4th of November, on the banks of the Danube, between 18,000 Turks and 9,000 Russians. A brisk ade commenced, after which a combat with bayonets ensued, and lasted threehours. The Russian lost several officers, one hundred and forty privates and had five hundred wounded. The Turkish loss is unknown. The Turks afterwards crossed, uno erved, to Wallachia. It is rumored that the Turks had taken Giurgero by storm. The Russian tro in the Principalities were suffering terribly by ty It is reported that Russia has formed an alliance with Dost Mahomed and Persia against the British in India, if that power persists in aiding Turkey.

A general war throughout Europe seems immi nent, although negociations are progressing. The Turks have fortified Oltenitza, a town on the left bank of the Danube. A battle has occurred near Oltenitza, lasting twenty-eight hours, causing immense slaughter on both sides. The Russians have seized all the public funds and treasures at Bucharest; four thousand Turks now occupy Kalrache and twelve thousand have possession of Lesser Wal-

The Globe.—The official paper of Congres and newspaper for the people.—It will be seen by the annexed extract from a letter of General Washington to David Stewart, dated at New York-17th March, 1790, that the idea of such a paper as I propose to make the Globe, originated in the mind of the father of his country. He said:

"It is to be lamented that the editors of the different Gazettes in the Union do not more generally and more correctly (instead of stuffing their papers with scurrility and nonsensical declamation which few would read if they were apprised of their confew would read if they were apprised of their con-tents) publish the debates in Congress on all great national questions. The principles upon which the difference of opinion arises, as well as the dethe difference of opinion arises, as well as itself-cisions, would then come fully before the public, and afford the best data for its judgment." Sparks' Writings of Washington, vol. 10, p. 84.

In surrendering my interest in the organ of a great political party, I cherished the purpose of continuing the Congressional Globe, and, if possi-ble in time, to deffect it into a full history of the action of Congress, giving the debates accuratel and fully with the proceedings—all stamped wi the variety of an official record. From the passa of the letter of General Washington, which I hav quoted, it will be perceived that he thought this office might be combined with that of a regular newspaper; and it is certain that the avidity of the public for news of the less important kind greatly contributes to give wings to the weightier matter which may be called Congressional news.

Having succeeded in my purpose of perfecting the reports of the debates in Congress and giving them the official stamp, I now propose to send them abroad, in connection with the news of the day, in such haste as shall outstrip full and accurate intelligence sent from the seat of government in any other form whatever. It will even anticina my other form whatever. It will even antici-pate the scraps of news forwarded to cities within two hundred and fifty miles of Washington by tel-egraph. Before the events thus transmitted are published in the morning papers, (for instance, of the city of New York,) the Globe containing them will have reached the post office of that city by the Express Mail of the previous night. The process by which this will effected I now lay before the papers are in circulation. The miscellaneos news I shall be careful to gather from remote sections of the country by tel-egraph. I will obtain from the Executive Depart-ments, through official sources; the matters of mo-ment transacted in them, and, through agents em-ployed for that purpose, all the city news of con-sequence in sufficient time to be put into the Globe and mailed in the express mail trains. In this way I hope to create a new era in the dissemination of news from Washington before the public mind at a distance had received its first impressions from irresponsible telegraphic despatches; or by letter writers hissed by received.

I will have a corps of sixteen Reporters in Congress; each in succession will take notes during five minutes, and then retire, prepare them for the five minutes, and then retire, prepare them for the Press, put them slip by slip in the hands of compositors, and thus while a debate is going on in Congress, it will be put in type, and in a few minutes after it is ended it will be in print. I shall by this means be enabled to send by the Express mail of 5 o'clock p. m. for the East, West and North and by that of 9 o'clock p. m. for the South, all the proceedings of Congress up to the ordinary hour of adjournment. Thus the accurate debates of Congress will reach the city, two hundred and fifty miles from the capital, before their deily morning papers are in circulation.

responsible tolegraphic despatches; or by letter winters biased by peculir views.

Washington has now become so great a centre of political interest during all the year—the proceedings of the Executive Departments, and the information collected by them, even during the frecess of Congress, is of so much importance to the interest of every section of the country—that I shall continue the publication of the delivery agents. continue the publication of the daily paper perma-nently, with a view to become the vehicle of the earliest and most correct intelligence. It is part of my plan to reduce the price of the daily paper to halt that of similar daily papers; and thus I hope to extend its circulation so as to invite advertisements. I will publish advertisements of the government. To subscribers in the cities hope to submit such terms as will induce them to advertise their business in every village through-out the Union, where the Globe is sent daily under he franks of members of Congress, all of whom take it and some of them a large number of copies.

