigan	11	5	6
Wisconsin	10	4	6
California	9	4	5
Alabama	9	4	5
Total for Pierce and King		70	107

Joel L. Sever.
One of the public Whig Orators played Abse by the name of Mr. Slicer, of the Methodist Church. We have read, with great satisfaction, the address of the Rev. Henry Slicer, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, long and favorably known as the eloquent chaplain of the United States Senate, stationed for some years at Carlisle, in this State, and subsequently in the State of Maryland.

What party abandoned their own ticket in the election of Gen. Scott? I think it was the Whigs. What party abandoned their own ticket in the election of Gen. Scott? I think it was the Whigs.

What party abandoned their own ticket in the election of Gen. Scott? I think it was the Whigs.

What party abandoned their own ticket in the election of Gen. Scott? I think it was the Whigs.

What party abandoned their own ticket in the election of Gen. Scott? I think it was the Whigs.

City and County Items.
The exhibition of good horses and saddle horses, for which our State is becoming famous, produced much excitement at the Fair last week. Magnificent equines were seen in all directions. Carriages, Barouches and Buggies swept along in course of beautiful style, eliciting great admiration. The splendid old Black horses of our friend Col. SARRAZ, C. STAMBAUGH, so closely matched as to render it almost impossible to distinguish one from the other, attracted much attention as he drove them in gallant style around the circle for great advantage, showing their matches beauty speed and training. The Col. did not enter them for the premium, although they would have taken it.

Two magnificent Bees were placed in our city this morning, by Mr. PETER A. STRONG, of this city. We understand they have exhibited at the Fair last week, and although no premium was awarded to Mr. S., he deserved one—for they cannot be beat.

The new Board of County Commissioners organized on the 13th inst., and re-elected all the old officers.

The new Board of County Commissioners organized on the 13th inst., and re-elected all the old officers.

The new Board of County Commissioners organized on the 13th inst., and re-elected all the old officers.

The new Board of County Commissioners organized on the 13th inst., and re-elected all the old officers.

The new Board of County Commissioners organized on the 13th inst., and re-elected all the old officers.

The new Board of County Commissioners organized on the 13th inst., and re-elected all the old officers.

The new Board of County Commissioners organized on the 13th inst., and re-elected all the old officers.

Mr. Buchanan's Speech.
We make the following extract from the great speech delivered by Hon. JAMES BUCHANAN, at Greenburg, on the 7th inst., and invite for it the careful perusal of every Democrat and every Whig in the country. The whole argument is a perfect exhortation upon Gen. Scott's pretensions to statesmanship, and is a "fire in the rear" from which it will be impossible for him to escape.

"Mr. Clay led the Senate the acknowledged leader and the favorite Presidential candidate of the great Whig party. Under these circumstances, it became necessary for General Scott to do something to head his great rival and prevent him from remaining in the saddle. He must prove himself to be as good a Whig as Henry Clay, and in addition a much better anti-mason. It was the common remark of the day when this letter of October 1841 appeared, that he had no other resource than to make the gratuitous letter making himself a candidate, in which all sorts of unwise things were said to return and plague his friends, if he should be a candidate."

"The Judiciary." Gen. Scott expresses his conviction that the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States, on all constitutional questions, should be considered final and conclusive by the people and especially by their functionaries. It is indeed, in the case of a Judicial decision enlarging power and against liberty. And how is such a decision to be corrected? Why forsooth? "any dangerous error of this sort, he says, cannot be corrected by an amendment of the Constitution, in one of the modes prescribed by that instrument." Easily corrected! It might be so if a military order could accomplish the object; but an amendment of the Constitution of the States, whether effected by an act of Congress or by the people, is almost a political impossibility to accomplish it, in by far the least practicable of the two modes prescribed, the affirmative action of two-thirds of both Houses of Congress, and the negative of three-fourths of the Legislature, is required. With these obstacles in the way, whenever an amendment of the Constitution ever be made.

"The Concerts.
The Concerts lately held, at Fulton Hall, were well attended by the citizens and strangers. That given by celebrated Violinist, ORT BELL, on Thursday evening, was a perfect gem—not less than twelve hundred tickets having been sold. He was assisted by Marie Stroschek, on the Piano, and Adeline Parry—the latter a little girl of some eight or nine years of age, whose singing was the delight and admiration of all. But the great attraction was ORT BELL himself, whose performance on the Violin cannot be surpassed. He gave another concert on Saturday evening, which was also well attended, and in which it is said he even exceeded his former playing.

"A Catechism for Adopted Citizens.
Who passed a law in 1797 extending the period of Naturalization from five to fourteen years? Answer—The Federal Whigs.

"A Catechism for Adopted Citizens.
Who passed a law in 1797 extending the period of Naturalization from five to fourteen years? Answer—The Federal Whigs.

"A Catechism for Adopted Citizens.
Who passed a law in 1797 extending the period of Naturalization from five to fourteen years? Answer—The Federal Whigs.

"A Catechism for Adopted Citizens.
Who passed a law in 1797 extending the period of Naturalization from five to fourteen years? Answer—The Federal Whigs.

"A Catechism for Adopted Citizens.
Who passed a law in 1797 extending the period of Naturalization from five to fourteen years? Answer—The Federal Whigs.

reaching the Presidential chair. In his letter accepting the nomination, he says—"In regard to the general policy of the Whig party, I elected, I should think, to look upon those who may approve that policy, for the agents to carry it into execution; and I would seek to cultivate harmony, and fraternal sentiment throughout the Whig party, without attempting to divide its members by proscriptions to exact conformity to my views."

