The storm of Friday week, it appears was not confined to this locality. In New York it was terrific, as we learn from the Herald of the 2d inst., list, ninety in number. from which we make the following extract. That Yesterday atternoon, between five and six o'clock our city was visited by one of the most tremendou hail storms that we ever remember to have seen The wind, that during the early part of the day had been from the northeast, suddenly veered round to the northwest, and then again changed to the east, bringing with it a heavy thunder storm. The most peculiar phenomenon was the sudden hurricane, and the storm, not of hail, for that would be too unmeaning a term to describe it by, but of pieces of ice, which came clattering down upon the roofs of the houses like a shower of brickbats. Extraordinary as it may appear, this is the nearest r semblance that can be given to the noise that the storm produced; but singular enough, this phenom-enon was very local, not extending over the whole city, for in some parts the tall of hail had become dified into rain, probably having melted in its passage to the earth.

In order that our readers may not suspect us of exaggeration, we have appended two instances of what this hail storm was:

The ship yard of Mr. Thomas Collyer, at the third measured 3 inches long and 2 inches thick. The inhabitants of a house in Waverley Place The inhabitants of a nouse in waveriey Frace were startled by a solid body falling in the front yard, and on proceeding there tound a number of pieces of ice, which appeared to have been originally one piece broken by the fall. When together they would weigh about two pounds. The garden e back of the house had also a large number of pieces of ice scattered over it, and a skylight at the top of the house was smashed by the hailstone The noise of the falling hail on the Crystal Palace was tremendous-the dome acting as an im

curred up town, by which three persons lost their lives and seven others were severely injured, some of whom it is expected will not recover. The scene of the accident was in Forty-third street, berecene of the accident was in Forty-third street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues, at a newly erected trame building opposite Latting's Observatory, which belongs to Dr. S. P. Townsend, and was not entirely completed. It is also opposite the Crystal During the storm this building, which was two stories high, and roofed in, was overturned instantaneously, by the hurricane that blew about 5 o'clock, and levelled in a moment to the ground. At the time that the accident occurred there were six men employed on the ground floor in plastering the walls, three of them as plasterers, one of whon was the boss, named Wm. McCracken, and who was killed, with two others. There were three other laborers on this floor. On the upper floor were other workmen employed in fitting the piper and other similar work, the building being intended we believe for a saloon and in addition to these there was a large number of people who had sought temporary shelter when the storm came on. So sudden was the accident that no time was given for escape, the whole building being prostrated withou even the shadow of a warning.

THE BALLOON ASCENSION .- A tremendous crowd assembled on the afternoon of the Fourth of July, in Bayardstown, to witness Professor Wise's balloc ascension, and the hills, both in Allegheny and Pitts-burg, were crowded with spectators. When the r arrived, it was found that the balloon did not contain sufficient gas, and there were no materials on hand to generate more. Protessor W., howeve cut off the car, ballast, and grappling irons, and tom of the net work. The balloon rose a few feet only, when it struck the fence, and the ropes catch ing there, it fell across it, tearing it considerably .-The gas was escaping rapidly, yet still Mr. Wise insisted on going up, so chagrined was he at the failure, but a number of the bystanders interfered and prevented him.

The large assembly, inside the enclosure, became very much excited, and called for Mr. Kinney, who had disappeared. Professor Wise mounted one of the benches, and stated that the failure was unavoidable on his part; that he received two hundred dollars from Mr. Kinney for making the ascension, and that the latter was to have furnished him with sufficient materials for the generation of gas. This he had not done, and hence the unfortunate position in which he found himself.

Some of the persons present appeared to wish to destroy the balloon, but desisted on being told by Professor Wise that it was his own personal prop erty. After some time, the crowd dispersed in a very bad humor, besides having lost both time and money. The fire works were not sent off in the evening, according to promise.

Yesterday, Fifth street, at Reineman's jewelry establishment, where most of the tickets had been sold, was crowded by those holding tickets who came to demand their money back, or their prizes, according to the advertisement. A few, a very tew, of the latter were handed over, but those present were by no means satisfied, declaring that they had been imposed on. One of their number was at ed, and taken to the watch house on : charge of using threatening language, and in the afternoon, such was the crowd, and so great the excitement, that Mr. Reinman was com, elled to close his establishment .- Pittsburg Journal.

