There is a Land of Light and Gladness-

AIR-" Old Folks at Home." There is a land of light and gladness,
Far, far away;
Where free from sin, and pain, and sadness,
Dawns an eternal day.
All up and down a world of sorrow.

Sadly I roam; Still looking for a bright to-morrow, And for my Heavenly home. Chorus-All the world seems sad and dreary,

Every where I roam;
With watching have my eyes grown weary,
Looking for my heavenly home. There by the everflowing river,

Far, far away; ur lov'd and lost ones rest forever, Our lov'd and lost ones rest torever,
In an eternal day;
Why at their graves should I be weeping;
Why do I roam?
Though in the cold earth they are sleeping,
Their's is a Heavenly home.

All the world, &c. Young pilgrim to that land of brightness,

Young prigrin to that land of drightness
| Far, lar away;
| I need not wander on in sadness,
| Nor need my footsteps stray;
| Jesus! thy word shall safely guide me,
| Where'er I roam; Till I shall cast my crown before thee,
In my eternal home. All above is bright and cheering!

Happy I roam! And angel voices now are calling, To my eternal home.

The Lost and The Living.

Warm tears fell upon the paper, as Walter Lee folded it back. He gave himself to rally, and glided gently up to the nursery door. It was partially open. Worth Knowing.—Some of the papers. of late have had a paragraph recommending the use of wheat flour, in the case of scalds or burns. A gentleman at Dayton saw it, and the other day, as he writes the Empire, tested it to his satisfaction .-

"While at the supper table, a little child, which was seated in his mother's lap, suddenly grasped hold of a hot cup full of tea, severely scalding its t hand and arm. I immediately brought a pan of flour and plunged the arm into it, covering en-tirely the parts scalded with flour. The effect was truly remarkable—the pain was gone instantly. I then bandaged the arm loosely, applying plenty of flour next to the skin, and on the following morning there was not the least sign that the arm had been scalded—neither did the child suffer the least pain after the application of flour." Reader, do you bear this little fact in mind if a

The Magic of Music. The Magic of Industrial In telligencer, who is travelling through Syria, and at last accounts had reached the ancient city of Baalbeck or Heliopolis, gives the following description of the effect which his flute, and the negro melody the page the descendant of the magic.

has upon the descendants of Ishmael: "In travelling through Syrai, as in other parts of the world, I always carry my flute with me to re-lieve the lonely hours at night, and excite a social teeling among the natives. I had fluted my way after the fashion of Goldsmith, through many a difficulty; and now I was resolved to see what the music would do in removing the preju-

As soon as it was dark, we had good fire lit in the corner, and pulling off our shoes as custom required, we spread our mats close by, and sat down cosily to enjoy the cheerful fire, my friends, (the Southerner and the English captain, smoking their chibouks,) while I brought forward my knapsacks, and commenced putting the pieces of my flute together. The Arabs, who had begun to crowd in, getner. The Haus, who had been ensurement what I was getting under way; and Yusel, who was rather proud of his civilization, sat by enjoying rather proud of his civilization, sat by enjoying their remarks, and giving us a running interpretation. Some thought it was a sort of pistol, with a large touchhole; but this notion was ridiculed by the more knowing ones, who said it was plain to see that it was a new fashioned pipe, and that they would soon see me put the bowl to it and begin to smoke. At last I got all the pieces adjusted, and commanding silence by a mysterious motion of the hand, commenced playing that classical air of "Old" hand, commenced playing that classical air of "Old hand, commenced playing that classical air of "Old Zip Coon," which I dare say was never heard among the ruins of Baalbeck. There was the most breathless attention on all sides, interrupted only by the suppressed exclamation of Tahib! Tahib! (Good, good!) when I blew a very shrill or false note; and soon the women and children from the neighboring houses began to crowd in, and there was gradually a large ring around the room, and the audience squatted down in rows, till there was scarcely space enough left to breathe.

I blew away with all my might, for not only was I excited with the success of my experiment, but rather ins, ired with the music I was making, which I assure you was not bad. The familiar airs of home made me southmental, and I merged into the deleful air "Give me back my heart again!" on nome made me semimental, and I merged into the doleful air "Give me back m; heart again!" which was a miserable failure; not one seemed disposed to listen to it. They commenced in the very middle of the most pathetic strain to call for "Old Zip Coon." When I had ended, there was no end to the tahibs. Mr. Coon was a decided hit. In order to vary the entertainments, silence was commanded again, and Yusef was desired to excommanded again, and ruser was desired to explain that there would be a song; that it was a song of an old black gentleman who live in America, who was a pacha among the blacks; that he was called Uncle Ned because he was so venerable, was called Uncle Ned because he was so venerable, and being very old, the hair all fell out of his head, and there was no hair at all in the place where the hair ought to grow; that he hadn't anyeyes to see with, and consequently was as blind as a post or stone; that he neither had teeth to eat bread with, and he had to let the bread alone and the state of the place water as long as the state of the place water as long as and won. No expense or pains had he spared to decorate the mansion for her reception. Old familiar objects, fraight with the tenderest associations, had been removed to make way for the uphoisterer's choicest fancies. There was no picture left upon the wall, with sweet, sad, mournful eyes, to follow him with silent reproach. Everything was fresh and delightful as the new born joy that filled his heart.