"Harmony and sentiment throughout the Whig party." His civility, though large for Whigs does not extend to Democrats. He knows, however, that his own party will support him, and he will support himself for his own sake, whilst spitting upon the platform on which he stands, and those who love the platform so well that for his sake they have consented, though reluctantly, to acquiesce in his nomination—these are the Whigs who would denounce the Fugitive Slave Law, and who are as devoted heart and soul to its maintenance. In this dilemma he will not attempt to reduce the discordant brethren by proscription to exact conformity to his own views. The Whigs and anti-masonic Free Soilers are therefore both embraced within the broad sweep of his charity. He seeks to cultivate harmony and fraternal sentiment among the Whig party, and the National Whigs by seating himself at the center of the Whig party, and the Whigs. But who to the vanquished—two to the Democrats? They shall not even receive a single crumb which may fall from the table of the Presidential banquet.

"One Presidential Term," is the subject which he next discusses. He seems reluctant to surrender the most of President, and so to bring a period of four years, for the sake of only four years in the White House. He again, therefore, for the third time, in the same letter, proposed to amend the Constitution, just as it was, by a simple extension of his term of office to six years. Four years are too short a term for General Scott. It must be prolonged. "The people must be deprived of the power of choosing their President every four years, and the name would be a parade day, so as to extend the Presidential term to six years. Four years are too short a term for General Scott. It must be prolonged."

"The people must be deprived of the power of choosing their President every four years, and the name would be a parade day, so as to extend the Presidential term to six years. Four years are too short a term for General Scott. It must be prolonged."

"The people must be deprived of the power of choosing their President every four years, and the name would be a parade day, so as to extend the Presidential term to six years. Four years are too short a term for General Scott. It must be prolonged."

"The people must be deprived of the power of choosing their President every four years, and the name would be a parade day, so as to extend the Presidential term to six years. Four years are too short a term for General Scott. It must be prolonged."

"The people must be deprived of the power of choosing their President every four years, and the name would be a parade day, so as to extend the Presidential term to six years. Four years are too short a term for General Scott. It must be prolonged."

"The people must be deprived of the power of choosing their President every four years, and the name would be a parade day, so as to extend the Presidential term to six years. Four years are too short a term for General Scott. It must be prolonged."

"The people must be deprived of the power of choosing their President every four years, and the name would be a parade day, so as to extend the Presidential term to six years. Four years are too short a term for General Scott. It must be prolonged."

of his famous epistle which, like the postscript of a lady's letter, contains much of the plot and marrow of the whole. It is entitled "Secret of the Oath Society." In it he declares, although a Mason, that he had not been a member of a Masonic Lodge for thirty odd years, nor a visitor of any lodge since except on a rare occasion six years ago. And such is his abhorrence of secret Societies, that he has not visited any of our Colleges, whose practice it is to adopt a few secret signs by which their members in after life can recognize each other.

In order then, to render himself a more available candidate than Henry Clay, it was necessary that his net should have a broader sweep than that of the great Kentuckian. It was necessary that he should be as good a Whig as Henry Clay, and in addition a much better anti-mason. It was the common remark of the day when this letter of October 1841 appeared, that he had no other resource than to make the gratuitous letter making himself a candidate, in which all sorts of unwise things were said to return and plague his friends, if he should be a candidate."

"The Judiciary." Gen. Scott expresses his conviction that the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States, on all constitutional questions, should be considered final and conclusive by the people and especially by their functionaries. It is indeed, in the case of a Judicial decision enlarging power and against liberty. And how is such a decision to be corrected? Why forsooth? "any dangerous error of this sort, he says, cannot be corrected by an amendment of the Constitution, in one of the modes prescribed by that instrument." Easily corrected! It might be so if a military order could accomplish the object; but an amendment of the Constitution of the States, whether effected by an act of Congress or by the people, is almost a political impossibility to accomplish it, in by far the least practicable of the two modes prescribed, the affirmative action of two-thirds of both Houses of Congress, and the negative of three-fourths of the Legislature, is required. With these obstacles in the way, whenever an amendment of the Constitution ever be made.

"The Concerts.
The Concerts lately held, at Fulton Hall, were well attended by the citizens and strangers. That given by celebrated Violinist, ORT BELL, on Thursday evening, was a perfect gem—not less than twelve hundred tickets having been sold. He was assisted by Marie Stroschek, on the Piano, and Adeline Parry—the latter a little girl of some eight or nine years of age, whose singing was the delight and admiration of all. But the great attraction was ORT BELL himself, whose performance on the Violin cannot be surpassed. He gave another concert on Saturday evening, which was also well attended, and in which it is said he even exceeded his former playing.

"A Catechism for Adopted Citizens.
Who passed a law in 1797 extending the period of Naturalization from five to fourteen years? Answer—The Federal Whigs.

"A Catechism for Adopted Citizens.
Who passed a law in 1797 extending the period of Naturalization from five to fourteen years? Answer—The Federal Whigs.

"A Catechism for Adopted Citizens.
Who passed a law in 1797 extending the period of Naturalization from five to fourteen years? Answer—The Federal Whigs.

"A Catechism for Adopted Citizens.
Who passed a law in 1797 extending the period of Naturalization from five to fourteen years? Answer—The Federal Whigs.

"A Catechism for Adopted Citizens.
Who passed a law in 1797 extending the period of Naturalization from five to fourteen years? Answer—The Federal Whigs.