ST. Louis, Feb. 26, 1855. We, here in the West, are certainly an unfortunate people. Scarcely ten days geance against all Americans and Mexihave elapsed since the railroads of Illinois were rendered impassible, and we are now again cut off from all communication with the eastern cities. A dispatch received on Saturday last apprises us of another snow storm in the neighborhood of Bloomington, that the drifting into railroad cuts is worse than any time before this season. The railroads are all blocked up, and no eastern mail for several days. It is said that our mail, going east, is sent via Terre Haute, and that it goes through without detention. If such is the case, why not send your mail on that route? The Gen eral Department should pay some attention to this subject: for it appears that our Senators and Congressmen at Washington care very little about us now that they have got our votes and their nests abundantly feathered. It is a remarkable fact that the representation from Missouri is not known outside of the poll books of their respec tive districts—we never know that such individuals are at Washington city, only, from the fact of their sending free of postage pamphlets, containing speeches and bills of eastern men upon eastern subjects, to our daily papers. Where is Senators Geyer and Atchison! Where is Col. Benton, Phelps, Oliver, Porter, &c.? The question is, where are they? Are they afraid to open their mouths in behalf of the west? What did we send them there for, certainly not to listen to eastern men and do nothing for us in the "western wilds! It would be much better were they all recalled, and the salary which they would be entitled to, were they deserving of it, placed as a sinking fund with our Postmaster for the transportation of mail matter by express when the roads are "blocked Should they represent the true state of things to the Postmaster General. that when the Chicago railroad is snowed up, the Terre Haute road is open, and the mail could as well be sent here over that route, as our mail goes to the east by the same. But no, not a syllable do they utter -their nests are feathered and they are content.

The weather in the past three days has been extremely cold, and the river is again filled with floating ice. But this cold weather cannot last long, and we look for a general thaw in a very short time. The banking house of Page & Bacon opened on Monday last, and resumed business under most favorable auspices. A new firm, purporting to be from Philadelphia, opened a large store on Fourth street a few days since, which was magnificently fitted up-in fact, extravagantly furnished—and attracted the attention of all who passed. The style of the firm was Smith, Kennedy & Co., who presided over the most extensive stock of gentlemen's furnishing goods ever displayed in this city. A few days after they opened, the firm was arrested and lodged in jail—for what, no one knew, and the same day that they were imprisoned the goods were sold out at auction-without giving any notice of the sale. Some facts have leaked out; although the whole affair was conducted with much secrecy and mystery, and it is a very difficult matter to arrive at facts. but as near as I can learn they are about as follows: A large house in Philadelphia, being on the eve of suspension, boxed up a large portion of their stock—about $125,000,—and deputized three of its were each to receive a stipulated salary-Kennedy being the head man of the new firm. The goods were first taken to Chicago, and some of them were sold there, the remainder brought to this city and placed in the store above described. It appears that the house in Philadelphia failed and its creditors hearing of the above transaction, charged the house with fraud.

The principals were ar-sylvania sent on here for the arrest of the departed this life. Possessed, as he was, they may go and say unto thee, Here we clerks. Peace to his ashes. sold at an immense sacrifice—the sale was as suddenly stopped as it had commenced, ing in our city for the last year, left on the nation they served, and loved, and honther residue of the stock packed up and drayed away no one knew where. Messrs. Yours, OLD GUARD. as suddenly stopped as it had commenced, drayed away no one knew where. Messrs. Kennedy & Chantrys aver that they knew nothing of the fraudulent transaction charged against them; that what they did was done in good faith, and they supposed their employers were acting in the same manner. The whole affair is wrapped up in secrecy and mystery. They acknowledge their indebtedness to the firm of Leverick, Peters & Chantry, of Philadelphia, for $10,000. Thus the matter stands. A man by the name of John Cherdon, formerly of Philadelphia, committed suicide about 8 miles above this city, one day last week. He put the muzzle of a gun to his mouth, kicked against the trigger, and blew the entire back part of his head off. No cause is given for the rash act. He was 33 years of age, and leaves a wife and three children. Another horrible tragedy recently took place near the town of Warrensburgh, in this State. It appears that two German Pedlers visited that neighborhood, and when within a few miles of the town took lodgings for the night—the one retiring before the other. When the other went to the bed of his comrade, in the dark, he found him dead, and covered with blood; he then groped his way to the door to give the alarm, but met three men entering; they attacked the pedlar, who drew a large knife and pitched into the assassins, and defended himself with such desperation, that all three perished in the encounter .-One of them bore an axe, which he had murdered the sleeping man with, and which he freely but ineffectually used in his death struggle. No other particulars have yet eached us.

