Truth Well Told. The Pennsylvanian, speaking of the proceedings of the State Convention, very truthfully remarks :-"Our last Democratic State Convention taught a good lesson to a few mischief-makers in our ranks, Those who came there to assail PIERCE, or to damage Bigler, or to defeat Knox, or to overthrow national resolutions, were appaled and rebuked by the quiet dignity and unanimity of that body in layor of both administrations, in favor of Knox, and in favor of high principles. The delegates acted as if there was not such a thing as a disorganizer in our ranks-as if there was not a bac passion in the world. And in doing this they reflected the sentiments of a great and united party. We hope those who came to divide and destroy, went home, after this demonstration, wiser and better men. Let young men be admonished by the example, and remember that to do right is not on. ly the best, but the most politic course. Honesty is the best policy."

ult., and witnessing the deliberations of the Convention, will heartily subscribe to the truth of the above remarks. It was a terrible rebuke to mischief-makers" and "disorganizers," and one which we trust may be of use to them in all time to come. The great Democratic party of Pennsylvania is a united party-one and indivisible-and it is all idle for a few dissatisfied spirits scattered here and there over the State, to suppose that they can seriously disturb its harmony or endanger the success of its candidates. Such attempts are simply absurd, and only expose those who; make them to the ridicule and contempt of the people.

Old Berks all Right.

One of the largest and most enthusiastic meetings of the Democracy ever held in the county of Berks, came off at Reading on Tuesday last, at which resolutions were passed sustaining the National and State administrations. Old Berks has now spoken and her voice utters the sentiments of the true-hearted Democracy of the State in relation to the action of our general and State rulers.

Pacific Railroad.

The Washington Union, of Tuesday last, has a lengthy editorial article, advocating the construction of the Pacific Railroad. It bases its argument for the constitutionality of the right of Congress to aid the work, upon the war power. Whether the construction of this immense improvement, by the Gen. eral Government, would, or would not, be a departure from the principles laid down in the celebrated veto message of the Maysville Road Bill, by Gen. JACKSON, we leave for others to decide. It is a great and necessary work, but how, or by what means it shall be constructed, is for Congress to determine. The question will doubtless give rise to able and interesting discussions at the ensuing session of the National Legislature.

THE U. S. TREASURY .- The Treasury is full to overflowing. The National Intelligencer says that there is now a "surplus within a fraction of $22.-000,000 in the Treasury, notwithstanding the Sec retary is redeeming United States stock, and otherwise paying the public debt as fast as the law to that end will allow him. Thus it appears that the Government's revenues are increasing so rapidly that the public debt is being fast extinguished with- sixty years ago that the laws of one of the States out materially decreasing the amount of cash on

A Big PRICE. The New York Day Book, o Tuesday, says that Swaim, of the Philadelphia Ledger, is negotiating for the New York Herald. Or the Friday previous he offered, so the statemen runs, $400,000 cash for the whole concern, Hudson and all, or $70,000 per annum in perpetuo, but tha neither proposition had been definitively accepted. If there is any truth in the rumor, we think Bennett very foolish for not accepting the offer at once $70,000 per annum, for ever, "as long as grass goes and water runs," just think of it!

> IT A good anecdote is related of JOHN PRICE WETHERILL, the popular merchant, who lately died in Phliadelphia, leaving an estate of nearly $1,000 000. On one occasion two city-bucks drove out to his country seat to visit his daughter. Seeing Mr Wetherill at the yard gate, dressed very shabbily they mistook him for a servant, and ordered him to open the gate. "Of course," said he, "I will do that," and suiting the action to the word, he opened the gate, and the young dandies drove in, throwing him a quarter as they passed. He quickly picked up the quarter and pocketed it, and a short time af terwards appeared in the parlor, and was intro duced to the young men, by the daughter, as her father! BIGLER'S ADMINISTRATION.—The administration public affairs in the State, since the advent of Gov. Bigler, into the chief executive chair, is marked in every act, by pure patriolism and sound political judgment. While canvassing the State previous to his election, Mr. Bigler took the broad ground of the National Democracy, and boldly pro claimed on every occasion, and at every place, manded peace from the agitation of the Slavery question, and that all sectional jealousies, should be uried in oblivion. This was a bold position to take at that time, and Gov. Bigler had the nerve to do it, and success crowned his honest exertions in bring ing back the party to a healthy union.

