Lime Kilns on the Canal. Lime Kilns on the Canal.

South of the run, commencing at the canal and extending westward through the tract, is a valuable IRON ORE BANK; the ore is rich and in high estimation at the turnaces where it is being supplied. The site at the canal is thought to be singularly well adapted for a Furnace. The right of mining, only, is leased for a term of years; the rent is 25 cts. per ton during the first part, which will expire the 27th of January, 1859, and thereafter at the rate of 371 cts. per ton, until the expirawill expire the 27th of January, 1033, and interester at the rate of 371 cts. per ton, until the expiration of the lease, 27th January, 1899. Which rent and income will go to the purchaser of the estate—it is payable quarterly, and should it ever fall below $200, in any one year, will work a forfeiture of the lease.

Terms of payment.—One-fourth cash, one-hatf in satisfactory notes at 6, 12 and 18 months, with interest, and balance secured on the property, with interest.

P. S.—The Lessee of the mining right, (Hy. Wilton of Wrightsville,) will also, at the same time and place, offer his interest at public sale. A copy of the Lease may be seen at the Auction store.

The only true Portrait of Washington. JUST PUBLISHED, T. B. WELCH'S MAGNIF-

JUST PUBLISHED, T. B. WELCH'S MAGNIFICENT PORTRAIT OF WASHINGTON.
Engraved (by permission) from Stuart's only original portrait, in the Atheneum, Boston.

This superb picture, engraved under the superintendence of Thomas Sultry, Eag., the eminent and highly gifted artist, is the only correct likeness of Washington ever published. It has been characterised as the greatest work of art ever produced in this country. As to its fidelity, we refer to the letters of the adopted son of Washington, George Washington Park Custis, who says, "it is a faithful representation of the celebrated original," and to Chief Justice Takey of the Supreme Court of the United States, who says, "As a work of art its excellence and beauty must strike svery one who sees it: and it is no less happy in its every one who sees it: and it is no less happy in its svery one who sees it: and it is no ites happy in its likeness to the Father of his country. It was my good fortune to have seen him in the days of my boyhood, and his whole appearance is yet strongly impressed on my memory. The portrait you have issued appears to me to be an exact likeness, representing perfectly the expression as well as the form and features of the face. And says Senator Cass. it is a life-like representing of the great form and features of the face." And says Senator Cass, it is a life-like representation of the great original. President FILLMORE says, "the work appears to me to have been admirably executed and eminently worthy of the patronage of the public." Says MARCHARY the eminent portrait painter, and the pupil of Stuart, "your print to my mind is more remarkable than any other I have seen, for presenting the whole individualty of the original portrait, together with the noble and dignified repose of air and manner, which all who ever saw him considered a marked characteristic of the illustransidered a marked characteristic of the illusconsidered a marked characteristic of the illus considered a marked characteristic of the illustrious man it commemorates."

For the great ments of this picture we would refer every lover of Washington to the portrait itself, to be seen at the office of this paper, and to the letters of the following Artists, Statesmen, Jurists and Scholars accompanying it.
