States took the initiative step, and took it singly. It was aimed at that intervention proposed by the allied powers and at that alone. In 1823 Spain made a formal application to Russia and Austria to aid her to do this very thing, against which the to aid her to do this very thing, against which the Government of the United States had protested.— She asked their aid to uphold good order and legitimacy, endangered by the progress of free institutions in America. This application was based upon the principle that those powers were pledged to uphold and support each other. The message of Mr. Monroe effected the object it was intended to accomplish. It averted the same intervention by the Holly Alliance, and the invitation of Snain was the Holly Alliance, and the invitation of Spain was

In 1824, Lord Brougham said that the affairs of South America had been settled by the firm and decisive declaration of the President of the United States. He quoted other authorities, showing that the declaration of Mr. Monroe was confined to the specific point. He objected that injustice would be done to the memory of Mr. Monroe, by extending his doctrine to embrace other principles. He admitted, however, that Mr. Monroe, in another part of his message, but directed to a very different mat-ter said, that no more re-colonization of any part of this continent should be permitted.

Mr. Cass said that he never heard till yesterday that it was doubted that Mr. Monroe had protested against the recolonization of any part of this conti-nent by any European power. The Monroe doc-trine was not confined to the contemplated interention by the allied powers, because it was to cor tinue for all time. The reason given that the pecu-liar interests of this continent were distinct from those of Europe, was no more valid than now. He read from Mr. Monroe's message the emphatic declaration, that Europe must know distinctly that no part of the American continent was henceforth subject to recolonization by any of the European nations. He agreed with the Senator from Virginia in his narative of the events leading to the eclaration, but did not consider it so limited as did

Mr. Soule moved that the subject be postponed till Tuesday next.

SPECIAL MESSAGE.
WASHINGTON, January 19. The Speaker laid before the House several communications, among them one from the President of the United States, transmitting a report from the Secretary of the Interior, from which it appears that the efforts of that department to induce the Indians in Florida to migrate to the country assigned to their tribe west of the Mississippi, have been entirely unsuccessful. The only alternative that now remains, the President says, is either to compel them by force to comply with the treaty made by the tribe in May, 1832, by which they agreed to emigrate within three years from that date, or to allow the arrangements had with them in 1842, by which they were to remain in the temporary occupation of a portion of the Peninsula un-til the government should see fit to remove them. It cannot be denied (the message says) that the withholding of too large a portion of its territory from settlement is a serious injury to the State of Florida; and although, ever since the arrangement above referred to, the Indians have manifested a desire to remain at peace with the whites, the presence of a people who may at any time, and upon any real or funcied provocation, be driven to acts of hostility, is a source of constant anxiety and alarm to the inhabitants of that border. There can be no doubt, also, that the welfare of the Indians would be promoted by their removal from a territory where the frequent collisions between them and their more powerful neighbors are daily be-coming more inevitable. On the other hand, there is every reason to believe that manifestations of a desire to remove them by force, or take possession of the territory allotted to them, would immediate-ly be retaliated by acts of cruelty on the defenceless nhabitants. The number of Indians now remain ing in the State is, it is true, very inconsiderable not exceeding, it is believed, five hundred; but, ow ing to the great extent of the country occupied by them, and itsadaptation to their peculiar mode of warfare, a force very disproportionate to their number would be necessary to capture or expel them. r even to protect the white settlements from their incursions. The military force now stationed in that State would be inadequate to these objects; and if it should be determined to enforce their removal or to survey the territory allotted them, some addition to it would be necessary, as the Government has but a small force available for that service.— Additional appropriations for the support of the army would, in that event, be necessary. For these reasons, the President has deemed it proper to submit the whole matter to Congress for such action as they may deem best. The message was referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

together some interesting facts in relation to the Cereals of the United States. The principal Wheat States, he says, are New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Wisconsin, and Iowa. The yield varies from 10 to 40 ushels and upwards, per acre, weighing from 58 to 67 lbs., per bushel. In 1840 the wheat crop was 84,823,272 bushels; in 1849, 100,503,899 bushels, though the crop of this year was below the average. In the New England States, within the last ten years, the cultivation of this grain has declined, as also in some other of the older States, but in Virginia it has increased. Very little Wheat was shown at the London Exhibition equal to that from the United States, especially that from Genessee county, New York, to which a prize medal was a warded. The Wheat from Scotch Australia was probably superior to any at that Fair, while much from this country was little behind it and unques tionably next in quality.