THE PRESIDENT'S VISIT TO NEW YORK .- The New York (Sunday) Atlas adverts in the following handsome manner, to the late visit of the President to New York :

"Many years have elapsed since we formed an equaintance with the present President of the United States. That aequaintance was made when he was a student at law, and subsequently ripened when he was a representative from New Hamp-shire in the Congress of the United States. We refer to the fact, not to indulge any vain spirit of egotism, but because it affords us an opportunity to say, that he appeared, in the guise of a Chief Mag. istrate, with the same modest and genial demeanor that characterized him when he held a 'lourth estate' as an American citizen. He was as unosten tatious as the President as he always was, when he moved among the world as a private citizen. There was about him, whilst he received the somewhat idolatrous homage of his fellow-citizens, the same unpretending aspect that he manifested in his hun bler days. "The visit to New York will redound to the advantage of Gen. Pierce and to the country. Patri-otism had its apotheosis, and the people had ample opportunity to manifest their devoon to the insti tutions of the republic. The whole city was de lighted; and the Chief Magistrate had ample assur ance at their hands that they would second him in his efforts to perpetuate, consolidate, and advance our continually growing tame and glory.

JUDGE KNOX-A MERITED TRIBUTE.-Mr. Jack son of Carbondale, in this State, who served two years in the Legislature with Judge Knox, pays the , following merited tribute to his ability, character and worth, in a letter, to the Carbondale Citizen .-

Mr. Editor.—I perceive Gov. Bigler has again dis played his good judgment by supplying the place of the late lamented Judge Gibson, of the Supreme Bench, now deceased, by the appointment of the Hon. Judge Knox, of Tioga. During the Sessions of '46 and '47, I had the honor of forming his acquaint ance by being seated, during the Session, next his elbow. He was plain and unassuming in manner attentive to the business that immediately concern ed his constituents, and also kept a good for the general interests of the State. Napoleon's Prediction .- In Dr. O'Meara's work, published some thirty years since, entitled A voice from St. Helena," the following is given as Napoleon's prediction, uttered shortly before his leath, respecting the ultimate tate of Turkey:

CITY AND COUNTY ITEMS. THEATRICAL .- The complimentary benefit given

We no not wonder at thisand deservedly popular in this community—as also the fact that the illustrious Bard's great play of "Othello," or the "Moor of Venice," was the entertainment of the evening. Miss W. sustained her part with distinguished ability, in the character of "Emilia," and was repeatedly and enthusiastically applauded by the audience. Mr. M FARLAND, in his personation of "Othello came fully up to public expectation. This young and promising actor needs no encomium at our hands, as it is conceded all round that he has but few superiors and fewer equals in his profession and bids fair, in a short time, to rank number on as a Tragedian. Mr. PALMER made a very clever "Iago," and sus tained the character with considerable ability. Miss

STEELE, in the part of "Desdemona," also did her self much credit, and sustained the character throughout to admiration. Her singing is also very good, especially her "Widow Machree," and 'Lilly Dale." Mr. HEMPLE is also an actor of merit, and did himself much credit in his personation of "Roderigo." His forte, however, is Comedy, and he de servedly ranks in the first class, in that particular Last, but not least, is Mr. Brown, who, although sustaining an inferior character in the play, evinces genius, and we doubt not that if a leading one had been assigned him, he would have fully come up

Take the Company all through, for we have no room to treat of each one personaily, and it is marked by more than usual ability. The Manager, M. THE ENGINES .- The trial of power between the Washington and American Fire Engines came off in South Queen street, in this city, on Wednesday afternoon last. About fifteen hundred persons were attracted to witness the contest. The terms of the wager were that the American, a first class engine could throw water a distance of 25 feet farther than the Washington, which is only a third class engine The latter, in the first trial, threw a distance of 179 feet 4 inches; the former about 190 feet-thus lo sing the wager. Both the engines were broken in the trials; and as the Judges had not made a de cision on Wednesday evening, it is generally believed that another trial will be had. The American engine was built in Lancaster, the Washington in Philadelphia, EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATION .- The regular an nual meeting of the Lancaster County Educational Association, will be held at Fulton Hall, in this city, on Saturday the 20th inst. A full attendance of the members is requested—as the annual election for officers will then take place, arrangements for the Teachers' Institute be made, and other important business be transacted. The Whig delegate elections, in this City, were conducted with great spirit, and resulted in favor of Charles Boughten, Esq., for County Treas urer-that being the principal bone of contention He carried three of the four wards.

