For the Intelligencer, Letter from Blunson.

WASHINGTON CITY, March 12, 1853, MR. EDITOR - You see I am here and I suppose you are thar, as usual. Pennsylvania is well rep-resented at the capital of the nation, perhaps there are here now as many from the Old Keystone, as all other States in the Union combined. This of course arises from our people being more patriotic; and also from the fact that Gen. PIERCE looks upon every man from Pennsylvania as a kinsman. Ou, what loving relatives he's got; and yet strange to say, he has not spoken to a dozen of them for the last week; but that makes no difference. I see our present worthy Surveyor General BRAWLEY--Ex Governor Portes, Adjutant General KEEVAN, Col. BLACK, and many others. I was in FORNEY's of-fice yesterday, and found the "table in a roar" at some of the true sparking wit of the gallant Black. Whilst present, he perpetrated the follow-ing: Gentlemen, said he, is it possible to take a quantity from an' amount and leave more than there was before. Several Senators said it was impossible—could not not be demonstrated either mathematically, sylldgistically or otherwise. Here it is, said the Col. You take the skin off a bear and is'nt he more bare than he was before. Is'nt he one on 'em !

On Thursday, I had the pleasure of hearing Judge DOUGLASS deliver a speech, animadverting upon the un-American Nicaraugua treaty of JOHN M. CLAT-TON. It was a most masterly effort and elicited much approval from the gallery. The Judge was eloquent in his delivery; and I take it upon me to say, that thousands will read that speech with de-light. His vindication of Mr. Potk and Mr. Bu-CHANAN was masterly and conclusive; and poor CLANTON sat there twitching and squirming in his seat, as if he had been thrown naked upon a thorn hedge. It appears to be generally conceded that Mr. Bu-CHANAN will receive the mission to England; and there is but one opinion in regard to such a selection-namely, that no better appointment could be made; and that no man is better able to retrieve our lost national character than he. The President and his Cabinet hold a business conference every morning, and continue in session until 1 o'clock. The Senate hold an executive session daily to act upon executive business. Col. FORNEY, who has been quite ill, is now convalescent, and gets to his office about an hour each day. It is astonishing how popular the Col. is with all classes. McKEAN his former partner in the Pennsylvanian, is also here, and a more congenial companion and high toned gentleman I have yet to find. In haste In haste, BLURSON.

Horrible Murder.

Itorrible Murder. It becomes our painful duty to record a double murder, in the district of Southwark, attended with circumstanges of unparallelled atrocity. The dreadful tragedy created the most intense excite-ment in the district in which it was perpetrated, and crowds were collected in the neighborhood the entire day, notwithstanding the unfavorable state of the weather. The victims were two married sis-ters, named Hannah Shaw and Ellen Lynch natives of Ireland, the first about 40 years old, and the other about 35 years. They resided in the second story of No. 260 Federal street, on the south side, a few doors above Seventh, the other portion of the premises being in the occupancy of John Carroll and wife. On Thursday night Mr. and Mrs. Car-roll attended a ball, in Broad street, and according to the best information, were there all night. Mrs. Carroll returned to her house about 7 o'clock yes-terday morning, and upon opening the window of the front room, first floor, the bodies of the mur-dered women were lound lying within a few feet of each other, their heads both in the same direction, towards the east. Mrs. Lynch was in her night clothes, the other was dressed in her ordinary clothing. The alarm was given and numbers were soon drawn to the solt. The Coroner was ent for clothing. The alarm was dressed in her ordinary clothing. The alarm was given and numbers were soon drawn to the spot. The Coroner was sent for and early reached the scene, and with the assis-tance of Lieutenant Clark, of the Southwark police and his officers, commenced an investigation of the horrible affair. In the course of the day every fact and circumstance was developed which tended to throw light upon the mystery. Several arrests were light upon the mystery. Several arrests were made by the police force, among them that of a certain Arthur, Spring, who had visited the husband of Mrs. Lynch, before he left for New York, which of Mrs. Lynch, before he left for New York, which he did a few days ago, and who had a quarrel with John Carroll, the principal tenant of the house, on Tuesday night last. A young man, named Ryan, a nephew of the murdered woman, was also arrest-ed, but only because he had visited the house, and not from any suspicious circumstances that attached to him. From all the facts it would seem that the object of the murderer was plunder seem that the object of the murderer was plunder, for the trunk of Mrs. Lynch was broken open, and the contents abstracted therefrom. There is proof that it contained from one to two hundred dollars in gold. Beside the trunk the point of a dirk wa's found, which had been used to open the trunk.— Though the murdered women both were found in the front room, the great struggle had evidently been in the back room, first floor, for there was considerable blood upon the wal: and floor, and several articles of clothing discovered there were esturated with blood. Near the stove, a hole, five or six inches in diameter, was burnt in the floor, as though an effort had been made to set the place on fire.—Philadelphia News. that it contained from one to two hundred dollar
