Youth, Age, Style, Taste, Beauty and Fashion.—The seasons of life should be arranged like those of the year. In the spring of youth, when all is lovely and gay, then as the green cover is spread on all the face of smiling nature, in brightness and beauty, so let the dress partake of the scason. Fine taste, as well as tashion, take of the scason. Fine taste, as well as lashon, decrees the necessity of nicely adapted garments to age, circumstances and seasons. The man whose head is silvered with age, who feels not the blood of youth dancing warming the his years, should not run into extremes of dress, nor yet should he permit his clothing to be so far behind the times as to reader him ridiculous. There is a becoming to render him ridiculous. Inere is a becoming fashionable dress, suitable for the age and seasons of life as well as the seasons of the year. You can be suited in handsome style in clothing that is well and tashionably made, of good materials that will fit well and become the figure and season, at the rection and fitting up of this house, eve-In the erection and fitting up of this house, eve-ry effort has been directed to securing the comfort and convenience of guests; and no pains will be spared to render the rotel an attractive and agree-able resort for travellers. In plan it will be con-ducied upon the principle of the first European Hotels. Guests will be served with meals in their hotels.

Hotels. Guests will be served with means in their own apartments, or at the tables of the saloon, be-low, according to their own option. The appointments of the house are of the most approved modern style. The first two floors are arranged in suries of rooms, with parlors and bed-rooms. On the third, jourth and fith stories, the ns-each fourteen feet square, with fifteen feet rooms—each loorden leet square, will infech leet ceilings—are so arranged as to communicate, al-fording ample accommonations for families, and extending from the Broadway front (fifty feet) along the F ankin street side of the building, a distance of one hundred and fifty feet—the aparments on of one interfed and inty real connected together in writes of rooms to suit the requirements of guests. The fitting up of these apartments is in the best style of modern art. On the first and second floors, the ceilings and walls are richly frescoed; and on the three upper stories they are handsomely finished in line oil painting. The furniturg of the house has been selected with a view to the combination of elegance and comfort, and it is hoped that nothing is left to be desired in this respect. The Proprietor desires especially to call the at-
