Sr. Louis, June 15, 1854. Monday last was a great day in St. Louis, the people were in commotion, eager to welcome the Ex-President of the American Republic to our city. On Sunday last intelligence was received that Mr. Fillmore, who was one of the exentationists to the Falls of St. Anthony, at the head waters of the issippi, with the party of Railroad Directors and Contractors, Editors and other distinguished e and renown, would pay our city flying visit on Monday. On Sunday the City Council was convened, and a public meeting of he Citizens called at the Planter's House to take necessary steps for the reception of the distinguished guest. Early on Monday morning the drum were heard in our streets-the military runping to and fro, and the citizens generally were in ang to and tro, and the citizens generally were in a perfect stew. At 7 o'clock the steamer Michigan, kindly proferred to the Committee, of Reception, left our levee with two companies of the military and a large number of citizens, for the purpose at meeting the Collection. pose of meeting the Golden Era, on which vessel the Ex-President, Judge Hall, Geo. Bancroft and of meeting the Golden Era, on which vessel several other honorable gentlemen, were expected.

The Michigan had gone but a lew miles, when the Golden Era hove in sight—the former boat laying to, and as the Era passed, the Michigan tolled her bell and fired a salute, then ran along side, and both boats lashed together, swittly glided by our city in this situation amid the deatening cheers of the multitude-wedged closely together on the leveethe joyous music and the firing of cannon, the President occupying a prominent position on the hurricane deck of the Michigan, and raised his hat as the noble vessel ploughed through the waters by our city. They ran a short distance below the town and then commenced stemming the current By this time thousands had congregated on the levee to welcome the distinguished individual; the decks of all the steamers lying in the harbor, were perfectly black with human beings, whilst on the levee were drawn up in line the firemen and military, whose bright equipments and polished mus Danube prevented its storming. Advices to the was truly grand and resplendent. Here, too, where thousands of citizens assembled, the avenues leading to the river were completely choaked up by men, women and children, all eager for a glimpse at the Ex-President of the United States. Mayor How received Mr. Fillmore on the staging of the How received are remove on one staging or one boat in a brief and pointed speech, to which Mr. F. responded in a few appropriate remarks, and then took his seat in an open carriage, drawn by four gray horses, with Mayor How, Maj. Wright, ator of the day) and Col, Grimsley; immeliately behind tollowed another carriage, occupied by Julge Hall, Geo. Bancrott and several other gentlemen, which preceded the process sion; then followed the milit ry, composed of ten or twelve companies, firemen and citizens. The whole was a grand and brilliant display, which no doubt made the venerable guest feel that the true American spirit in St. Louis, was every ready to welcome in their midst the head men rious Republic—the heroes and detenders of American Institutions and do honor to those who knew their duty and did it well. The procession passed through several of the principal streets, and then halted in front of the Planter's House, where a across the Gulf. stand had been erected for the orator of the day, and where thousands had congregated to see the the 4th, steering North-East. great man and listen to the speeches. The streets for equares east and west, north and south, were jammed with human beings, the doors and windows of the houses in the vicinity, were filled with lovely girls, waving their handkerchiefs and cast eathes and smiles upon the distinguished guest: Mr. Fillmore retained his seat in the car riage, whilst Maj. Wright mounted the stand and in an eloquent and appropriate address, welcomed, in behalf of the citizens of St. Louis and state Missouri, the Fx-President of the United States to our city and its hospitalities. At the conclusion of the address; Mr. Fillmore rose in the carriage and responded. He tendered his grateful acknowledgements for the welcome with which he had been greeted. . He said he was nothing more than a per vate citizen, travelling over our common country which we love, and of which we are proud. He said he endeavored to discharge his duties whilst President of the United States, faithfully and fearlessly-regardless of the storms excited by local prejudices; regardless of popular sentiment, and reudless too of opposing opinions prevailing in the valed and prosperous—advancing in everything that tends to make it mighty and influential. I find St. Louis a city of palaces. They tell me you population is a hundred and twenty thousand. If I were to make an estimate from the humbers I see gathered here, I would say it was a hundred and fifty thousand. But you must ren Pacific, have grown into a powerful State, unless they shall be connected with us. They must be matted to this Valley by hooks of steel. (Cheers:) I loudly hope, before I die, to see California connected with us by a railroad, offering to her all the advantages of the Union on the same terms with ve enjoy them. She must not be left to herselt, or she will become a separate State, and I hope never to be permitted to-witness such a sad spectacle, as a member of our Union, severed and torn from the rest. (Cheers.) When I look at the position and facilities of St. Louis, and view evidences of energy and spirit of her citizens, see her destined to become the stopping place for the commerce of the country as it passes across the Continent, and the commercial emporium of the rich Valley of which she is the centre. turn for the kindness and honor done me, I thank you, and through you, sir, the people of Missouri. He took his seat amid the enthusiastic cheering of the crowd. Mr. Bancrott and others were loudly called for but did not appear on the stand. The Committee then conducted the Ex-President to his apartments in the hotel. After giving three cheers the crowd dispersed. Men of all parties and tongues and of all nations mingled in the proceedof the day. He was not received as a Whig or a Democratic champion, but as an American citizen who has served his country in the highest office in the gift of the nation; and I was extremeby delighted to see all parties united in giving him so cordial a welcome. That day will long be re-membered when Millard Fillmore visited the great Commercial Emporium of the West. Large numbers of ladies called on him at the hotel; he was entertained at the Mayor's residence-at L. M. Kennett's, John O Fallon's and at other private residences. He visited the public places, the Varieties ces. He visited the public places, the Varieties Theatre, and the Bellefontaine Cemetry. His daughter and son are with him. He left our city on Wednesday morning-escorted to the boat by the military and a large body of citizens. He is the second President that has visited St. Louis-Martin