We have late and important intelligence from New Mexico. Indian depredations are still being committed, and travellers are almost daily robbed and murdered. On the 23d of December a massacre took place by a party of Apaches and Utah Indians, about one hundred in number, at the pueblo of Arkansas. Fourteen men were killed and two wounded, who were left for dead, and three women and two children were taken captive. Great excitement is now prevailing in Santa Fe, on account of the general warfare and hostilities of the Indians in the Territory. They swear ven-cans. Capt. Newell, of the First Dragoons, alceeded in killing twelve Indians. His loss was four men, among the number was one officer, Capt. Henry W. Stanton. Five into service for six months to subdue the Indians of the Territory. Gen Garland recommends to Congress the amount to dethe expenses. The mail was not attacked. The day before the mail left Santa Fe, inelligence was received there that 400 Apaches and Utahs were armed and equiped, and were coming into take the town by force. Col. Claude Jones arrived in Santa Fe and has entered upon the duties of his office. The Governor of New Mexco, according to the accounts from Santa Fe, is very much censured, on account of his disapproval of the active course taken by the people to suppress the Indians.

The Illinois Central Railroad Company, have invited the Legislative body of that State to make an excursion over their road to Cairo, on the 29th of May next. There is an effort making in our Legis lature to make the office of county Collector elective; and also limit the fees of the office to $10,000 per annum. At present they amount to more than double that sum It is a more lucrative office than the Presidency of the United States! Just to think the St. Louis County Collector receiving $25,000 per annum, when Gen. Pierce gets no more as the head and chief of the American Union. It is high time that the fees of the office were limited, for the taxpayers' money have beeg long enough guandered for a few hours' labor each day There are thousands who would be glad to have the place for $5,000, and less, too, if offered them.

Since my last more steamboat disasters steamer Drisden struck a sunken wreck a short distance below New Madrid, and sunk in deep water. The boat with her cargo, is thought irrecoverably lost. She was owned in this city, and insured for $14,-500.

> SPEECH OF GEN. CASS. ON THE PRESENTATION OF JACKSON'S SWORD

In the U. S. Senate, February 26, 1855.

Mr. President-I must ask the indulgence of the Senate for requesting that its usual buisiness may be suspended, in order to give me an opportunity to discharge a trust which has been committed to me; a trust 1 had not the heart to decline, but which I knew I had not the power to fulfil as such a mission should be fulfilled. I hold in my hand the sword of Gen. Jackson, which he wore in all his expeditions, while in the military service of the country. and which was his faithful companion in his last and crowning victory, when New Orleans was saved from the grasp of a rapacious and powerful enemy, and our nation from the disgrace and disaster which defeat would have brought in its train. When the hand of death was upon him, Gen. Jackson presented this sword to his friend, the late den. Armstrong, as a testimonial of his high appreciation of the services, worth, and courage of that most estimable citizen and distinguished soldier, whose desperate valor, on one occasion, stayed the tide of Indian success, and saved the army from destruction. The family of the lamented depositary, now that death has released him from the guardianship of this treasure of patriotism. are desirous that it should be surrendered to the custody of the National Legislature, believing that to be the proper disposition of a memorial which, in all time to come, will be a cherished one for the American people. To carry that purpose into effect, I now offer it in their names, to Congress. Mr. President, this is no doubtful relic. whose identity depends upon uncertain tradition, and which owes its interest to an impulsive imagination. Its authority is established beyond controversy by the papers which accompany it, and it derives its value as well from our knowledge of its history, as from its association with the great captain whose days of toil and nights of trouble it shared and witnessed, and who never drew it from its scabbard but to defend the honor and the interests of his coun-