Late Foreign News.

The news by the Washington and Niagara, both of which vessels arrived from England last week, is more pacific than heretofore. the Protestant worship.

The overland mail arrived at London on the 18th The news is of a most important character. The British war steamer Hermes has returned from an expedition to the seat of rebellion. Naukin was listrict was in anarchy and confusion. The rehelthey were strongly fortifying, and waiting re-inforce ments from the South, previous to advancing on Pekin. The insurgent leaders raised a standard o Christianity. A correct translation Bible is freely circulated amongst them, and zeal amounting to fanaticism, leading them on to attempt the destruction of the whole Tartar race, whilst strictly moral duties are enforced and practised throughout their ranks. The commander of the Hermes explained the neutral position which foreign powers were dis-posed to hold during the struggle.

The telegraph brought us the rumored declina ion of Mr. Buchanan, and the political editors each and their own opinion as to the cause, but the general impression was that a misunderstanding isted between Mr. Buchanan, Gov. Marcy and President, upon certain questions, and that the President differed with Mr. B. in their proposed setlement. But we were soon advised that no such nisunderstanding existed, and that Mr. Buchan had decided positively upon going to the Court o St. James. Mr. Buchanan has a great many warm friends here in the west, who, if a fitting opportu-nity occurs, will show their strong attachment for Pennsylvania's Favorite Son.'

A day or two since I read a correspondence he St. Louis Democrat between Judge Lewis and Mr. Wise, on the subject of crossing the Atlantic in a balloon. The correspondence was published entire, and introduced with a few remarks by an acquaintance of Mr. Wise; and for the benefit of nim and his numerous friends and admirers, I an-CROSSING THE ATLANTIC IN A BALLOON.

To the Editors of the Missouri Democrat :- SIRS

To the Educys of the missours Democrat:—SIRS: I perceive that a correspondence has lately taken place, and been published in the Lancaster city (Pa) independent, Whig between Mr. John Wise, thecelebrated Æronaut of Lancaster, Pa., and Judge Ellis to the expectations of his friends. ewis, of the same place, relative to the practica ility of crossing the Atlantic ocean in a halloon Mr. Wise proposes to do this in forty-eight hours, with an outfit not exceeding $25,000; first propoing to demonstrate its feasibility by an experimen ang to demonstrate its seasoning of an advantal trip from one of the western cities to the Atlantic seaboard. The writer of this is personally acuainted with Mr. Wise, and has seen him make numerous successful ærial ascensions; and know-ing him to be a practical man, believes that his reposition should be seriously considered by scien-inc and practical men. Allow me, through the columns of your paper, to suggest to Mr. Wise, as starting point—from one of the western cities of which he speaks—the city of St. Louis. I believe, sir, that, should this city be selected by him for so interesting and scientific an experiment, a large sum of money might be collected toward defraying the expenses of his contemplated voyage across the ocean. The people here, in the west, have never seen Mr. Wise make an ascension, and would no doubt come bundreds of miles to witness so imposing and truly grand a spectacle. Should the newspaper editors deem it worthy of notice, and show the great Æronaut some inducement, there is no doubt he would select our city for his experimen-tal trip through the air. I here attach the correspondence that has already taken place on the sul ject. Judge Lewis gives the proposition consideration and presents the following lacts and difficulties; while Mr. Wise gives the dimensions and power of the mammoth baloon, with a reply to power of the mammoth bald he queries of Judge Lewis. I will now leave the subject with you, and hope aat the different papers will take interest enough in it to give it a passing notice, and I have no doubt we can prevail upon Mr. Wise to select the great emporium of the West for his proposed test