Van Buren was the first. Isaac Platt, of the Poughkeepsie Eagle, and A. Fitch of the N. Y. Com. Adv., were also in our city They had been with the excursion party to the Falls of St. Anthony, and showed their good sense by paying St. Louis a visit. I think if a few more of those Eastern Yankee editors would come out and see us, they would form a better opinion of the 'wooden country' they take every occasion to give a dig under the rib. Mr. Fillmore was very agree-was most horribly mangled and cut—three or four of the wounds penetrated the skull. The deceased was a German, and had only been in the country two weeks. Several arrests have been made. He has mmitted in default of bail for trial before the U.S. Circuit Court.

It is said that every seventeen years the locusts make their appearance in great numbers; but it has not been more than seven years since the western country was perfectly alive with them-destroying the growing crops and young trees. I learn by the papers, that in the northern part of Illinois, and e parts of Iowa, the locusts have again appeared in great numbers. They creep out of the ground and leave their outside shell or skin upon the fences or trees, and then their wings are fledged ready to take their flight and seek their food upor the green leaf or plant. The farmers are fearful that they will destroy their grain in the fields.— They are now said to be quite numerous in the localities above named. Among the distinguished gentlemen on the great pleasure party to the head waters of the Mississip-pi, were the following; many of whom never saw the great father of waters before: Ex-President Fillmore, N. K. Hall, Ex P. M. G., Rev. H. Ward Beecher, Thurslow Ward of the Attention Thurlow Weed, of the Albany Journal, Messre. Fuller, of the New York Mirror, Hudson, of the Boston Atlas, Sanford, of the N. Y. Journal of Commerce, Dana, of the N. Y. Tribune, Hastings, of the Knickerbocker. Johnson. of the Albany Argus Johnson, of the Albany Argus, Prime of the N. Y. Observer, Harris, of the Cleave and Herald, and Aiken, of the N. Y. Evening Post;

also, Prof. B. Silliman, Rev. Dr. Fitch, of Yale College, and A. S. Murry, President Orange County-Bank, N. Y.

A New Yorker was on board the steamer Ga lena, on her last trip to St. Paul, in full chase of his wife who had left her home for Minnesota in company with an amorous neighbor, the married father of five small children. The truant wife took her child and $400 of her husband's money as cap-

The wheat crops of Ohio and Indiana are said to look bad, and that they will not be half their usual size. Eastern buyers are already in these States making contracts for the wheat at $1.50 pe The wheat is badly winter-killed. In Michigan the fields are very promising. In the Western country generally, the ravages of the fly have prevailed to very great extent, and the crop is thought not to e than an average one. JUNE 19 PURIS. FOR all

A FITE PURPOSES OF A FAMI.

IAY BHYSIC. There has long existed a public demand for an effective purgative pill which could be relied on as sure, and perfectly safe in its operation. This has been prepared to meet that demand, and an extensive trial of its virtues has conclusively shown with what success it accomplishes the purpose designed to be supposed as the physical pill, but not easy to make the best of all pills—one which should have none of the objections, but all the advantages, of every other. This has been attempted here, and with what 'success we would respectfully submit to the public decision. It has been unfortunate for the patient hitherto that almost every purgative medicine is acrimonious and irritating to the bowels. This is not.—Many of them produce so much griping pain and revulsion in the system as to more than counterbalance the good to be derived from them. These pills produce no irritation or pain, unless it arise from a previously existing obstruction or derangement in the bowels. Being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity; but it is better that any modicine should be taken judiciously. Minute directions for their use in the several diseases to which they are applicable are given on the box. Among the complaints which have been speedily cured by them, we may mention Liver Complaint, in its various forms of Jaundice, Indigestion, Languor and Loss of Appetite, Listlessness, Irritability, Bilious Headache, Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, Pain in the Side and Loins: for, in truth, all these are but the consequence of diseased action in the liver. As an aperient, they afford prompt and sure relief in Costiveness, Piles, Colic, Dysentery, Humors, Scrofula and Sciury, Colds with soroness of the body, L1 cers and impurity of the blood: in short, any and every case where a purgative is required.

They have also produced some singularly successful cures in Rheumat cathartic meuniae.
