Youth, Age, Style, Taste, Beauty and Fashion.—The seasons of life should be arranged like those of the year. In the spring of youth, when all is lovely and gay, then as the green cover is spread on all the face of smiling nature, in brightness and beauty, so let the dress par-take of the season. Fine taste, as well as fashion, decrees the necessity of nicely adapted garments to age, circumstances and seasons. The man whose head is silvered with age, who feels not the blood of youth dancing warmly in his veins, should not run into extremes of dress, nor yet should he permit his clothing to be so far behind the times as to render him ridiculous. There is a beco.ning fashionable dress, suitable for the age and seasons of life as well as the seasons of the year. You can be suited in handsome style in clothing that is wel and fashionably made, o

The Paint which you put on my roofs, has now become as bard as slate, and I feel as secure from Fire, in this direc-tion, as is possible. A few weeks after the roofs had been painted, I made an experiment on two or three shingles by placing them in the furnace unde the boilers; the result was, that the portion uncovered was entirly consumed, while the painted par was apparently sound, though upon examination the wood was found to be charred; the Paint how ever was firm and but little blistered.