Since which, I perceive that a dispatch has been received from Lancaster, and published in the Democrat, stating that Mr. Wise would be here on the Oth of August, and make a series of ascensions.believe he has never made an ascension so far west, and he will no doubt create a great excitement among the "Pukes." Well, we have not a Postmaster yet, and some do no expect to have one until the end of Gen. Pierce's administration. The present Whig incumbent sent his resignation in to the Department, and t was immediately returned, with instructions to hold on to the place until they were ready to "turn him out." I should judge this was equivalent to re-appointment; for if they would not accept his resignation, made in good faith, 1 cannot believe the President would be so cruel as to remove him. lowever, there are various opinions concerning the non-acceptance of Judge Gamble's resignation.nk he will no doubt be removed, while oth ers are of the opinion that the result of the August election will decide the contest; and others, again go so far as to think Gen, Pierce has not indepen-dence enough to choose between a Benton and Anti-Benton Democrat. I think it decidedly should post pone so important an office so long, when we not post pone so important an office so long, when we administrations always manage to fill these lucra tive places at as early a day as possible, but the reason, is, probably, because they so seldom get an opportunity. All the minor offices, it appears, are attended to before the larger ones, and no one could tell, although it is a question daily asked "Who is to be the St. Louis Postmaster?"

"Who is to be the St. Louis Postmaster?"

John Shawney and Joseph Dodge were executed on Friday last, for the murder of two Indians on the Plains, some time last summer. These men were to have terminated their earthly career in June, but the President reprieved them until the 22d of the present month. Some little excitement prevailed in the early part of the day, and many persons assembled around the jail to get a last look at the unhappy criminals; but by the time the fatal hour arrived, the greater portion of the crowd dispersed. The solemn ceremony was conducted in private within the jail yard walls, where no eveprivate within the jail yard walls, where no eye not even those upon the house-tops around the jail, which were covered with human beings—could see the unfortunate men in their last dreadful struggle. the unfortunate men in their last dreadful struggle. Both prisoners were neatly dressed, with black frock coats, vests and pants, of summer material. They were then pinioned and led to the scaffold, each bearing in his hands a small crucifix, and accompanied by his spiritual adviser. Col. Baber read to them, while seated, his warrant of execution, after which Dodge came forward and addressed the company as follows: dressed the company as follows:

Gentlemen: I am about to be executed and in the Gentlemen: I am about to be executed and in the little time I have left, I thank you gentlemen for many kindnesses shown me while I was in prison and for your presence here to-day. I have not long to live, but my prayer is that the Lord may have mercy on you all as I hope he will have mercy on my soul. May God be with you and bless, and may you take warning by my fate. I cannot nay you you take warning by my fate. I cannot pay you to warning by my fate. I cannot pay you for your kindness but hope you will be paid. This is all I have to say; I cannot express what I feel; the Lord have mercy on you all—Amen.

Shawney then came forward, and with much difficulty and emotion said: Gentlemen : I am brought here for execution, and Gentlemen: I am brought here for execution, and the time has come. I am willing to suffer the penalty of the law. I thank all for your presence, and may God have mercy on you and me. My prayer is that you may all be saved, and that the Lord way have mercy ony our souls—Amen.

The ropes were then adjusted—the bolt was drawn, and the unhappy men were launched into eternity. The fall was about 6 feet-Shawney's neck was broken by it, while his companion strungled.

was broken by it, while his companion struggled and suffered considerably for several minutes.—
They met their terrible fate without any apparent signs of fear, and explated their earthly career in the hope of going to a better world. Thus ended signs of fear, and expiated their earthly career in the hope of going to a better world. Thus ended the race of these two men for gold and blood.