Ryr. is supposed to be a native of the Caspian Caucasian Desert. Its cultivation was introduced very early into this country, but is now restricted principally to the Middle and Eastern States; but it is giving way to more profitable crops. The yield varies from 10 to 30 bushels per acre, weigh-ing from 48 to 36 pounds a bushel. It has never entered largely into our foreign commerce. In 1850. entered largely into our foreign commerce. In 1850, 44,152 barrels were exported. The product of the country in the same year was 14,188,636 bushels.

Matze, or Indian Corn, takes precedence in the scale of crops in the United States, and surnishes the largest amount of food. It is argued to be of American origin.

It was first cultivated by the English in 1608 in Virginia. The yield then was from 200 to more than a thousand fold. The present yield east of the Rocky Mountain varies from 20 to 135 bushels an acre. Its varieties are numer. 20 to 135 bushels an acre. Its varieties are numer ous. The increase of production from 1840 to 18, 50 was 214,000,000 of bushels, equal to 56 per cent.

The increase of production in New England is nearly 50 per cent, and more in the Middle States, and in no State has it retrograded. Ohio ranks first for the culture of this grain, Kentucky second, Illinois third, and Tennessee the fourth. In 1850 there were exported 3,420,811 bushels of corn; and 203,622 barrels of meal. In the Irish Famine year of 1846. there were exported 16,326,050 bushels of corn, and 948,060 barrels of meal. More than eleven millions of bushels of Maize were consumed in 1850 in the manufacture of malt and spirituous liquors.— In 1840 the crop of corn was 377,531,975 bushels; in 1850, 592,326,612 bushels.

The Oat, in connection with the artificial grasses and the nourishment of live stock, is one of the most important crops. It has been cultivated at least from the days of Pliny. Its origin is uncertain, though the most common variety is said to be traced to the Island of Juan Fernandez. Another Oat grows wild in California. It was brought to this country soon after the settlement of the Eng-Its culture is confined chiefly to the Middle Western and Northern States. The vield of the common varieties is from 40 to 90 bushels and up wards per acre. The Oat does not enter much into the manufacture of spirits or malt; the consumption for which therefore does not exceed 60,000 bushels a year. Like Rye, it forms but a small element in foreign commerce; the domestic consumption equaling nearly the amount produced. The average annual exports for several years pre-ceding 1807 were 70,000 bushels. The produce in 1840, 153,071,341 bushels, in 1850, 186,879,647 bushels.

In the busy round of our daily cares we seldom give more than a passing thought to the workings of that dread monster—Peath, at whose approach we all tremble, and to whose power we must all yield; nor do we ever seriously reflect that we are mortal, until, perhaps, amid the trophies that mark the path-way of the Destroyer may be numbered the idols of our own house-hold. When, however, the social or domestic circle is invaded, and one the social or domestic circle is invaded, and one whom we called friend or brother is stricken down, whom we called friend or brother is stricken down, we are made to feel the uncertainty of the tenure by which we hold our lives; aod, for the first time, it may be, ask who of our number may next be called away hence "to render an account of the deeds done in the flesh?" It is only at such times that we can feel the full force of that Divine counsel—" He ye always ready."

Mr. McGrann, whose decease is announced above, had been for many years a resident of this city, and we know of no other man in our community who enjo, ed a larges share of public esteem, nor one at 'whose death more "general regret has been expressed; and it must have been consoling to the feelings of his family and, relatives to see his remains attended to their last resting place by so great a concourse of personal Friends as were present from the various parts of the State on the acent from the various parts of the State on the ac-casion.