"My dear Edith," said he, fondly pushion the hair from her forehead. heel and carried him away, and he was never heard of any more except in the song, which was writ-ten in commemoration of these facts. Thereupon, having excited the most profound interest in the history of Uncle Ned, I launched forth into the song, keeping as near the tune as possible, going through all the motions descriptive of the haldness of his head, the absence of his teeth, and the length Terrible Fight with a Tiger. A correspondent of the Galveston News gives the following account of a desperate flight between Mr. Absalom Williams, who is about seventy years of age, his wife, and an enormous tiger, which occurred there about there about the 1st of December, at red there about there about the Far Determined Mr. W.'s residence:

The tiger was first discovered on the premises of Mr. James Drake, who lives in the North portion of Jefferson county, where it entered his enclosure, attacked his horse, and killed one besides wounding two others. While the tiger was committing its depredations it was discovered by Francis Drake, son of the proprietor of the premises, who fired a shot gun at it, wounding it in the side, but not dangerously, when it made its escape. The next day, while Mr. and Mrs. Williams were sitting in their house, (the rest of the family being absent.) they were startled by a strange noise in the yard in front of their house. Mr. W., on going out dis in front of their house. Mr. w., on going out the covered his.dog engaged with a tiger, when he seized an ox-yoke and aimed a blow at the "varment," but missing it, struck his dog. The dog then got away from the tiger and retreated. In an instant the tiger sprung on Mr. Williams, and seizing him by the hand, jerked him about twenty feet.

The old gentlemen finding himself in the too

The old gentleman, finding himself in the too powerful grasp of the wild animal courageously defight" in his power, and having no weapons with-in his reach, he seized the tiger by the throat with his other hand, and throwing his whole strength forward, crushed the tiger to the ground, both fal ling side by side. At this time Mrs. Williams came to the rescue, with a gun, which she snapped at the tiger, but there being no priming in the pan, it did not go off. Mr. W. then with one arm round the tiger's body, and grasping its throat with his other hand, by an effort disengaged himself. The discovering a new adversary in the person of Mrs. W., jumped at ber, and attempted to grasp her head within its jaws, while it struck and lacerated her breast with its fore paws. She tried to avoid the monster, but was felled to the ground. The tiger made another grasp at her head, his upper teeth penetrated at the top of the skull and sliding along the bone, peeled off the skin still they met the lower teeth, which penetrated on the right side of her In the meantime, Mr. W. had seized the ox-voke again, and, giving the tiger a tremendous blow, caused it to leave Mrs. W., when it leaped into the house and got under the bed. The door was immediately closed and the monster secured. Mr. W. was exhausted from the effects of his wounds, from which the blood flowed in streams; but not so his better half, when she saw their mutual foe thus attempt to take possession of their house, she deter-mined to finish the battle, and notwithstanding the severity of her wounds, her dress almost entirely tor from her person, and covered with plood, she delib rately took the gun, and, shaking some powder from the barrel into the pan, placed the muzzle be-tween one of the openings which the logs of the house afforded, and fired with steady and deadly aim. The tiger was killed. When subsequently measured it was found to be twelve feet from the tip of its ail to its nose. During all the time the fight was going on, no one but those engaged in it were within hearing.—

Mr. W.'s nearest neighbor lives three miles off.—
However, as Mrs. W. was washing the blood from ner person, a neighbor came riding by, and, alarm ed at her appearance, inquired the cause. The old lady, unable from the loss of blood to speak, pointady, unable from the loss of blood to speak, pointed to the dead body of the tiger.

The escape of Mr. and Mrs. Williams is indeed wonderful, and they are now recovering gradually from their wounds. Mr. W. jokes about the tiger fight, and intimates that the old lady was most enraged whe the "varment" took possession of his bed and house. It need not hardly be added that Mr. Williams is a brave man. He fought the British at New Orleans, and subsequently the Mexicans in the cause of Texas; but this last fight is, perhaps he most singular of all. His wife, in intrepidity and daring, is worthy of him, and the two, togeth A young lady once entered a stage coach er, are of that courageous class that have encounwith so much powder on her face that she blew up of Christian civilisation and American institutions

GOD PITY ENGLAND'S POOR.

Respect'ly Inscribed to the Duchess of Sutherland. BY G. C. STEARNS.

God pity her poor! She pities them not!
Oh, hard is their labor and cruel their lot;
One-half of their earnings must go for the law
That gives them black bread and a pallet of straw!

God pity her poor! They plough and they sow, And the heavens give rain that the harvest may grow; But autumn to them is no season of plenty— One sheaf goes to them—to their landlords twenty!

