Vouth, Age, Style, Taste, Beauty Y and Fashion.—The seasons of life should be arra ged like those of the year. In the spring o youth, when all is invely and gay, then as the green cover is spread on all the face of smiling pai-ture, in brightness and beauty, so let the dress partake of the season. Fine taste, as well as fashion decrees the necessity of nicely adapted garments to age, circumstances and seasons. The mar whose head is silvered with age, who feels not the blood of youth dancing warmly in his veins, should not run into extremes of dress, nor yet should h permit his clothing to be so far behind the times as to render him ridiculous. There is a becoming to infact in infactors in the set of the age and seasons of life as well as the seasons of the year.