This is neither the time nor the place to portray those great traits of character which Capt. Newell, of the First Dragoons, algave to Gen. Jackson the ascendency that so had a battle with the Mescarilla Apaches at the Sacramento Mountains, and suctrymen, which marked almost his whole no course from his entrance upon a public career till the grave closed upon his life and companies of volunteers have been called his labors, and left him that equality which the mighty and the lowly must find at last. proofs, I cannot withhold the acknowledgment of the impression which his high qualities made upon me, and which becomes more lasting and profound as time is doing its work of separation from the days of my intercourse with him. I have been no careless observer of the men of my time, who, controlled by events, or controlling them, have stood prominent among them, and will occupy distinguished positions in the annals of the age; and circumstances have extended my opportunities of examination to the old world as well as to the new. But I say, and with a deep conviction of its truth, that I have never possessed more native sagacity, more profundity of intellect, higher powers of observation, or greater probity of purpose, more ardor of patriotism, or more firmness of resolution after he had snrveyed his position and occupied it, than the lamented subject of this feeble tribute, not to him, but to truth. And I will add, that, during the process of determination upon important subjects, he was sometimes slow, and generally cautious and inquiring, and he has more than once told me, anxious and uneasy, not seldom passing the night without leep, but he was calm in his mind and inflexible in his will, when reflection had given place to decision. The prevailing opinion that he was rash and hasty in his conhave occurred on our western rivers. The clusions, is founded upon an erroneous impression of his habits of thought and action

The memorial of the first and greatest of our Chief Magistrates, and this memorial of his successor in the administration of the government, and second only to him in the gratitude and affections of the American people, will lie side by side, united tokens of patriotic self-devotion, and of successful military prowess, though they who bore them and gave them value by their services, are now tenants of distant and lonely graves, separated by mountains and rivers and valleys. And in ages shut out from our vision by the far away future, when remote generations, heirs of our heritage of freedom, but succeeding to it without the labors and privations of acquisition, shall gaze, and they will gaze, upon these testimonials of victories, time-worn, but time-honored, they will be carried back by association to those heroes of early story, and will find their love of country strengthened, and their pride in her institutions, and their confidence in her fate and fortunes increased by this powerful faculty of the mind which triumphs over the distant and future as well as over the stern realities of the present, gathering around us the mighty men and the mighty deeds, which excite the admiration of mankind, and will ever command their respect and gratitude. And thus will communion be held with the great leaders of our country in war and in peace, who wore these swords in her service and hallowed them by their patriotism, their valor and success.

THE EXPECTED GREAT COMET .- The emnent astronomer, M. Babinet, member of the French Academy of Sciences, gives some very interesting details relative to the return of that great comet, whose periodical course is computed by the most celebrated observes at three hundred years.

Our cyclical records show that it was observed in year 104, 392, 682, 975, again in 1264, and the next time in 1556, always described as shining with the most extraordinary brilliancy. Most of the European astronomers had agreed in announcing the return of this comet in 1848; but it has hitherto failed to appear. In fact, it is not so easy or ot look beyond the day of the year in which hey live, may imagine. We are, however, they live, may imagine. We are, however assured by Mr. Babinet, that, up to this mo ment, this beautiful star "is living on its bril liant reputation;" so that Sir John himself was wrong when he despaired of it Still, from my personal and official relations with him, and I trust I may add, from his We are now informed that a celebrated and friendship towards me, of which I had many accurate computer-M. The resulof this severe labor gives the arrival of this renowned and rare visitor in August, 1858 with an uncertainty of two years, more or less; so that between 1850 and 1860 those who are then living may hope to see the great luminary which in 1556 caused Charles V. to iminary which in 1556 caused Charles V. to abdicate.

The Presidency.—Bennett of the N. York Herald, whose friendship for the Know-Nothing Order was early announced, in speaking of the Order and the next Presidency, says:—

"Who knows? Who can tell now whether this mysterious but powerful party will exist intact so long. It may in the interval be broken up and dispersed. There are some symptoms of this in this State and in Massachusetts. Their oaths of submission are too rigid, their Discipline too despotic, long to hold independent free-born men together.—
They must reform this feature of their sacred Mysteries. Where a pledge of honor cannot be relied upon in politics, vain are the restraints of inquisitorial espionage, spells and tortures. These things will not answer. The same Allierish, West Hempfield township. By Janes Lindsay, Executor.

House of Representatives, U. S.;

Geutlemen: It affords me infinite pleasure to bear testimony to the great value of your Metallic Burial Cases.—
For durability, I think they cannot be surpassed, and their great beauty is so far superior to the ordinary coffin, that it soems to rob death of much of its gloom and terror. I had the honor to accompany the remains of Henry Clay from this city to his home in Kentucky, and the beautiful case you had the kindness to present to the committee, whilst it withstood the sewerest test of transportation, was the object of admiration of all who saw it.

Respectfully, Messrs. W. M. RAYMOND & Co.