God pity her poor! They yield up the tythe, That the church may thrive well while with hun-ger they writhe; And feel as they stand by the baptismal bowl, That the robe of their churchman is well called a "stole!"

God pity her poor! Their children drink up The soup on the trencher, the milk in the cup,
Then turn with a hollow and hungre eyo
To the kettle that's empty, the pitcher that's dry

God pity her poor! They greet with a sigh Each babe that is born but with hunger to die; And the grief of their soul, in the day of its death Isless than their grief when it draws its first breath God pity Old England! The souls of her dead That have perished because she would give them no bread; From "under God's altar" a countless throng, Are calling for judgment, and crying "how long!" "Her rich men and nobles," God pity them, too!

So a vision of vengeance comes black on the view;
When the tide they have dyked shall dash over in

And its billows shall ebb of the color of blood! The Baby.

BY FARNY PERN.

"Baby-carts on narrow sidewalks are awful ores, especially to hurried business men.' ores, especially to nurried business men.

Are they? Suppose you, and a certain pair of blue eyes, that you would give half your patrimony to win, were joint proprieto of that baby! I shouldn't dare to stand very near you, and call it a nuisance." It's all very well for bachelors to turn up their single blessed noses at those little dimturn up their single blessed noses at those included Copids; but just wait till their time comes!— See 'em the minute their name is written "Papa," pull up their dickies, and strut off down street as if they enter the office, see their old married partner (to whom babies have long since ceased t novelty) laugh in his sleeve at the new-fledged dig-nity with which that baby's advent is announced! How frequently astonished they feel that they should have been so infatuated as not to perceive that a man is a perfect expler till he is at the head of a tamily! How frequent one may see them now looking in at the shop windows, with intense interest, at little hats, coral bells, and baby-jumpers.—How they love to come home to dinner, and press that little velvet cheek to their business faces? Was there ever any music half so sweet to their ear, as its first lisped "Papa?" Oh, how closely and imperceptibly, one by one, that little plant winds its tendrils round the parent stem! How anxiously they hang over its cardle when the cheek flushes and the lip is fever-parched; and how wide, and deep, and long a shadow is cast in their happy homes, its little grave would cast!

My DEAR sir, depend upon it, one's own baby is never "a nuisance." Love heralds its birth!—Olive

DYSPEPSIA! D" J. E. HOUGH TON'S

The True Digestive Fluid or Gastric Juice

The True Bigestive fillid of dashie filled representations of the great Physiological Chemist, by J. S. Houghton, M. D., Philadelphia, Pa.

This is a truly wonderful remedy for Indigestion, in Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Constipation, and Debility, curing after Nature's own method, by Nature's own Agent, the Gastric Juice.

Half a teaspoonful of Pepsin, infused in water, will digest or dissolve, Five Pounds of Roast Beef in about two hours, out of the stomach.

Persin is the chief element, or Great Digesting in about two hours, out of the stomach.

Persin is the chief element, or Great Digesting Principle of the Gastric Juice—the solvent of the food, the purifying, preserving and stimulating agent of the atomach and intestines. It is extracted from the digestive stomach of the Ox, thus terming an Artificial Digestive Fluid, precisely like the natural Gastric Juice in its chemical powers, and furnishing a complete and perfect substitute for it By the aid of this preparation, the pains and evils of Indigestion and Dyspepsia are removed, just as they would be by a healthy stomach. It is doing wonders for dyspeptics, curing cases of Debility, Emaciation, Nervous Decline, and Dyspepsic Consumption, supposed to be on the verge of the grave. The scientific evidence upon which it is based, is in the highest degree curious and remarkable.

Diet," published by Fowler & Wells, New York, page 35, states the same great fact, and describes the method of preparation. There are few higher authorities than Dr. Pereira.

Dr. Combe, in his valuable writings on the "Physiology of Digestion," observes that "a dimination of the due quantity of the Gastric Junce is a promuent and all-prevailing cause of Dyspopsia," and he states that "a distinguished professor of medicine in Loudon, who was severely afflicted with this complaint, finding everything else to fail, had recourse to the Gastric Junce, obtained trom the stomach of living animals, which proved completely successfull."

Dr. Graham, author of the famous works on

pletely Successfull."
Dr. Graham, author of the famous works on "Vegetable Diet," says: "It is a remarkable fact in physiology, that the stomachs of animals, macerated in water, impart to the floid the property of dissolving various articles of food, and of effecting a kind of artificial digestion of them in nowise different who the natural digestive process."

AS A DYSPEPSIA CURER.

AS A DYSPEPSIA CURER,
Dr. HOUGHTON'S PEPSIN has produced the most marvellous effects, in curing cases of Deblity,
Emaciation, Nervons 'Decline, and Dyspeptic Consumption. It is, impossible to give the details of cases in the limits of this advertisement; but authenticated certificates have been given of more than Two Hundred Remarkable Cures, in Puliadelphia, New York and Boston alone. These were nearly all desperate cases, and the cures were not only rapid and wonderful, but permanent. not only rapid and wonderful, but permanent.