The installation of a new administration and a new Congress portends much change in the course of public affairs as the result of the next session.—

Many vast interests which were brought up in the last Congress were laid over by the democratis majority to await the next is each administration. najority to await the action of a democratic executive. The new modelling of the tariff; the land system; the question of giving homest and making every wan a freeholder who and making every man a freeholder who may choose to become one; the approximation of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans by a national railroad across the territory of the Union; reform in the Army, Navy, and civil offices— all these great questions, with a thousand minor ones, deeply affecting multitudes of men and every State in the Union, will now holes mand the while in the Union, will, now being matured by public opinion come up for the government's decision. These new issues, co-operating with old ones, coming up to be disposed of by new actors on the scenes at Washington, will be apt to modify greatly if not alter essentially, the party organizations of the country. to be introduced by the interposition of the agita-tions of Europe. After nearly forty years of peace in Europe, there is an evident restlessness that now seems franght with tondencies threatening war; and if war comes, in all !!kelihood there will follow such universal change that the United States can scoredly hope to escape its vortex. Indeed, from late events it is apparent that our Government is already drawn into European difficulties. These circumstances are calculated to draw the public mind towards the next Congress with much expectation.

Inese circumstances are calculated to draw the public mind towards the next Congress with much expectation

The Daily Globo will be printed on fine paper, double royal size, with small type, (brevier and nonpareil,) at five dollars a year.

The Congressional Globe will also be printed on a double sheet, in book form, royal quarto size, each number containing sixteen pages. The Congressional Globe paper will be made up of the proceedings of Congress and the running debates as given by the reporters. The speeches which members may choose to write out themselves will, together with the message of the President of the United States, the reports of the Executive Departments, and the laws passed by Congress, be added in an appendix. Formerly I received subscriptions for the Congressional Globe and Appendix separately. But this has not been found satisfactory, inasmuch as it gave an incomplete view of the transactions in Congress; and therefore I have concluded not to sell them apart, considering that neighbors can have the advantage of both by clubbing in case individuals shall find it too onerous to be at the charge of both.

To facilitate the circulation of the Congressional

To facilitate the circulation of the Congressional Globe, and cheapen it to subscribers, Congress pas-sed last year a joint resolution making it free of postage. I annex it, as the law may not be acces sible to postmasters generally:

Joint resolution providing for the distribution of the Laws of Congress and the debates thereon.

With a view to the cheap circulation of the laws of Congress and the debates contributing to the true interpretation thereof, and to make free the communication between the representative and the constituent bodies:

"Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That from and after the present session of Congress, the Congressional Globe and Appendix, which contains the laws and the debates thereon, shall pass free through the mails so long as the same shall be published by order of Congress: Provided, that nothing herein shall be construed to authorize the circulation of shall be construed to authorize the circulation of the Daily Globe free of postage.

Approved, August 6, 1852.

As I sell the Daily Globe at half the price of similar publications, so the Congressional Globe and Appendix is sold for half the cost of so much smilar publications, so the Congressional Globe and Appendix is sold for half the cost of so much composition, press-work and paper. This I can afford to do, inasmuch as the subscription of Congress almost covers the cost of composition, and it his enables me to sell for little more than the cost of press-work and paper. It requires the sale of about 9,000 copies to reimburse expenses. If 500 only were sold, the cost of each copy would be about $104! The debates in the English Parliament cost about eleven times as much as I charge subscribers for the debates in Congress, equal in quantity, and as well reported and printed.

The next session of Congress will be a long one; and it is believed the Congressional Globe, for it, will reach 4000 royal quarto pages—four large volumes each session. If subscribers will be careful to file all the numbers received by them, I will supply any that may miscarry in the mails. This work increases in value as it grows old. The first seventeen volumes will now command three times, and some of the subsquent ones twice, their original subscription price.

The subscribtion price for the Congressional

The subscription price for the Congressional Globe (including the Appendix and the laws) is six dollars.

Complete indexes will be made out and forwar Complete indexes will be made out and forward ed to subscribers soon after the session is ended. Subscribers for the daily should have their money here by the 5th, and for the Congressional Globe by the 15th of December. The Perfect Grain Drill and most Valuable Agricultural Implement.—A great improvement in Grain Drills, making this A great improvement in Grain Drills, making this excellent Agricultural Implement a perfect Machine, for which letters patent were issued September 20th, to Mr. Samuel Jenkins, of York co.

The improvement consists in attaching an adjustable curved cutter of steel, to and through the drag bar and through the point of the tooth or drill, in front of the tooth, forming a triple edge at the point, and enabling the tooth to aise up and glide over any obstructions, and completely regulating the depth of furrow required, and depositing the grain to the depth, according to the character of the soil. The Cutter likewise prevents weeds or stubble from clogging or choking up the mouth of the Drill. Heretofore insuperable disadvantages have attended the use of the Grain Drill, on any other than a level and even soil; but by this simple invention the operation of the Machine is made complete and perfect, and this valuable Agricultural Implement can now be used on uneven, stony or rocky ground, or on new clearing, where the stumps have not yet been removed, with the same easy draught and perfect operation, in Seeding and Drilling, as on even and clear soil, without jarring the Machine in the least, or putting the seeding devices out of gear.

The model and specifications are now at the In-devices out of gear.

The model and specifications are now at the Inventor's Institute, Fulton Hall, where J. Franklin Reigart will be pleased to give every information to persons interested in the matter, desiring to exto persons interested in the matter, desiring to examine the same more particularly, or to purchase County or State rights.

Competent persons desirous of securing the Agency to sell the County and State rights of this most useful Machine, should apply immediately.