A BISHOP'S PAY AND PERQUISITES.—The Bishop of Durham is in embarraced circumstances, poor man. His income having been reduced to about $40,000 per annum, (it was formerly about $120,000,) he finds himself in a pitiable state of destitution, and has applied to the ecclesiastical com-missioners for an additional $5,000 a year or so to pay his "gamekeepers" and "watchers on the moors," and keep his lawns—not the lawn he wears but the lawns around his palace—in apple pie or-der. The commissioners decline to make the extra allowance, the more especially as the worthy "Lord Spiritual " has already overdrawn his account some $350,000 since his salary was cut down; or rather has retained that amount instead of paying it over like an honest prelate. In the diocess of Durhan there are dozens of poor curates with wives and families to support, who do not receive £50 sterling per annum; and yet the Bishop, in his schedule of extras, puts down the annual wages of oae gamekeeper at £101 6d, and of another at £58 6s. 6d. Saving his lordship's game, therefore, is considered a more valuable and important service than saving the souls of his lordship's flock. The estisaving the source of his lordship holds carnal luxuries as compared with things spiritual is also manifested in another part of his "little bill." He puts down the expenses of his parks at £100, but modestly observed his factor of his another part of his parks at £100, but modestly observed his latest his parks at £100, but modestly observed his latest estly charges only £15 for those of his chapel !-That blessed institution known as the "Church of England," is based upon a system of monstrous in equalities. They stayed around the towering pile for an hour or more. They gazed with their stoic looks and unmoved countenane on that token to the memory of one of their kind, and, undoubtedly, secretly felt a national pride that the Great Spirit had prompted the present generation of pale faces to an act, commemorative of an Indian brave, whose name is identified with aboriginal greatness.

the Royal Mail steamship Arabia, Capt. Judkins from New York on Wednesday June 15th, at 12.30 P. M. arrived at Liverpool at 10 o'clock A. M. or Saturday, June 25th, thus accomplishing the passage inside of ten days.

The general features of the provision marke were essentially the same as at the date of our pre vious advices. The political news from the continent is not

"The Russian Minister, M. de Kissleff, had an interview, yesterday, with the Emperor, when his Majesty is reported to have said, Monsieur l'Ambassadeur, tell your sovereign that I do not seel for war, but if war begins, I shall not be the first to return the sword to the scabbard. This obser vation proves that the Emperor fully understand the meaning of Count de Nesselrode's note to be un friendly towards France, and may serve to confirm the correctness of the view taken here by thos who look on the Russian note as having raised a fresh danger in the provocation it throws at the French Emperor, who, however desirous he may be of peace, it is not without motives for taking up the gauntlet, should it be rashly flung down."

Accounts from Constantinople, of the 10th June, state that on the previous day June 9th, Redschild Pasha, the minister for foreign affairs, had received letter from Count Nesselrode, the prime minister f Russia, in which the Sultan is expressly inform ed, "that it is written for the purpose of giving him the opportunity once more, of accepting the last ul-timatum of Prince Menschikoff, and in case he should not do so, that the Russian army would cros ques.) in order to obtain by force, but without an declaration of war, what the Porte would not yield spontaneously." We are now enabled to add to the above intelligence that, up to and after its receipt at Constantinople, the Government of the Sulan remained firm in their resolution not to accept the terms so insolently dictated by Russia; that the Divan is supported in this resolve by the cordial and united support of the representatives of Great Britain, France, Austria and Prussia; and that there s every appearance that the Porte will not yield.

Dear Sir: You ask me for my opinion of "Silver's Mineral Paints," which you have put on my Machine Shop and Planing Mill. I give you with pleasure my full and hearty recommendation of it as a preventive of Fire communicating from Chimneys, or from adjoining buildings. The Paint which you nay not found a slate, and I feel as secure from Fire, in this direction, as is possible. A few weeks after the roofs had been painted, I made an experiment on two or three shingles by placing them in the furnace under the boilers; the result was, that the portion uncovered was entity consumed, while the painted part ered was entirly consumed, while the painted part was apparently sound, though upon examination the wood was found to be charred; the Paint how-ever was firm and but little blistered. I consider this as severe a test as your Paint can be put to and under the circumstances I do not hesitate to commend it as an invaluable preventive agains Fire. Respectfully, &c.