For the last twenty years Mr. McGrann had been extensively engaged as a contractor on the various public works both in this country and Canada, and his energy and Efficiency had long since placed him in the first rank of his profession. In the relations of husband and father, he was kind and affectionate; as a citizen, his integrity and worth were above suspicion; as a friend, he was generous and reliable; and in the many rare qualities required to make up the stelling Max. he had but ous and reliable; and in the many rare qualities required to make up the sterling Man, he had but tew equals.

It is to be regretted that one so well qualified to discharge the relations of life, was not longer spared to enjoy the fruits of his labor, and minister to the comfort and projection of his new orphaned family; but, in the wise on of an over-ruling Providence, it has been otherwise ordered, and now, after having received the consolations of religion, he sleeps his last sleep, at peace, we trust, with man and God.

SECOND ANNUAL REPORT OF THE INSPECTORS OF THE LANCASTER CO. PRISON.

INSPECTIORS OF THE LANCASTER CO. PRISON.

To the Honorable the Judges of the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lancaster County:

IN conformity with the requirements of the Act of the General Assembly of 19th February, 1850, the undersigned submit the following report of the State of the Frison, for the year ending on the 31st day of December, last:

The experience of the second in the inspection and supervision of the Prison, while it has afforded a better opportunity than had previously been onlyed, for testing the "Pennsylvania System." of separate confinement adopted by the County, has suggested to the Board no cause to change the opinion expressed by them in their last annual report, that it will be no class successful in this County than it has been in the other Counties of the State, into which it has been introduced, (and has been in operation long enough to manifest its legitimate effects) and where it has proved its superiority to the congregate plans of confinement. Among its most apparent advantages over the "Old System," as they have thus far been exhibited, are its tendency to produce habits of industry in the prisoners, by rendering idleness all, but insupportable to those committed for any considerable period of time, and securing to the prisoners all the fruits of their labor, above their appointed tasks, and by its subduing in the more hardened class of prisoners, the split of insubordination, and begeting in them dispositions and habits favorable to submission to rightful authority and reasonable restraint. Thus subserving the great end of human punishment, the reformation of the criminal, and thereby preventing crime.—Against the accomplishment of these important objects no pecuniary considerations should be permitted to weigh.

The whole number committed to the Prison during the year 1858, was 440; of which 165 were cases of Drunkenness, and 87 of Vagrancy. In addition to which there were sentenced during the same period, 42, remaining in Prison on the 31st of December, 1851, 45, making the total in Prison in 1852, 527.

There were discharged during the year, 481 prison-ters. Remaining in Prison December 31st, 1852, 46. of which 20 are convicts, 16 awaiting trial, and 10 Vagrants, &c.

The general health of the prisoners during the year has been good. The greater number of cases of sickness were of such prisoners, as were received in an impaired state of health, leaving but a small number of cases of disease originating in the Prison.

No prisoners died in the Prison and none became insane during the year. The health, as well as the comfort, of the prisoners would be promoted by the adoption of such measures as would render the ventilation of the Prison more perfect.

The number of persons committed during the past year, for Vagrancy, Drunkenness, and Drunken and Disorderly conduct, is unusually large, and while the Board regret the fact, they cannot but deplore the causes which, in their opinion, have produced this increase in this class of offences. They can assign no other cause for this state of things than the large number of Lager Beer Saloons, and other places, ilconsed and unlicensed, where intoxicating beverages are vended, in this County, (and especially in this City, from which the greater number of the class of prisoners are peculiarly burdensome and expensive. They are housed, warmed, and fed at the public/expense. They recluse to work, and cannot be/compelled to do so. so that the Vagrant lives idle in the Prison, supported by the tax of the industrious.

There have been three escapes during the year, one convict, one awaiting trial, and one Vagrant. The convict secaped through the window of his cell; which was therefore the result of a defect in the original construction fraid and prisoners are excellinely burdensors. T

Amounting in aggregate to as the amount expended during the sixteen months ending December 31st. 1852, for manufacturing purposes and current expenses; from which in order to ascertain the amount of current expenses is to be deducted the following cash and assets of the manufacturing department, to wit:—

Cash, received by Keepers for goods sold and paid to County Treasurer.

