A VESSEL BLOWN UP WITH POWDER .- On the t of April, the Victoria sailed from London for ort Philip, Australia, and on the 13th of June it is discovered on fire, within a few days' sail o ort, the passengers then, for the first time, being lyised that there were 400 barrels of powder inuded in her large and valuable cargo. The ac-unt describes the tragedy thus: It was about ten o'clock at night, and the terror at was apput ten o'clock at night, and the terror at alarm that instantly followed among the crew ho were cognizant of the 'magazine' beneath them as of a character not easily to be described. The optain and the passengers had, two or three days eviously, noticed a rattling noise underneath the hin flooring as if some of the above had ing, as if some of the cargo had got adrift nd rolled about every time the vessel lurched over, nd amid this rattling noise on the evening in ques-on, the passengers discovered smoke issuing arough the cabin flooring.

It appears that they were ignorant of the exist-ice of the magazine till they heard some one exaim. 'My God! the powder! All hands instantlaunch the long boat, but finding this safe, having by some means been stove, one of quarter boats was lowered. Not a moment was irst forth into the cabin, and the flames were is ing out of the companion. A rush filled the boat and in another moment the men were pulling away om the vessel with every nerve. Happily the boat ntained the whole of the people. They had scarcly ched half a mile from the burning ship befor e 400 barrels of powder blew up with terrific rce. The ship appeared to be lifted bodily out of water, and then, with the remaining portion of shattered to atoms and hurled to an imse distance. The sea for miles was covered ith her fragments. Some fell into the boat and early swamped it, and some of the crew were such burned by the explosion. The poor creares were exposed in the boat without provisions any description, nor even water, for 56 hours hen they were sighted by the bark Talesina, ound to Melbourne, which immediately bore down nd took them on board, evidently very much exusted-'

KID GLOVES AND MONKEYS.—It will probably end the tender sensibilities of our fashionable r ones, to tell them that the soft, pliant, and ely perfumed kid gloves they wear upon their licate white hands,—and which come all the ly from Paris, elegantly done up in fancy boxes e made of monkey skins. But the truth mus told, however unpalatable. A certain Oliver cott (a genuine Yankee, we'll wager "a pair of oves") writes to the Arkansas Independent that is in South America hunting monkeys. He kills out 3000 a year, and sells the skins at Bumona. ney are bought by Frenchmen, and tanned for the nufacturing of kid gloves, those articles being w made, it is said, wholly of monkey skins. He s from 20 to 40 cents for each skin.

"It is to be lamented that the editors of more generally and more correctly (instead of stuffing their papers with scurrility and nonsensical declamation which and more correctly (instead of stuffing their papers with scurrility and nonsensical declamation which she would read if they were apprised of their contents publish the debates in Congress on all great national questions. The principles upon which the difference of opinion arises, as well as the decisions, would then come fully before the public, and afford the best data for its judgment." Sparks' Writings of Washington, vol. 10, p. 84.

In surrendering my interest in the organ of a great political party, the trusted in time, to derfect it tuto a full hispory of the continuing the Congressional Globe, and, if possible in time, to derfect it tuto a full hispory of the variety of an official recor the variety of an official record. From the passa of the letter of General Washington, which I have quoted, it will be perceived that he thought the office might be combined with that of a regular newspaper; and it is certain that the avidity of the public for news of the less important kind greatly contributes to give wings to the weightier matter which may be called Congressional news.

Having succeeded in my purpose of perfecting the reports of the debates in Congress and giving them the official stamp, I now propose to send them abroad, in connection with the news of the day, in such haste as shall outstrip full and accurate intelligence sent from the seat of government in any other form whatever. It will even anticipate the scraps of news forwarded to cities within we hundred and fifty miles of Washington by televisions. consequences, while their neighbors, without the two hundred and fifty miles of Washington by telegraph. Before the events thus transmitted are published in the morning papers, (for instance, of the city of New York,) the Globe containing them will have reached the post office of that city by the Express Mail of the previous night. The process by which this will effected I now lay before the substitution of the process of the city of New York, and the previous night. The process by which this will effected I now lay before the oy which this will effected I now lay before the public.

I will have a corps of sixteen Reporters in Congress; each in succession will take notes during five minutes, and then retire, prepare them for the Press, put them slip by slip in the hands of compositors, and thus while a debate is going on in Congress, it will be put in type, and in a few minutes after it is ended it will be in print. I shall by this means be enabled to send by the Express mail of 5 o'clock p. m. for the East, West and North and by that of 9 o'clock p. m. for the South, all the proceedings of Congress up to the ordinary hour of adjournment. Thus the assent the process is a sum of the same of th proceedings of Congress up to the ordinary hour of adjournment. Thus the accurate debates of Congress will reach the city, two hundred and fifty miles from the capital, before their duily morning papers are in circulation.

The miscellaneos news I shall be careful to gather from remote sections of the country by telegraph. I will obtain from the Executive Departments, through official sources; the matters of moment transacted in them, and, through agents employed for that purpose, all the city news of consequence in sufficient time to be put into the Globe and mailed in the express mail trains. In this way I hope to create a new cra in the dissemination of news from Washington before the public mind at a distance had received its first impressions from irresponsible telegraphic despatches; or by letter writers biased by peculir views.
