The Tide of Death.

BY HON. ROBERT M. CHARLTOS The tide rolls on, the tide rolls on-The never ceasing tide. That sweeps the pleasures from our hearts That brings afflictions to our lot, And anguish all despair,
And bears from youth's unrufiled by The charms that lingered there

The tide rolls on: wave after wave Its swelling waters flow: Before it all is bright and fair, Behind it all is woe: The infant from its mother's breast, The gay and blooming bride, Are sweept away and borne along

By that resistless tide. The tide rolls on; the soldier's eye Grew dim beneath its swell: The scholar shuns thy mystic lore That he hath loved so well: The monarch puts the crown aside And labor's weary slave Rejoices that his limbs will know

The quiet of the grave. The tide rolls on : like summer brook It glideth to the sad: It rusheth to the glad; From kingly hall to lowly cot.

It sweeps into oblivion's sea, Roll on, thou dark and turbid wave! Thou cans't not bear away

The record of the of the good and brave, That knoweth not decay:

Tho' fierce may rush thy billow's strife, Though deep thy current be, Still faith shall lift thy beacon high.

STRANGE LIFE OF A MURDERER. A writer in the Thomasville Watchman. gives the following singular biography of James Hightower, recently convicted of manslaughter, in that county. Three years in a dungeon, it seems, is nothing to what he has endured:

About 21 years ago, a young lady of this section of country, belonging to a respectable family, became the victim of a vile seducer; the fruit was a boy, who is the subject of our narrative. His mother, as in the case of those of her sex who are unfortunate, married a man of low breeding, and in adverse circumstances, consequently her son was destined to receive his wife, struck with a sudden idea, "are but a limited share of education or moral you sure you didn't have your value in training. At a tender age his character was peculiar, and, in some respects very extraordinary. When only seven years old. he was attending a sugar cane mill; by some means his left arm and hand were crushed, by which accident he forever lost the use of his right hand. At the age of ten he was bitten by rattle-snake, being nearly alone on the place, he had to call to his aid all the presence of mind he was master of. Fortunately he used the proper antidote, and thereby saved his life. In the short space of a few months he was again bitten by one of the same species of reptiles; by pursuing the same course as heretofore, he was again rescued from the very jaws of

Between the age of twelve and fourteen he made several attempts to take the life of his step-father; which shows that he would not be imposed on. About this age he also snapped several times, a loaded musket at a neighbor. When fourteen vears old he was knocked down by lightning, and did not recover for some time .-At the age of sixteen he was attacked while hunting in the woods, by a very large panther. The panther soon tore him down; he exhibited great presence of mind by feigning death. The panther then carried him into the swamp, covered him up with sticks, and grass, after which he took leave in search of more prey. Our hero after the panther's departure, arose and made his escape home. He was badly torn; two of his jaw teeth were bitten out, and many other wounds were inflicted.

But he was not thus to die, for he soon recovered, and very soon after his recover ry cave his sten-father a severe whipping and then left him. Excepting another slight shock by lightning, his path was smooth, until nineteen, when he became enamored of a young lady; though figuring in a high sphere, his superior in intellect and family, yet she was smitten by the boy of misfortune, and resolved to marry him, notwithstanding the opposition of her relatives who made severe threats against our hero. But what cared he, who had successfully battled against rattlesnakes, panthers, and even the high power of Heaven, for the threats of man. Nothing daunted, he continued to urge his claims, after finding all his efforts for a compro mise unavailing, he commenced a determined course. He procured his license placed a magistrate at a conspicuous place in the woods, and proceeded himself on foot, to the house that sheltered her whom he loved; he secretly forced the door of her chamber, and conducten her about five miles through the woods to the place o ren dezvous. Before arriving at the place upon which the hymenial altar had been temporarily erected, illuminated by the blaze of light wood knots and the rays of the pale moo alone, our hero fell into his former path of bad luck, for he was bitten by a moccasin snake; but he was too well used to snake bites to suffer that occurrence to retard his his course, and in accordance with his anticipations, was lawfully married about 12 o'clock at night. His moccasin bite did not long keep him in bed, for he then possessed a nurse of unceasing attention.-After his final recovery, he took his wife to the home which he had provided for her dilute the mass of fruit with raki, or hoping that his oup of misfortune was then peach brandy, and then stagger home or full, and that he would then enjoy that go to sleep as best they can.? bliss attending a married life.

was arrested by an instrument for determining the weight. Mechanically he placed himself on the hundred and forty-five. To his surprise, he found this not sufficient. With an air of alarm, he advanced it five pounds-still ineffectual. Imagine his consternation when the scales fell at one hundred and seventy "Good heavens!" said he to himself "There can't be any mistake about it; I've gained thirty pounds within a fortnight!-I was afraid it would be so. It was so with my father before me. At this rate, I shall go beyond him in a rew weeks." He entered his house with an air of settled melancholy upon his face, which excited the fears of his wife, who had come forward to greet him after his absence. "Why, Andrew-Mr. Wyman-what is the matter!" she asked. "Matter enough," he groaned; "I weigh one hundred and seventy-five pounds, gaining thirty pounds within two weeks, or at the rate of fifteen per week. Suppose I should go on at this rate, or even at ten pounds per week, in three months I shall be a perfect monster. I am the most unfortunate of men."

"I am sure you don't look any alager," said Mrs. Wyman; "you don't find that your clothes have grown too small for you?"

"Why, no." "I'll tell you what, Mr. Wyman," said your hand when you were weighed?" Andrew's face brightend up. "Wait minute," said he.