Raw materials

$5,839 67 Less this amount due by Prison on account of raw materials.

Amount of current expenses of Prison for above period. $9,139 47 above period. $9,354 40 per annum. This sum is considerably enhanced by the numerous items of expense incident to the adopting of an entirely new system of Prison discipline, and the putting in successful operation of so extensive an establishment. The Board may safely predict that the annual current expenses of the Prison will, hereafter, be considerably diminished.

expenses of the Prison will, hereafter, be considerably diminished.

Che progress made in manufacturing in the Prison to Docember 31st. 1882, is as follows:—

Were made. 0.318 yds. Carpet for customers; 5,520; do. for sale; 6,003 do. Lancaster County Stripe; 806 do. do. Check; 239 pair of Boots and Shoos; 35, fishing nets; 5500 Cigars, &c. This branch of the management is yet in its infancy, and therefore the results attained in the above period afford no correct criterion of its future productiveness.

The Board confidently believe that, as the organization of the manufacturing department is matured, and such methods and improvements, as experience may render expedient, be adopted, the products of the manufacturing industry of the prisoners will, in time, yield revenue sufficient to defray expenses.

The Board take occasion, before dismissing this subject, to say, that much of the success which this branch has already attained is due to the skill, industry and assiduous attention of Hexan Heasn. East, one of the under keepers, who is a practical Weaver, and has charge of this department.

The ability and fidelity with which Hexan Cacuman, and has charge of this department.

MANY years of trial, instead of impairing the pulic confidence in this medicine, has won for it an appreciation and mojoriety by far exceeding the most sanguine expectations of its friends. Nothing but its intrinsic virtues and the unmistakanal of the property of the pr ble benefit conferred on thousands of sufferer could originate and maintain the reputation it en-joys. While many inferior remedies thurst upon the community, have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial conferred ben-efits on the afflicted they can never forget, and pro-duced cures too numerous and too remarkable to dweed cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

While it is fraud on the public to pretend that any one medicine will infallibly cure—still there is abundant proof that the CHERNY PECTORAL does not only a general thing, but almost invariably cures the maladies for which it is employed.

As time makes these facts wider and better known, this medicine has gradually become the best reliance of the afflicted, from the log-cabin of the American Peasant, to the palaces of European Kings. Throughout this entire country, in every State, city; and almost every hamlet it contains, Cherry Pectoral is known as the best remedy extant for diseases of the Throat and Lungs, and in many foreign countries, it is coming to be extensively used by their most intelligent Physicians. In Great Britain, France and Germahysicians. In Great Britain, France and Ge Physicians. In Great Britain, France and Germany, where the medical sciences have reached their highest perfection, Cherry Pectoral is introduced, and in constant use in the Armies, Hospitals, Almathouses, Public Institutions, and in domestic practice, as the surest remedy their attending Physicians can employ for the more dangerous affections of the lungs. Also in milder cases, and for children it is safe, pleasant and effectual to cure. In fact, some of the most flattering testimonials we receive have been from parents who have found it efficacious in cases particularly incidental to childfficacious in cases particularly incidental to child hood.

The Cherry Pectoral is manufactured by a practical Chemsst, and every ounce of it under his own eye, with invariable accuracy and care. It is sealed with care. It is sealed and protected by law fron counterfeits, consequently can be relied on as genuine without adulteration.

We have endeavored here to furnish the commutity with a medicine of such intrinsic superiority and wo. has should commend itself to their confidence—a remedy at once s.fe, speedy and effectual, which this has by repeated and countless trials proved itself to be; and trust by great care in preparing it with chemical accuracy, of uniform strength to afford Physicans a new agent on which they can rely for the best results, and the afflicted with a remedy that will do for them all that medicine can do. ine can do.
