Under this law a new description of bids has been received. It does not specify a mode of conveyance, but engages to take the entire mail each trip with celerity, certainty, and security, using the terms of the law. These bids are styled, from the manner which they are designated on thebooks of the De partment, star bids,' and they will be construed s providing for the entire mail, however large, and sproviding for the ende of conveyance necessary to naure its celerity, certainty, and security.

Such bids will therefore be accepted in preference to higher bids for specific modes of ance on routes where the lowest mode of convey ance (that is on horseback) is known to be in saufficient. In all cases where the lowest grade of service is believed to be sufficient, the lowest bid will be accepted, if duly guarantied, in preference to a star
