surely, bear witness that the cause of benevolence has always found effective advocates within he In physical improvement and population her progress has been steady and rapid. In the days of Governor Snyder, the erection of a bridge over the Susquehanna river, and the construction of a turnpike road was the subject of executive exultation, and a matter of congratulation among the people. Now her whole surface is checkered over with railroads, canals and other high-ways. Then the whole revenues of the State amou but $450,000. Now they exceed five millions. Of the four large States, her per centage of increase in population, since 1840, is the greatest; and she has besides excelled the best of her sisters in the production of wheat, iron and coal. Her population numbers not less than two and a half millions; nearth as large as all the States of the time. nearly as large as all the States at the time of the Revolution. The present value of her real and personal estates exceeds $850,000,-000. Her annual production of coal is worth in the market over twenty millions. Her in the market over twenty militons. deep great interests of agriculture, manufactures and commerce are rapidly extending.

She has, in addition, a history, of which we may well be proud. Within her limits is found the birth-place of Independence—that sacred spot where was first declared those great truths while the sacred in the property of the pro lie at the foundation of American nationality. I the maintenance of those truths, she hore a glori-ous part. Her contibution of men to the field, and money to the treasury—of talent and wisdom to the Congress of the Colonies, were not surpassed by those of any other State. It was her sons who crossed the Delaware in the dead of winter, under crossed the Benware in the dead of whiter, and the the lead of Washington, and for a time turned the tide of war. Again, in the struggle of 1812, for the rights of American citizenship, and in that of 1846, for American honor and progress, she contributed with a profuse generosity. The contest amongst her sons was as to who should have the right to stay at home, but who should have the privilehe of going into the field. Bearing this honorable part in matters of foreign war—she has had a no less enviable participation in allaying domesa no less envisor participation in analying documents tic strifes. Whenever the exigency seemed to require it, she has stood firmly by the Constitution and the Urion, and ever contended for the rights of all sections of the country, and all classes and denominations of the people. Such is our State. To live and die within her limits, and to have To live and the within her hints, and to have borne even a very humble part in her civil service and in her history, I shall ever esteem as a proud privilege—one that, as it draws nearer its close, swells my heart with gratitude to her people, at the recollection of the numerous proofs of confidence I have avarianced at their hands. I have experienced at their hands

The fullness of my exultation in the character ad happy condition of our beloved Commonwealth, and happy conditio and analytic the gratitude I have expressed, leaves no room in my bosom for even a lingering regret at a decision of my fellow-citizens, which is soon to re lieve me from the cares and labors of a public life. Its transcient excitements have already been for gotten, and its alienations, if any, forgiven. I shall resume my place in the ranks of the people, with a calm consciousness of having always sought to advance their best interests to the extent of my ability; and of never having yielded my convic-tions of right, either in subservience to any selfish purpose, or any narrow and unworthy prejudice. Having adverted to various subjects of congratulation, in regard to the public affairs of my own State, I may be indulged in a brief reference, also, to the happy aspect of our common country, and the elevation it has reaclight of liberty, and through the workings of its benign institutions. Who amongst us, and throughout this broad land, does not experience at this moment, and at every moment, in his own condition, and the condition of those who surround him, the influence and benefit of our happy Union, and the well considered compact by which it is sustained. A basis of calculation, exhibited by past experience, will give ulation of thirty millions in less than ten years from the present timeeighty millious in thirty years to come-and at one hundred millions at the close of the present century; But mere numbers are of no moment, compared with moral elements, in a nation's greatness. The vital strength and stability of the United States, as a people, consists in the substantial interest which each individual has in the permanency of those glorious institutions, which were baptized in the blood of our revolutionary struggle, and handed down to us as the sacre liegacy of our fathers Peril. or destroy these, and we peril or destroy the share of sovereignty and equality which they were designed to secure, alike to the richest and poorest, to the highes and humblest in the land. The experience of more than three-fourths of a century proves, I am persuaded, that the American people, in the main, truly appreciate the beneficent structure and beautiful operation of our republican system. We have been assailed by an institious and open hostility from abroad, and have, at times before the present, palpable spirit of faction at home; yet the Constitution still stands as widely and firmly riveted in the affections of the honest masses of American freemen, as at any former period of our history.