The opening of the first section of the Pacific Railroad was celebrated last Tuesday by the company. A long train of cars, containing the City Authorities, the St. Louis Greys, invited guests and stockholders, drawn by a locomotive of St. Louis manufacture, left the depot for the present terminus—39 miles—where a dinner was served up, and speeches and addresses delivered by several distinguished gentlemen. Toasts were proposed, and the sparkling champaign flowed freely and plentifully, and all returned in fine spirits and highly delighted with the day's celebration. They are drighted with the day's celebration. They are drighted with the day's celebration. lighted with the day's celebration. Franklin, No. 2 lying at the levee, and before flames could be arrested, the steamers River flames could be arrested, the steamers Bluff City and Highland Mary lying along side, were also wrapped in one sheet of fire, and burned to the water's edge. The Bluff City was a new boat, and had on board a valuable cargo, which is a total loss. She only made three trips—her cost was some $40,000, and insured for about $20,000; the value of her cargo was upwards of $30,000. The Dr. Franklin was valued at about $6,000 or $7,000, and I believe was insured for her full value. The principal part of her cargo was appearable faith. principal part of her cargo was government freight some 30 or 40 tons, destined for the ports in Minnesota. The Highland Mary was worth but very little, and was insured for $4,000 or $5,000, which will cover the loss to the owners, Some eight o ten other boats shoved out and floated down the current, and thus making a narrow escape. Several persons who were asteep in the ill-fated boats, were badly buried before they could make their escape. The total loss of property is estimated at 100,000... scape. OLD GUARD, Washington Correspondence.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER TO THE EDITOR Washington, D. C. August 5th, 1853. The Pennsylvanian, in speaking of the departure agreeable to one unaccustomed to such ill treat--"He goes thither carrying with him the strong regard of the freemen of the republic, all of whom are confident that the nations honor and safety could not be trusted to an abler statesman than the Hon. James Buchanan." Very true, Mr. Editor, and as the italics above, speak the sentiments of the Penneylvanian in reference to the qualities of Mr. Bu chanan for a foreign appointment, permit me to say, that a nations honor and safety in its domestic relations and internal policy of the States in their prosperity and progress in the scale of nations, could not be entrusted, in my opinion, to a more abler statesman than the Hon. James Buchanan. Gov. Cobb of Georgia, is now in this city, and, t will be seen in a few days, that there is a harmony between the President and himself.-The Whig papers would make us believe that there is a difference, but there is nothing of it. He looks remarkably well, as buoyant and happy as when it was his duty and pleasure to preside over the House of Representatives. We could wish him a Senator in room of Mr. Toomns;

I am pleased to see so much unanimity among the democrats ofyour state, for the re-nominationol

Gov. BIGLER for a second term. This is as it should be, for no man has done better than he has done, in the trying difficulties he has had to encounter, in reforming the State from the miserable turmoil and iniquity, into which she had been plunged by the late Abolition Governor Johnson. We shall rejoice that the sterling democracy of the State will again place him in the gubernatorial chair, by an increased majority over his first great triumph over the abolition and disunionists of the Keystone State
The New York Herald, it is stated is to pass in to the hands of Mr. Swaim, of Philadelphia. shall not object to a change of proprietors. The Herald has been a newspaper, and is now a newspaper, but, friend or foe, he that has paid most freely has always tared the best in the good opinion of the Editor. Of Mr. Bennett we have always entertained but one opinion, and that is that he should never by the people of the U. States have been considered as a fit exponent of the morals of the peo ple of this country. Bishop Hughes, of New York could well measure the man, and I am somewhat pleased that to him is the credit due, that the Her

Mr. Bennett retires from the Herald. The Secretary of the Interior has come and went from Washington in quick time. He is now in New York, and, for a double object, looking after his own household, and somewhat engaged in peering round for the settlement of the difficulty among our democratic friends in the Empire State. There, the mission of Gov. M Clelland will fail, for, no mutual concession and good teeling feeling will ever be cordially entered into with our friends in New York, so long as Gov. Marcy remains in the State Department. It appears, that his selection for a Cabinet position, from the very commencement of President Pierce's administration, has been the cause of the revival of the old feuds in the demoratic ranks, and the feud is widening every day. We hope some plan will be adopted, by which this eternal bickering and future discord in New York politics will be settled. It is time it should be, else whiggery and abolition united will give to the emocratic party a waterloo defeat in the next No rember elections.

In consequence of this second absence of Mr. Modelland, from Washington, the duty of continu-ing double duty devolves upon Judge Campbell.— He is fully able for the work, and, I assure you, hat both the Interior and Post Office Departs in their personel are in very competent and judi-cious keeping. So much so, that all our friends are satisfied with the menagement of the departments. By the way, Mr. Oakford, chief Clerk, of the Post Office Depaartment of your State, will make a good and valuable officer. He is a fine jovial fellow, with a heart kind and liberal, manners agree-able and commanding, and withal, talent of the right kind to make him what he will be in a very ort time, a very accomplished and popular officer. This department is well represented from your pa-

The mission to France has not yet been settled; that is, it may be settled who is to have the im-portant place, but the name of the fortunate peron has not been given to the public. The Hon. Geo. M. Dallas has been here, but, I rather think he is after the U.S. Attorneyship for the Eastern District, rather than for any other place. It is an even chance that he will get the position of ttorney.

