THE LOVERS.—NO. 11. Happy hearts on love reclining, Dreaming of each other's bliss...

THE LETTER.—NO. 111. These mystic sheets I pondered o'er, And read them o'er and o'er again...

REBUS.—NO. 11. I'm always in heaven, but ne'er in the sky, I'm in the centre of earth, but ne'er in the sky...

HAPPY THOUGHTS.—NO. V. Happy thoughts are gliding o'er me, Of vanished scenes, in beauty dressed...

TO THE WINGS OF MARYLAND. In response to the communications received from many of my brother whigs...

No lover of his country, whose judgment is unbiased by party zeal and uncontrolled by northern or southern fanaticism...

The first duty of every man who loves his country, and his institutions is to provide for their safety. The life of the nation is in danger...

I say that the life of the Union is in danger, because for the first time in our history, a party has been formed...

I have known the whigs of my State too long, I estimate their patriotism too highly, I have associated with them too intimately...

It therefore only remains to inquire what course shall be taken to robustify our fanaticism and preserve our country from the dangers of its success...

I deduce the conclusion, that as whigs, we are not only at liberty, but that as patriots we are bound, by every obligation...

But before I proceed to this inquiry, I have to state my political allegiance to Messrs. Fillmore and Donelson...

My Maryland whigs remember that the policy Maryland has adopted by the one of the other of those parties...

In this accomplishing what I believe to be a duty, I shall be inexpressibly gratified if I shall find myself sustained by the approval of my fellow-whigs...

It may not be immaterial to observe that neither of the national nominees will obtain throughout this broad land any votes which will not be cast by national conservative citizens...

It is in this crisis the vote should be divided between two national candidates, whilst the entire anti-national vote will be concentrated upon the sectional nominee...

It must not escape your recollection that upon the nomination of Messrs. Fillmore and Donelson, a large majority of the northern delegates...

This separation of the sectional from the national portion of the American party has occurred in every northern State in the confederacy...

It is clear, then, that to the South alone can the friends of Messrs. Fillmore and Donelson look for the probable chance of an electoral vote...

of conduct leading to such a result! Suppose Mr. Fillmore to reach the House of Representatives with the votes of four or five States...

I deem it, then, to be my duty, as well as that of all who believe with me that the election of Fremont would be the death-knell of the Union...

BUCHANAN AND BRECKINRIDGE. Written for the Safe Harbor by Buchanan and Breckinridge. BY D. B. POWELL.

They are near the Election day, and the people they all say, The Buchanan is the man they want according— For Fillmore and Donelson They will not do to run.

They may march the country wide, And make great noise besides— They may also talk of things they'll do according; But the people won't believe.

Now Fremont and Dayton do resolve That this Union they'll dispose, If they can only make the people think according— But I tell you 'twill not do, And they both will dearly rue.

The Democratic battle cry Is that every man will die As a martyr for the dissolved according— So the people they all sing, That Fremont had better begin To survey his road to 'other side of Jordan.

Now your banners quickly seize And march to the breach, For Buchanan and Breckinridge according— The B. R.'s and K. N.'s, Will and that they've got to do, Is to travel to the other side of Jordan.

THE NORTHWEST.—The Burlington (Iowa) Gazette is authorized to offer the following bets:—$100 that Buchanan receives the electoral vote of Iowa, $100 that he receives the electoral vote of Illinois, $100 that he receives the electoral vote of Indiana, $100 that he receives the electoral vote of Kentucky, and $500 that he is elected the next President of the United States.