The more fruitful sources of our national osperity, undoubtedly consist in the freedom prosperity, undoubteury courses in the industry and intelligence of our people; and in the rich natural resources of our country; united to an advantageous commercial intercourse with a warring world. But there is one element which we should cherish as more potent than all these: it is the protection and encouragement afforded by the union of the States, under an adequate and stable govern ment. To this and the virtue of our citizens, under the smiles of Henven, we are more indebted as a people, than to any other circumstance or relation. No one who has studied our history, and marked the spirit in which our union was formed, can avoid the conviction that our government so far as concerns the stability of this confederacy, must be one of opinion rather than force. Born in compromise and conciliation, it must be cherished in the same spirit; it must present itself to every member of this republic in the welcome guise of friendship and protection-not in overbearing pride, or as wielding the strong arm of power.
We have before us the plain, written compact of our fathers, to which they reflectingly consented and subscribed, and so bound us who have succeeded them. Its blessings and its enefits have been felt throughout long years of unexampled prosperity. If we would change bny of its provisions, let us, with at least com mon honesty and mentiness, pursue the mode of amendment which is pointed out, with acmirable precision, in the noble instrument us, who, from whatever motive, or under whatever pretext either openly repudiate any of it plain provisions, or, covertly retreating under the cloak of secret organization, seek to violate its spirit; or avoid compliance with its clear behests, dishonor the faith of their fathers and deny their own palpable and solemn obliany American patriot regard, with the least degree of complacency, the continued and em-bittered excitement of one section of the country against the domestic institutions of another; out the more recent arganization of secret so-cieties throughout the Union, based upon doctrines of exclusion and proscription, utterly at war with our National and State constitutions, and obnoxious to the liberal spirit of American republicanism? What admirer of the vene rated father of his country, but must now feel, with resistless force, his solemn warnings against secret societies for political ends, as placing a powerful engine in the hands of the selfish and designing, and enabling them not only to acquire power unworthily, but also to sap and destroy the most sacred principles of

In these reflections upon certain political organizations, if I rightly comprehend my own motives, I am actuated by no mere par-tisan hostility or resentment. Were I to say less at the present moment, I should stiffe my clearest convictions of right and shrink from a duty I owe to the people of Pennsylvania, who have so generously sustained me in various public relations in the past. Nav. more: I should, by silence in this regard, fail properly to reflect that constancy and unwerving faith which our noble Commonwealth has ever evinced towards the principles of our national compact, in reference to he freedom of conscience and universal reliious toleration; and also to the wise doctrines of popular and State sovereignty, and the inherent right of self-governm

During the brief period which remains of my official term, I shall readily and cheerfully co-operate with the General Assembly per measures, to advance the public weal; and I carnestly invoke upon our labors and the labors of those who may follow u in our public vocation, the kindly care and keeping of that Great and Beneficent Being bold, the destinies of nations as well as individuals, as it were; in the hollow of his hand, and without whose continued smile there can be neither national or individual prosperity. A Presbyterian clergyman in Ohio, writing i 'ciunter's Medical Manual'' says:---'' Thousand upon thousands of our youth, by evil example and influence of the passions, have been led into the habit of self-pollution, without realizing the sin and fearful consequences upon themselves and their posterity. The constitution of thousands who are raising families have been enfeebled, if not bro ken down, and they do not keow the cause or the cure. Anything that can be done so to enlighten and influence the public mind as to check, and ul-timately to remove this wide-spread source of hu-man wretchedness, would confer the greatest blesregarded to make their visit and religion of Jesus Christ, on the sing next to the religion of Jesus Christ, on the present and coming generations. An article founded apon scientific principles, compounded with purely vegetable substances, being perfectly safe when taken, and can be given to the most tender Infant with decided beneficial effect, where bowel complaints and darrahme have made them weak and debilitated, the tonic proper. But facts, undeniable facts attested facts at tested facts at tested facts. fect, where bowel complaints and diarrahma have made them weak and debilitated, the tonic properties of my Worm Syrup are such, that it stands without an equal in the catalogue of medicines in giving tone and strength to the stomach, which makes it an infallible remedy for hose afflicted with Dyspepsia, the astonishing cures parformed by