The Election in Kentucky, is coming in as well as we could expect from that old whig state. One thing is certain, the talented Major Breckenridge of the Ashland district, has been re-elected to the 33d Congress, by an increased majority over his former election. He is more than a match for all the Whigs in Kentucky, and for full one-half of them that will be in the next Congress. I predict for this highly accomplished and talented young statesman a bright political career.

Yours, Whig vs. Whig.

The Whig State Journal, published at Harrisourg, makes the following very pathetic announce

"Robert Morris, Esq., one of the clerks in the Post Office Department, has been turned out by Postmaster General Campbell. Mr. Morris was a skilful officer and honorable man; a grandson of he signer of the Declaration of Independence. This s a graceless and ungrateful act on the part Judge Campbell, who is so blinded with party prejudices s to render his course in removals from office actually disgraceful. Should not the near relative of the great financier of the Revolution be entitled to some considerations? But in the eyes of Judge Campbell, the sin of being a whig is unpardonable

The Delaware County Republican, another Whig organ, appears to be of an entirely different opinion from that of the State Journal. It thus expresses it-

"REMOVAL OF MR. MORRIS-Some of our contemporaries complain b tterly at the Postmaste General's recent removal of Robert Morris, one of the clerks of the Post Office at Washington; because forsooth, he is a grandson of the Banker of the Revolution, a signer of the Declaration of Independence. We never could recognize the right of any man's son or grandson, to be quartered upon the Government as an office-holding pensioner. It is highly probable some gentleman quite as amiable and as well qualified for a clerkship as Mr. Morris, was removed from office to make room for him. It is silly then, to complain becowheel has turned, and turned him under."

GREAT HAUL OF RASCALS-$40,000 COUNTERFEIT MONEY DISCOVERED.—We compile the following account of the breaking up of a den of scoundrels near Cincinnati, from the Gazette:

Information having been given to the police of information naving ocen given to the police of Cincinnati, of the exteence of a counterfeiters' den a tew miles down the river, eighteen officers, on Tuesday went down to make the arrests. The approach of the police being known, six of the occu-pants of the suspected house made their escape; but the police, as previously planned, invested the place, and arrested five of the lugitives, named Samuel D. Towner and Milton Parker, of Uncin-nati; Lewis Dolman, of Indiana, an escaped con-vict; Joseph Bean, of Indiana; William McGeary, of Cleaveland, and Quincey Hurschey, a large contractor on the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad.— Parker is a notorious counterleiter, and was par-doned out of the penitentiary by Gov. Wood, six doned out of the penitentiary by Gov. Wood, six weeks since; he nearly made good his escape-under the fire of the officers, but forunately stumbled and was captured; a large amount of bills on the Ohio State Stock, Miami Valley, and Bank of Daylon unstand

Dayton, unsigned, was taken from him.

After the arrests had been made, the premises were carefully searched. In the dwelling was found a box containing five gold watches, and from twenty to thirty gold rings. In a chicken-coop, something like forty-thousand dollars in counterfeit notes of the Ohio State Stock, Miami Valley, Bank of the Chicken and the f Dayton, and the Fairfield County Bank were discovered, nearly all signed, cut and done up in thousand dollar packages, ready for distribution.— The money was concealed in a bag, half filled with charcoal.

A mail-bag padlock, of the post office department, was also discovered in the dweiling. The stable attached to the premises, was found to have been converted into a workshop by these counterfeiters, and dies, tools, a galvanic battery, stamps, moulds, metal, end pieces, vignettes, figures, letters, engraving tools, and all other apparatus needed for the business of counterfeiting were leading. ed for the business of counterfeiting, were also dis covered and taken possession of by the police. A together with a quantity of cracibles, was also discovered and seized by the officers. The prisoners are in prison in Cincinnati.

HORRIBLE BRUTALITY .-- A young man named Miller, a baker of the town of Waterbury, Ct., while on his way home last Wednesday night, was run against rudely by four fishermen, and remonstra ting, two of the number, Burns and Kelley, threw the defenceless man down, and the former held him while Kelley ripped his bowels open with a knite!
