The Chinese Rebellion. The following is an extract of a private letter dated Macao, March 28th:

This mail carries home news of the probabl overthrow of the Chinese government, as the rebel have, ere this, possession of Nankin, which is con sidered by the Chinese as the end of the presen rulers. It is said from there they will probably g to Soochon, and finally, Shanghea, then cut off the rice and other provisions in transit to Pekin the seat of government. From the National Intelligencer, May 30.]

Commodore Aulick, late in command of the East India squadron, also returned in the Arctic. He is bearer of despatches from the United States Corr missioner for China and from the American Em where a road has a bad location, as torougn marshy ground, etc., they should be more vigilant in ob-serving the condition thereoi, and that they are on-ly excusable where acts of Providence, such as storms and floods, preclude the possibility of instant bassy at London, which were forwarded from New York to the President yesterday afternoon. The Commodore further thinks, that if assistance were applied for it would not be given, as the toreigners in China are unitedly in favor of the success of the and children-had to flee before the devouring ebels. The present Emperor has, (he says.) by his sensuality and his addiction to opium, alienated from himself the esteem of his people, and that he and his corrupt cabinet are unfitted to comprehend and deal with the present enlarged demands of com-merce. The Commodore considers, also, that all the assistance which could be now given in aid of the existing government would be of no service in determining the issue of the war, that the triumphs of the rebels consist in an inland progress towards Pekin, which can in no way be effected by the o erations of a naval squadron; that the war vessels of any nation on the station are not more than sufficient to protect its own interests; and finally that more is to be boned for, commercially and politially, from the success of the insurgents, than by the continuance of the reigning dynasty

MAN AND WOMAN POIBONED IN THOY, N. Y. The Albany (N. Y.) Atlas, of the 27th, has the following acco unt of a double murder, perpetrated in ving account of a gouple monor, particular oy by a woman. On Wednesday, about 8 P. M., a woman, named

Robinson, living near the State Dam, came into a grocery, corner of Rensselaer and River street, Troy, kept by a young man samed Timothy Lanagan, against whose wife she had an old grudge, and wanted to drink a glass of beer. A young woman present, Victorine Lubee, wa invited to drink with toem, which she did. Mrs. Robinson took a paper from her pocket, containing a white powder, some of which she put in the beer, saying it was the nicest kind of loaf sugar. They both drank the beer. The powder, which was arefnic, soon begau to have its effect-and physicians were called, but in spite of all their exercions. Lanegan died of the poison about half past 7 o'clock that evening, and the girl lingered till yesterday afternoon, at four o'clock. The prisoner was arrested about half past six o'clock, near the Troy House. When taken, she had two pistols, one of Colt's revolvers and a singla barrel, in her passession; both loaded. A large number of stolen goods were found in her res-idence, to the value of one thousand dollars. The woman, Robinson, who perpetrated the murder, is about 30 years of age, and represented as "endow-ed with extraordinary personal beauty," but she has have been and the second beauty. has long borne a most unenviable reputation. The object of the prisoner's hate was Mrs. Lanegan, but she refused to take the beer, lest it might she relused to take the beer, lest it might sicken her. Mr. Lanagan also objected, stating that he was coming to Troy, and did not wish to drink previously. The murderess however urged and fi-nally Mr. Lanagan and the young worman, Miss Lubee, partook of it, the latter drinking only a portion of the glassfull. Mr. Lanagan immediately left for Troy, while Mrs. Robinson remained in con-versation with Mrs. Lanagan and Miss Lubee.--Shortly after, Miss Lubee was taken sick, and man ifested a disposition to vomit. Dr. J. C. Ayer,—Fife years trial of CHERRY Percorat. in my practice, has proven what I fore-saw from its composition, must be true, that it erad-icates and cures the colds and coughs to which we, in this section, are peculiarly hable. AMERICAN PRISONERS IN JAVA,-The Genor correspondent (the American Charge de Affaires in Sardinia) of the Newark Daily Advertiser, writes under date of the 1st of May as follows:

"The Singapore Free Press, of the 18th of March has from Java some news about Mr. Gibson, proprietor of the American schooner Flirt, and his mate, who were taken last year to Batavia from Pamate, who were taken last year to Batavia from Pa-lembaug, accused of having endeavored to excite the Sultan of Jambi to hostilities against the Dutch Government. The tribunal which investigated the case, declared that there were not sufficient mo-tives to keep them longer imprisoned. Neverthe-less these two American citizens are still prisoners. They recently appeared before the triburals; the phate and sufficient days, and although the pubdebates lasted several days, and although the pub debates lasted soveral days, and although the pub-lic minister proposed the most severe penalities for the accused, they were absolved from the charge brought against them. But they cannot be set at liberty till the Supreme Court has prononunced their seatence. As the Dutch Government does not al-low Consulates to exist in their Indian possessions, the subjects of American and European powers are deprived of that assistance which the represent-tives of their respective governments might give them.

It is therefore surprising, that the Government of the United States, so prompt to sustain the rights of its citizens, has not taken suitable measures for the liberation of Mr. Gibson and his mate."

HOBBIBLE AFFAIR. - Attempt of a Mother to mur-der her Children !- On Tuesday evening last, at an early hour, a Mrs. Harper, residing in Jackson court, between Ninth and Tenth, Race and Vine streets, Philadelphia, whilst under the influence of mental derangement, made a desperate attempt to take the life of her four young children, and to kill herself. The neighbors were alarmed by the screams of the children, and on going to learn the cause, met the eldest child of the unhappy woman, a led of the thent eldest child of the unhappy woman. herself. a lad of about eight years, who said that his mother wanted to kill him, and was murdering his brothers and sisters with a carving knife. Several persons immediately rushed into the house, and found the statement of the boy sadly correct. The wretched mother they met brandishing a large knife, with which she had inflicted wounds on the bodies of three of her children, and then tried to put an end to her own existence. One of the chilnren, a little yound in the throat, near the carotid artery; an other, a boy of six years, had received a severe though not dangerous gash on the shoulder; and a third, an infant some three months old, had a bad cut on its throat. All were bleeding profusely, and together with the wound on the mother, presented a most shocking sight. Every assistance was im-mediately rendered, and it is probable that all will soon recover. The little girl, however, lost much blood, and was seriously injured. The knife used by the mother was, fortunately, very dull, other-wise the consequences would have been far more serious. The mother was taken care of. Youth, Age, Style, Taste, Beauty and Fashion.—The seasons of life should be arranged like those of the year. In the spring of youth, when all is lovely and gay, then as the green cover is spread on all the face of smiling na-ture, in brightness and beauty, so let the dress par-take of the season. Fine taste, as well as (ashion, decrees the necessity of nicely adapted garments to age, circumstances and seasons. The man whose head is silvered with age, who feels not the blood of youth dancing warmly in his veins, should not run into extremes of dress, nor yet should he permit his clothing to be so far behind the times ab to render him ridiculous. There is a becoming fashionable dress, suitable for the age and seasons of life as well as the seasons of the year. You can be suited in handsome style in clothing that is well and fashionably made, of good materials that will fit well and become the figure and season, at the great Clothing Bazar of JOSEPH GORMLEY, No. 58, North Queen street, Lancaster.