He sped out of the house like an arrow

-flew to the depot, and renewed the experiment. A moment after, he entered the ouse again, his face glowing with joy. "You've hit it, wife," he exclaimed "I've weighed myself again, and only weighed one hundred and forty-three! Mr. Wyman was so elated by the altered stste of the case, that he at once gave his wife money enough to purchase a "love of a collar" that she had seen at Mrs. Leask's the day before. DEATH AMONG THE ALLIED TROOPS. The allied armies of Great Britain and France have been swept away by thousands. The pictures that are given of the sufferings of these poor fellews, while struggling in the arms of death, are truly appalling. A correspondent at Constantinople informs us that "the troops are hardly the same men as when they arrived." Another eyewitness gives this sketch: "As an instance of the capricious action of the disease, I may mention what was told me by one of our principal surgeons here. He had been to visit the camp of the 5th Dragoon Guards and of the Enniskillens, which was pitched in a very healthy looking site. There, however, sicknessfound them, and in a few days the skeleton regiments (for all our cavalry regiments) are mere skeletons of regiments and nothing more, as few colonels could bring 250 abres into the field in the healthiest state of their troops) were reduced considerably -in fact they lost about 26 men. During the doctor's inspection there was a heavy thunder storm, and as he sheltered in one of the tents he expressed his satisfaction at an occurrence which, in accordance with vulgar notions and even with philosophical investigation, is supposed to produce that beneficial operation called clearing the air; but after the thunderstorm the disease became worse, and when the surgeon went down to his own quarters he found that in the very height of the electrical discharges five men of the ambulance corps—a body of men heretofore singularly free from illness had been seized with cholera, and of those five men four were dead in less than six hours. The conduct of many of the men French and English, seems characterized by a recklessness which verges on in-the kennels, or in the ditches by the road sides, under the blazing rays of the sun, covered with swarms of flies. You see them in stupid sobriety gravely paring the rind off cucumbers of portentous dimensions, and eating the deadly cylinders one after another; to the number of six or eight, till there is no room for more, all the while sitting in groups in the fields or on the flags by the shops in the open streets, and looking as if they thought they were adopting highly sanitary measures for their health's sake; or frequently three or four progress at such a momentous crisis, and like a brave and undaunted boy, pursued Greek for a large basket of apricots, killjohns, scarlet pumpkins, water melons, wooden pears, and green 'gages' and plnms and then they would retire beneath the shade of a tree, where they divide and eat the luscioue food till noughf remains but a heap of peal, rind and stones. to the schools of Lancaster county. Published by A. S. Barnes & Co., 51 John street, New Yorks pad sold by Murax & Srozz, Lancaster. The Attention of teachers and the friends of Education generally, is invited to the following educational works.

New and improved editions of several of these works have recently been published, and the publishers will conue to the most approved edition of their several Textbooks, and thus provide a series of Standarde Books for our Union School Districts and townships, that can be regarded as a modern, uniform and permanent series, and render entirely unnecessary these frequent changes in school books that have heretofore been so perplexing, expensive and annoying to both teacher and parent,

The list embraces some of the most approved Text-Books, in the various departments of study, viz:

For Reading Books.—Parker's series are regarded the most thorough by a multitude of the best teachers. They are adopted by the schools of Lancaster city.

For English Grammar.—S. W. Clark's System is superseding the old Grammar —S. W. Clark's System is superseding the old Grammar —S. W. Clark's System is superseding the old Grammar —S. W. Clark's Orthograms is the ne plus ultry for oral teaching.

For Spelling and Good Pronunciation.—No teacher will fail to appreciate Price's Spelling Book, Wright's Orthography, Martin's Orthogpist, and Northead's Dictation Exercises.

For Rhetoric, Oratory and Choice Reading.—Professor

Northend's Little Speaker, American Speaker and School Elecution, will be found a valuable hand-book for every leacher and normal school student.

Professor Boyd, of Geneva, has laid our Seminaries and Academies under lasting obligations of the English Poets, viz. Miltoris Paradise Lost, Cowper's Task, Table Talk, &c., Thomson's Seasons, Young's Night Thoughts. These works need only to be known to be appreciated. Pollock's Course of Times is in press.

For History and Geography.—Mrs. Willard's History of the United States and Universal History, with her incomparable Charts, are not equalled in excellence by any other author.

Marbio Charts, are not equation in accounts by any violation. Monteith's Youth's Manual of Geography, just published, has already been adopted in the ward and public schools of the city of New York (to take the place of Smith and Mitchell's Primary Geography. A more advanced work on Geography, for higher classes, to follow Monteith's Manual, prepared by Francis M'Nally, will be published in Ishwary. IRES. netic and Mathematics.—Professor Davies'

United States, and most of the colleges throughout the country. The Arithmetics of Davies are the foundation of his whole series.

For Teaching Natural Philosophy.—R. G. Parker, an old and experienced teacher of Boston, has prepared a work entitled a 'Compendium of School Philosophy,' which is a favorite book with all teachers who have used it. The old books on Natural Philosophy, that have so long had a sway in our schools, give way to Mr. Parker. Teachers need only examine, to be convinced of its great excellence. The Study of Book-Keeping.—is becoming a very goneral study in all our schools, and Fulton and Eastman's, with their system of writing and chirographic Charte, are decidedly the most approved. with their system of writing and chirographic Charts, are decidedly the most approved.

The School Teacher's Library.—The following works are dedicated to the Teacher's of the United States.

I. Page's Theory and Practice of Teaching, $1, 28.

II. Northend's Teacher and Parent, $1, 25.

III. Mansfeld on American Education, $1, 26.