The Elizer remedies, in all cases, the deptorable evils arising from a misuse or abuse of the variou organs which make up the wonderful machine called man. It restores to full vigor every delicate function counceted with that mysterious compound This is the most difficult Worm to destroy of all that infest the human system, it grows to an almost tudefinite length, becoming so coiled and fastened in the intestines and stomach, effecting the health so sadly as to cause St. Vilus Dance, Fits, 4cc., that those afflicted seldom if ever suspect that it is Tape Worm hastening them to an early grave. In order to distroy this Worm, a very energetic treatment must be pursued, it would threforee be proper to take 6 or 8 of my Liver Pills so as to remove all obstructions, that the Worm Syrup may fact direct upon the Worm, which must be taken in doses of 2 tablespoonfulls 3 times a day—these directions followed have never been known to fail in curing the most obstinate case of Tape Worm.

HOBENSACK'S LIVER PILLS.
No part of the system is more lightly to disease safeguard against that terrible malady. There are many, perhaps, who have so trilled with their constitutions, that they think themselves beyond the reach of medicine. Let not even these despair. The Elixer deals with discase as it exists, without reference to cases, and will not only remove the disorder itself, but rebuild the broken constitution. The derangements of the system, leading to nervous diseases, and the forms of nervous diseases, itself are so numerous that it would require a column to enumerate the maladies for which this preparation is a specific. A low, however, may be enumerated, viz: nenralgia, tic dolereaux, headache, incipient paralysis, hystoria, palpitation of the heart, spinal affections, muscular debility, tremors flatuence, a pricking sevention in the flesh numbness, torpidity of the liver, mental depression, weakness of the will, indisposition to disorder itself, but rebuild the broken constitution > this not only without matatude reaction, but with a happy effect on the general organization. Bear in mind that all maladies, wherever they begin, finish with the nervous system, and that the paralization of the nerves of motion and sensation is physical death. Bear in mind also, that for every kind of nervous disease the Blixer Cordial is the only rel able preparation known.

> CURE OF NERVOUS DISEASES.—No language convey an adequate idea of the immediate and almost miraculous change which it occasions in the diseased, debilitated and shattered nervous ivstem, whether broken down by excess, weak by nature, or impaired by sickness, the unstrung and relaxed organization is at once braced, re-vivified and built up. The mental and physical symptom or nervous disease vanish altogether under its inof nervous quesas vanish attogether under its influence. Nor is the effect temporary; on the contrary, the relief is permanent, for the cordial properties of the medicine reach the constitution itself, and restore to its nominal condition. Well may the preparation be called the medicinal wonder of the nineteenth century. It is, as the first scientific man in the world would have admitted, that mirately of the supposed to have no example of medicine hereafters supposed to have no example.

le of medicine heretofore supposed to have no existence.
A STIMULANT THAT ENTAILS NO RE-ACTION.—Its force is never expanded, as is the case with opium, alcoholic preparations, and all other excitants. The effect of these is brief, and t may well be said of him who takes them, "that he last state of that man is worse than the first." But the Elizer is an exhiberant without a single distance — safe in its operation, perpetual in its happy influence upon the nerves, the mind, and the entire organization; it will also remove depression, excitement, a tendency to blush, sleeplessness, distike of society, incapacity for study or business.

Every woman of sense, who suffers from weakness, derangement, nervousness, tremors, pains in the back, or any other disorder, whether peculiar to her sex, common in both sexes-to give the Invigoratin

MARRIED PERSONS, or others, will find this Cordial after they have used a bottle or two, a thorough regenerator of the system. In all direc-

lar power, palpitation of the heart, dyspepsia, nervous irritability, derangement of the digestive functions, general debility, symptoms of consumption, Mentally, the fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded. Loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion to society, self-distrust, love of solitude, timidity, &c. are some of the evils produced. All thas afflicted before contemplating marriage should reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness: indeed, without these the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage the prospect hours ly darkens the view; the mind becomes shadowed with despair, and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another is blighted with PARENTS AND GUARDIANS, are often misled with respect to the causes and sources of liseases in their sons and wards. How often do hey ascribe to other causes of wastings rame, idiocy, madness, palpitation of the heart, indigestion, derangement of the nervous system, cough and symptems indicating consumption, when the truth'is, that they have been indulging in a pernicious though alluring practice, destructive both to mind and body.
